MS. DeLEON: Thank you, Your Honor. The OIC staff would like to call Martin Alderson-Smith, please.

MARTIN ALDERSON-SMITH, having been first duly sworn by the Judge, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MS. DeLEON:

Q. Please state your name for the record.

A. My name is Martin Alderson-Smith.

Q. Where do you currently work?

A. I work at the Blackstone Group in New York.

Q. Could you please summarize your educational background, please.

A. Yes. I have an MA from Oxford University, which I received in 1979. I also have an MBA from the Harvard Business School. Since that time, I have worked at the First Boston Corporation in New York and London for eight years, and I have also worked at the Blackstone Group for approximately 12 years.

Q. What do you do at the Blackstone Group?

A. I am in the corporate advisory mergers and

1 acquisitions area of Blackstone and have been in that
2 group in New York for approximately the last 10 or 11
3 years.

4 In that group, I specifically look after financial 5 institutions, notably life and health insurance
6 companies. And within the life and health insurance
7 arena, I spend a lot of time working on demutualizations
8 and conversions.

9 Q. Could you briefly summarize your experience on 10 working with demutualizations and conversions?

11 A. Yes. Generally, I spend most of my time working for 12 state insurance commissions and Commissioners,
13 overseeing and regulating the demutualization or 14 conversion of various life and health companies.

15 I have worked very closely with the state of New 16 York on the demutualizations of John Hancock,
17 Metropolitan Life, Prudential, Principal Financial and 18 Provident. I have also worked with the state of Iowa on 19 Principal Financial, with the Commonwealth of 20 Pennsylvania on Provident.

21 I am also working with the state of New York
22 currently on the sponsor for demutualization of Security
23 Mutual.

24 On the conversion side, I worked from 2001 to 2003
25 on the proposed sponsored conversion of Blue Cross/Blue

1 Shield, Maryland, Delaware and Washington, DC, known as 2 CAFOs.

3 Q. Did you prepare prefiled direct testimony for this
4 proceeding?

5 A. I did.

6 Q. Did you also assist in the preparation and 7 submission of the Initial Report on Valuation and 8 Fairness by the Blackstone Group, dated October 27th, 9 2003?

10 A. I did.

11 Q. Did you also assist in the preparation and 12 submission of the Supplemental Report Review of G-10 and 13 Equity Incentive Plan, dated 11/24/03 by the Blackstone
14 Group?

15 A. I did.

16 Q. Did you also prepare and submit a Supplemental 17 Report on the Valuation and Fairness by the Blackstone
18 Group, dated February 27th, 2004?

19 A. I did.

20 Q. Thank you. Are these reports incorporated by 21 reference in your prefiled direct testimony?

22 A. They are.

23 Q. Did you attach a curriculum vitae to your prefiled
24 direct testimony?

25 A. I did.

1 Q. Mr. Alderson-Smith, do you adopt all of your 2 prefiled direct testimony in this matter?

3 A. I do.

4 MS. DeLEON: Your Honor,
5 Mr. Alderson-Smith's adoption of his testimony
6 previously filed and served in this matter, we would 7 move for the admission of Exhibit S-7, which is his 8 curriculum vitae, and S-39, which is his prefiled direct
9 testimony. The reports have been previously admitted
10 already.

11 MR. MITCHELL: No objection.

12 MS. McCULLOUGH: No objection.

13 JUDGE FINKLE: Admitted.

14 Q. Mr. Alderson-Smith, could you please tell us what 15 your area of expertise was in preparing these Blackstone
16 reports?

17 A. Yes. As Mr. Koplovitz mentioned yesterday
18 afternoon, he and I worked very closely in the 19 preparation of a number of these reports. And within 20 the overall scheme of work, where both of us helped each 21 other out on a number of areas, my particular area of 22 expertise was looking at the Form A documents, which 23 included the voting rights and divestiture agreement,
24 the registration rights agreement, and also the benefit
25 compensation plans.

1 My specific area was to examine these documents and
2 to look at potential modifications and areas to change
3 that may ensure that we would be able to write a
4 fairness opinion, at the appropriate time, on the 5 fairness of this transaction to the policyholders and 6 the public.

7 Q. I would like to have you focus your attention on the 8 voting trust and divestiture agreement. Why is it
9 Blackstone suggested that the Washington Foundation be 10 permitted to vote on transactions that result in 11 Premera's owning less than 80 percent of the pro forma
12 company, versus the 50 percent that is currently vetoed?

13 A. The logic behind modification is that in the current 14 corporate environment we believe that the Washington
15 Foundation needs some additional voting power, free
16 voting power, when it comes to very major transactions,
17 particularly stock transactions, where Premera, for 18 example, may issue large amounts of its own stock to 19 acquire another company.

20 In many of these situations, it may well be that,
21 even though Premera ends up as more than a 50 percent
22 owner of the resulting combined entity, the shareholders
23 of Premera may not any longer be in control of that 24 entity, it may well be that the shareholders of the 25 acquired entity, through a reverse takeover, may end up

1 being in control.

2 And, therefore, we are very anxious to ensure that
3 when significant amounts of stock are issued in such a
4 scenario, that there is the ability of the Washington
5 Foundation to be able to vote on those transactions as a
6 free vote.

7 Interestingly enough, the New York Stock Exchange
8 rules indicate that when a company issues more than 20 9 percent of its own shares as new shares, a vote is 10 required by that company. And so we are using that as a 11 guideline to modify and to enhance the flexibility and 12 the governance rights of the foundation.

13 Q. Why has Blackstone suggested that Premera accept one 14 of the three nominees from the Washington Foundation for 15 the company's board of directors.

16 A. We are concerned now that we have been granted a
17 board seat on Premera's board -- and this is when I say
18 we, I apologize, I should say when the Washington
19 Foundation is granted a board seat on the Premera
20 board -- we think that it is important that that 21 Foundation has a great deal of say in who that board 22 member should be.

23 During the course of discussions in November,
24 December and January, of this year, there were numerous 25 debates in terms of the sort of qualifications that that

1 board member should have. And I think all of the 2 parties worked, quite successfully, to stipulate the 3 sort of qualifications that the Foundation nominee for 4 the Premera board should have. Those are quite
5 stringent qualifications. They include experience on a
6 public company board or work for a major investment bank
7 accounting firm, management consulting firm, of national 8 repute.

9 We also have flexibility in terms of further
10 modifying those qualifications to ensure that the sort
11 of member is ideally suited to the Premera board. Given
12 that, we are very concerned that of the three nominees
13 that we would put forward, Premera has the right to veto
14 every single one of those three. We would believe that 15 at least one of those three should be acceptable, and 16 therefore we are very concerned that the net result of 17 us having all of our nominees vetoed, and having to go 18 back to the drawing board to find new nominees, is 19 problematic.

20 Q. Why has Blackstone suggested that the provision
21 stipulating that the Washington Foundation's rights to 22 nominate a member to Premera's board terminate after 23 five years and that would be problematic?

24 A. That would be problematic. We understand that this 25 is a Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association issue, just as a

1 preface to this particular point. We believe that that
2 could be a problem, in that, the Washington Foundation,
3 after five years, could end up owning as much as 50
4 percent of this company.

5 Given the divestiture and divestment guidelines in 6 the voting trust agreement, we do note that due to 7 blackout periods and other delays, it could be that 8 Washington will still own a very, very material portion
9 of the Premera equity, and that situation could exist
10 for longer than five years. It could exist up to seven 11 years before Washington is below the 20 percent level.

12 Therefore, our suggestion is to have not only a time
13 limit but also a threshold of ownership. So that if the 14 five-year time limit had expired, and still the 15 Washington Foundation owned more than a certain 16 threshold of shares of Premera, that it would still be 17 appropriate for the Washington Foundation to have a
18 representative on the board of Premera.

19 Q. Now, why has Blackstone suggested that the 20 divestiture deadlines apply separately for the Alaska
21 and Washington Foundations?

22 A. This is an issue that has really arisen as a result
23 of discussions that took place during the winter of 2003
24 and the spring of 2004. The problem really arose from 25 what we consider to be a beneficial outcome of having

1 now two Foundations rather than one.

2 At the initial periods of discussion, a divestiture
3 schedule was detailed on the assumption that we only had 4 one Foundation. Now that we have two Foundations, there
5 is a concern that there is a potential for conflict
6 between those two Foundations in terms of how the 7 divestiture schedule works. This is a particular and 8 primary concern that we have.

9 I think that we have less concern about the overall
10 speed of the sell down, except for one point that we 11 will come down to a little later. But the interaction
12 of the two Foundations, in terms of how the shares are 13 sold, is quite problematic to us.

14 For example, if Washington does not sell down as 15 many shares as it should in its divestiture timeline,
16 then there is an obligation for Alaska to accelerate its 17 timeline, and that also happens on a reciprocal basis.
18 This could lead to potential friction between the two 19 Foundations, which we do not think would be beneficial
20 to any party.

21 Q. It has been talked about that some of these 22 requirements are levied by the Blue Cross/Blue Shield
23 Association. Why has Blackstone suggested that the 24 voting trust and divestiture agreement be terminated if 25 the company were to lose the Blues mark?

1 A. First of all, I would agree with you, many of the 2 elements of the voting trust and divestiture agreement
3 really stem from the Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association
4 guidelines or particular remits in this conversion.

5 If for -- what I would consider to be a very
6 unfortunate event taking place -- namely, the Premera
7 were to lose the marks, and it is obviously very 8 difficult for us to imagine the loss of those marks as 9 anything other than a disappointing, in fact, a
10 disastrous outcome. If such a situation were to occur,
11 we believe that certain of the restrictions -- in terms
12 of the ability of the Foundation to increase its level
13 of governance, and also the ability of the Foundation to 14 significantly reduce, if appropriate, its sell down of 15 the shares of Premera -- we believe that such elements,
16 we think, would be beneficial to the Washington
17 Foundation, to manage what could be a very difficult
18 period of time.

19 Q. Are there any provisions of the voting trust and 20 divestiture given that might be appropriate between a
21 publicly-traded company and a significant shareholder?

22 A. There may be a number of provisions within a
23 modified voting trust and divestiture agreement that 24 would be appropriate. Obviously, we would be prepared
25 to discuss those elements. There may well be lock-out

1 periods that would still be appropriate for the 2 Foundation to continue to hold shares.

3 There may even be appropriate discussions that could
4 take place on the divestment of those shares on a
5 different timeline or a different schedule. In 6 addition, there may be certain changes in governance
7 that might be appropriate and would be -- and should 8 be discussed.

9 I don't think -- as Mr. Koplovitz testified
10 yesterday afternoon, I don't think that it would 11 necessarily be the case -- and I am not even sure that 12 the agreement should be modified to allow for a complete
13 takeover of Premera by the Washington Foundation.

14 I think that may actually be problematic for a whole
15 series of reasons, including the maintenance of an 16 appropriate stock price. It may scare investors -- both 17 at the time of that takeover, as well as at the time of 18 an IPO, and clearly that's something that none of us
19 want to have happen. But it may be appropriate
20 therefore to modify this agreement to make it more 21 appropriate to the changed circumstances of the loss of 22 mark.

23 Q. I would like to have you turn your attention to the 24 registration rights agreement. In a situation where the 25 Washington Foundation piggy-backs on a company

1 registration, should it have input into the pricing
2 decisions?

3 A. This is, I think, a relatively small point, in that,
4 clearly in a situation where Washington goes for a
5 demand registration to sell down its stock, and Premera
6 enters into that registration right as a piggy-back,
7 clearly there is a need for Washington to continue to 8 have some influence and certainly be consulted on the 9 level of price, the level of demand for those shares.

10 And, in exactly the same way, we believe that when 11 there is a Premera sale and Washington comes in as a
12 piggy-back on the registration of the company, again,
13 there should be some -- perhaps more limited -- but 14 nevertheless some clear degree of consultation.

15 Q. Perhaps you could give us a brief explanation of 16 what a piggy-back is.

17 A. Yes. A piggy-back is a situation where one 18 constituent, one shareholder, wishes to register its 19 shares. And clearly a registration of shares, as I
20 think was discussed yesterday by Mr. Steel, is a --
21 probably a more efficient method of putting shares out
22 into the market, than simply selling them to a market
23 maker on Wall Street.

24 A registration would then require an SEC document,
25 it would also generally need a road show, which is a

1 discussion with potential investors, when the company
2 would go out and discuss its prospects with a wide range
3 of potential investors. So there could then be an 4 orderly sale of those shares to new investors, usually 5 at a fixed price.

6 That is a very expensive and very time-consuming
7 process, it is a major burden on the company. And 8 therefore, it is often the case that when you have such 9 a registration process going on, other major
10 shareholders who may wish to sell large blocks of 11 shares, have the right to go along with the shareholder
12 who has in fact initiated this process. That going
13 along is effectively called a piggy-back.

14 Q. Why is Blackstone concerned about the level of 15 independence of Premera's board of directors?

16 A. It is an interesting situation, in that, at the 17 moment we have a clearly heightened awareness of good 18 corporate governance and good corporate practices in the 19 board room. There has been, obviously, a lot of news in 20 the newspapers and media about independent directors
21 failing in their duty to look after all of the 22 shareholders of the company that they represent. There
23 have been examples as well known as the New York Stock
24 Exchange to Tyco to Adelphia, many, many different 25 situations.

1 In many of these situations, the directors were not
2 in fact as independent as they perhaps should have been.
3 With the benefit of 20/20 hindsight, certain independent
4 directors now don't look as independent as perhaps 5 people thought they were before these incidents took 6 place.

7 It is, therefore, critically important that the 8 independent directors of Premera, not only are 9 independent, but are also seen to be independent. One 10 of the concerns we have, is that when we look at the 11 independent qualifications -- which, by the way, are New 12 York Stock Exchange qualifications -- so these are ones
13 that are practiced at the moment by different boards.

14 But when we look at those qualifications and those 15 guidelines, we are very concerned about the two percent
16 test, which says, that if a director is an employee of a 17 company that represents more than two percent of 18 Premera's revenues -- and that is also a reciprocal on 19 the company's -- of the director's company's revenues,
20 then -- so long as it is less than two percent, that 21 director would be considered to be independent.

22 Our concern is -- and I think we went through the 23 arithmetic yesterday with Mr. Steel -- our concern is 24 that major customers of Premera, perhaps representing as 25 much as 56 or 57 million dollars in revenue, could still

1 be considered to be independent directors.

2 And therefore, our suggestion is that -- at the 3 moment the way that the bylaw is currently written and 4 currently drafted, is that it is the greater of two 5 percent or one million dollars as being the standard for 6 not being independent -- our belief is it should be the 7 lesser of two percent, or one million dollars, which 8 would therefore allow people who have major business
9 relationships with Premera not to be independent. They 10 could become non-independent directors, they could 11 become clients or customers who are seen as inside 12 directors. But in terms of independent directors, we 13 think it is very important that these people really are 14 independent.

15 I agree that this will narrow the pool. It means
16 that we won't be able to have major customers in Premera
17 as directors. It means that maybe we won't be able to 18 have certain of the physicians working within this 19 service area as directors. That is, I think, looking at 20 the balance of the risks and the benefits, a benefit --
21 a net benefit to Premera and to all of its shareholders.

22 Q. Did you have a chance to review the Unallocated
23 Shares Escrow Agent Agreement?

24 A. I did.

25 Q. And what are Blackstone's concerns regarding that

1 agreement?

2 A. We have a couple of concerns on the USEA, as we call
3 it. Really, this agreement was created quite quickly as 4 a reaction to the inability of the state of Alaska and 5 the state of Washington and to the inability of the 6 various consultants working for those states, including 7 Blackstone, the inability of those various groups to 8 come to a clear agreement in terms of the allocation of 9 shares of ownership of this company between the two 10 states.

11 So I would like to just sort of say, clearly this is 12 not a situation that was one created by Premera.
13 Premera, in fact, drafted language to try and deal with 14 a problem that came from really an inability of the 15 states to agree on a clear and specific allocation of 16 shares.

17 This agreement was quite quickly put together. We 18 do not believe it has had enough review or discussion.
19 It was put together really at the last minute. And as a
20 result, we have a couple of concerns. There are a few
21 minor drafting concerns that we have, but there are a 22 couple of really significant concerns that we have with 23 this agreement.

24 The first concern has to do with the potential sale
25 of shares in the IPO. As Mr. Koplovitz testified

1 yesterday, it may well be that the Foundations either do
2 wish or do not wish to sell shares in the IPO. That 3 will be a decision that should be made much closer to 4 the IPO when we fully understand what the appropriate
5 size of the IPO should be, what the appropriate split of 6 shares between primary shares sold by the company and 7 secondary shares sold by the Foundations should be.
8 Also, what the use of funds is going to be, what are 9 those funds going to be used for, either by Premera,
10 particularly, or by the Foundations. So it is a 11 decision that we really don't feel capable of taking 12 until much closer to the IPO.

13 However, in the USEA, there is the stipulation that 14 if the Foundations do not sell 10 percent of their 15 shares in the IPO, then the escrow shares will be sold 16 up to a total of 10 percent for each Foundation. Which,
17 to some extent, removes from the two Foundations the 18 flexibility that Mr. Koplovitz was discussing yesterday.
19 That's probably the first point.

20 The second point, again, is really in the situation
21 of governance. When we have a situation where the 22 states of Alaska and Washington can't necessarily agree
23 on an appropriate course of action for voting the escrow
24 shares during the period of a free vote, in that 25 situation, the vote in fact is taken away from both the

1 Foundation for Washington and the Foundation for Alaska,
2 and mirrors the vote of the independent directors.
3 Effectively the vote is taken away from the Foundations
4 and given to the independent directors. We believe that 5 some work needs to be done on that, because we feel that 6 removing that right to vote on important transactions
7 could be problematic.

8 Q. Now, of all the changes and modifications that you
9 have discussed today and that are in the Blackstone
10 report, would the stock market react negatively to any 11 of these in your opinion?

12 A. Obviously, this is an issue that we have had a great
13 deal of discussion about. Because it is a very tough
14 call to try and quantify the price and value
15 implications of any of these particular issues.

16 I would like to just carve out one right away, and 17 that is, we are not in any way advocating that the 18 company, or we, or any other party, should be aiming to 19 lose the Blue Cross/Blue Shield mark. So, obviously, if 20 for example, there was a situation where the Blue
21 Cross/Blue Shield Marks would be lost, I could say with 22 fairly strong degrees of certainty that would have a
23 serious negative evaluation impact.

24 So I just sort of carved that one out for a moment,
25 and move to the -- all of the none Blue Cross/Blue

1 Shield Association issues. Our belief is that none of 2 those would have material impact in terms of price and 3 value increase, or price and value decrease.

4 What most of those provisions try to do is to ensure 5 that the Foundation and the policyholders, as well as 6 all the shareholders in many of these instances, have 7 the maximum flexibility with regard to the disposition
8 of the Foundation shares, and also have appropriate
9 governance rights to ensure that the Foundation's
10 position is taken note of in discussions, that it
11 doesn't dominate board proceedings, but nevertheless, is 12 an influence in some of the more important decisions
13 that are made by Premera.

14 And I think just as -- just sort of one final
15 element on this, I think it is fair to say, just looking 16 at the testimony of Mr. Koplovitz yesterday, as well as 17 various discussions that we have had with the company
18 over the last five to six months, there has obviously 19 been an enormous amount of progress that's been made in 20 terms of dealing with large numbers of issues on the 21 Form A filing.

22 And, clearly, the revised Form A filing,
23 particularly, as revised for one or two other additional 24 elements that have been put into various direct
25 testimony over the course of the past few weeks, this

1 revised Form A filing is dramatically and substantially
2 better in terms of striking the right balance between 3 maximizing value for the Foundation, as well as guarding
4 flexibility and governance rights for the Foundation
5 than the first Form A filing of October 2003.

6 Q. As currently construed, do the documents allow for a
7 fair market value to be transferred to the Foundation?

8 A. We believe, as currently construed, there are still 9 problems in terms of fair market value and fair value to 10 be transferred to the Foundation.

11 MS. DELEON: I have no further questions.

13 CROSS-EXAMINATION

14 BY MR. MITCHELL:

15 Q. Good morning, Mr. Alderson-Smith.

16 A. Good morning.

17 Q. My understanding -- and I would ask you to confirm 18 this -- is that the value of Premera -- and, more
19 particularly, the value of the stock of Premera that is 20 proposed to be delivered to the Foundation will be 21 established by the market after the IPO. Is that your 22 understanding?

23 A. That is my understanding.

24 Q. Now, as I understand it, one of the tasks that 25 Blackstone has been given is to look at whether the

1 transaction, taken as a whole, is fair to the public
2 from a financial point of view; is that correct?

3 A. That is correct.

4 Q. And this question of fairness, as you have 5 considered it, involves three elements, does it not?
6 Namely, the value received by the Foundation, the degree
7 to which the Foundation can exercise control over its 8 primary asset, namely, the shares, and the flexibility
9 enjoyed by the Foundation in disposing of the shares?

10 A. I think that's a good summary.

11 Q. Now, as I understand it as well, Mr. Alderson-Smith,
12 those three objectives are intention. That is to say,
13 that the value to be received by the Foundation is 14 somewhat at odds with the question of flexibility and 15 control. Is that not true?

16 A. That is true. It is a balance.

17 Q. And more specifically, the degree to which the 18 Foundation can exercise control over its shares can 19 adversely affect the value of those shares, because of 20 the concerns of the other investors in the market; is 21 that not true?

22 A. I think the concept we have here is if we give 23 unbridled power to the Foundation and unbridled
24 flexibility to the Foundation, in terms of selling down 25 its shares, allowing it to sell down its shares whenever

1 it feels like it, that will have potentially negative
2 consequences for the value of the stock.

3 And it will have potentially negative consequences
4 for the value of the stock because new investors will be 5 very wary of an investment that is -- or a company that 6 is dominated by one shareholder, where there is no clear
7 limits on the power of that shareholder to exercise
8 control, and there are no clear limits on the ability of 9 that shareholder to drop shares into the market whenever 10 that shareholder may feel like it.

11 So I think, absolutely, it is clearly a matter of 12 balancing in those three potentially conflicting forces
13 that is one of the jobs that we are confronted with.

14 Q. There is another three-factor balance at play here I
15 believe as well, is there not, Mr. Alderson-Smith?

16 Namely, to balance the desire to give the Foundation
17 more flexibility, the desire to provide for the maximum 18 value of the shares, and finally, to balance what would 19 be acceptable to the Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association?

20 A. Obviously, the element of the Blue Cross/Blue Shield
21 Association has to be taken into account as we look at 22 this balance.

23 Q. And I believe your direct testimony is consistent 24 with your view previously expressed that the loss of the 25 Blue Cross/Blue Shield mark and the other elements that

1 go with those marks in terms of reciprocity with other
2 plans -- the National Blue Card Plan and the like -- and 3 the potential award of that mark to a competitor in the 4 market, would result in a major diminution of value to 5 the Foundation and to the people of Washington. Is that 6 not true?

7 A. We believe that there would be potentially serious
8 negative valuation consequences.

9 Q. And because of that, I believe you would agree --
10 would you not, Mr. Alderson-Smith -- that to maintain 11 the mark is of critical importance, from a value
12 standpoint and in terms of the protection of the 13 subscribers of this company?

14 A. We believe that the maintenance of the mark is a
15 very important element in this company.

16 Q. And the company, of course, shares that assessment, 17 does it not?

18 A. I believe so.

19 Q. Indeed, the company has indicated that it will not 20 proceed with this transaction if the price of proceeding
21 would be to lose the mark, and with it the benefits to 22 the subscribers of Premera Blue Cross?

23 A. That sounds like a very sensible and appropriate
24 stance.

25 Q. So, just to close the loop on a fairly obvious

1 point, but would you agree with me that if the
2 transaction does not proceed, there will be no value
3 whatever delivered to the Foundations?

4 A. I would agree that if the transaction does not
5 proceed, the Foundations would not exist. And,
6 therefore, no value would be transferred to them.

7 Q. If the transaction does proceed, would you also
8 agree with me, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that the value
9 impact, if any, of the restrictions upon the 10 Foundations -- in terms of exercising control over their 11 stock and exercising control over the governance of new 12 Premera -- pale in comparison with the value impact of 13 losing the Blue license?

14 A. We have not quite looked at the -- at that equation
15 in that way. We have rather studied the additional 16 flexibility or the additional -- what we consider to be 17 important governance elements, which don't necessarily 18 have dollars and cents value in the same way. They have 19 important qualitative values to the Foundation. Against 20 that, we would say it is likely that there would be a
21 strong negative quantitative loss of value if the Blue
22 marks were lost.

23 Q. And to pursue the issue of value with respect to the 24 first element you mentioned a bit further, would you
25 agree with me, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that the restrictions

1 upon the Foundations, in terms of exercising control
2 over the company or having flexibility to dispose of 3 their stock, those restrictions do not follow the stock
4 into the hands of any investor that might buy the stock
5 from the Foundations?

6 A. That is right. They are entirely unencumbered upon
7 transfer out of the Foundation.

8 Q. So it would be erroneous, would it not, to conclude
9 that those restrictions would have any material impact 10 on the value of the shares upon their transfer to 11 willing investors?

12 A. It would have no value benefit to the shareholders
13 upon their transfer out, it would only have value of a 14 qualitative nature while they remained inside the 15 Foundation.

16 Q. So, with these considerations in mind, Mr.
17 Alderson-Smith, and in particular the consideration of 18 the importance -- the vital importance to the company
19 and to the value of its shares and the maintenance of 20 the Blue mark, what would it take for Blackstone to be 21 able to opine that the transaction is fair to the public
22 from a financial point of view?

23 A. We would like to see some more discussion --
24 clearly, we have already noted the discussions that have 25 taken place in March of this year between the company

1 and Premera. We would like to see some more discussions
2 take place to ensure that the Foundations, who are 3 ultimately the interests that we -- the interests of 4 whom we are trying to protect -- are protected to the 5 best possible degree in any transaction if such a
6 transaction could go forward.

7 Q. We have a difficulty at this stage of the game,
8 Mr. Alderson-Smith in that the parties' discussions have 9 reached a point where a proposal has been put forward to 10 the Commissioner for a decision. And the Commissioner
11 has to determine what, if any, changes need to be made 12 to the proposal in order to assure -- at least in your 13 judgment -- that it is fair to the public from a
14 financial point of view.

15 So I must ask you, what is the irreducible
16 minimum that you would demand as the price for a
17 fairness opinion?

18 A. And, at this stage, I cannot give you that 19 irreducible minimum. Clearly, this would be a topic 20 that would be discussed in the context of all of the 21 changes that we believe should be made and that we have 22 set out in our report of February 27th.

23 Our belief is that a series of those changes need to 24 be examined. And it will be a combination of those 25 changes -- perhaps not all of those changes and

1 modifications -- that will allow us to render an opinion
2 that this is in fact a fair transaction to the 3 Foundations and to the public here in Washington.

4 Q. Now, with respect to your examinations and analysis
5 of the question of fairness, Mr. Alderson-Smith, you
6 have assumed, have you not, that Premera is already
7 owned by the public?

8 A. Effectively, we have made that assumption. It is -- 9 we have been sort of quiet on that assumption. It is 10 not one that has been stated in our reports, but it is 11 an underlying assumption that Premera is effectively
12 owned by the public.

13 Q. And am I correct in my understanding,
14 Mr. Alderson-Smith, that Blackstone has not undertaken
15 to establish the validity of that assumption?

16 A. That is correct, we have not undertaken to establish 17 the validity of that assumption. That is an assumption
18 that we have taken as a given.

19 Q. You have heard Mr. Steel's testimony, have you not?

20 A. I did.

21 Q. You understand there is some considerable doubt as 22 to whether the assumption is valid?

23 A. I did listen to Mr. Steel's testimony on that point
24 yesterday.

25 Q. Would you agree with me, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that if

1 the public does not now own a hundred percent of 2 Premera, there will be no basis to conclude that the 3 proposed transaction is unfair to the public from a
4 financial point of view?

5 A. Can you ask that one again? I am sorry.

6 Q. Certainly. If the public does not now own Premera,
7 is it not the case that there would be no basis for you
8 to conclude that the proposed transaction is unfair to 9 the public from a financial point of view?

10 A. So I think the point -- just to summarize, I think 11 what you are saying is effectively if we assume that the 12 public don't own this company now, and therefore they 13 get a dollar in the mail next year, that is -- a dollar
14 is better than nothing, and therefore it is clearly 15 fair?

16 That would be, I think, a reasonable supposition to 17 make. Obviously, that does not necessarily square with 18 the underlying assumption that we have made on this 19 transfer.

20 Q. Yes. And a dollar in the mail doesn't sound like a 21 whole lot, but would you agree, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that 22 500 to 700 million dollars in the mail would be quite 23 nice?

24 A. Quite material, yeah.

25 Q. Now, would you agree with me, Mr. Alderson-Smith,

1 that the Commissioner needs to consider -- in addition
2 to the interests of the Foundation proposed to be 3 established here -- the potential impact of the 4 transaction, in terms upon subscribers and the 5 insurance-buying public?

6 A. I think that is clearly an important element. It is 7 not necessarily one of the elements that we have studied
8 in our particular area, but we do recognize that 9 fairness to those constituents is important.

10 Q. And you would recognize, would you not,
11 Mr. Alderson-Smith, that taking perspective from the 12 subscribers and the insurance-buying public might lead
13 to a rather different evaluation of the few transaction
14 terms that remain in dispute between Premera and the OIC
15 staff's consultants?

16 A. There may be some difference in emphasis.

17 Q. I want to turn now to the WellChoice transaction, if 18 I might, Mr. Alderson-Smith. From Blackstone's
19 perspective, is it not the case that the WellChoice
20 transaction offers the most recent, and potentially the 21 most comparable set of documents, by which the 22 transaction terms in this case can be evaluated?

23 A. Yes. We believe that WellChoice is certainly the 24 most recent -- and along with one or two other precedent
25 conversions -- represents an important benchmark against

1 which to measure this Premera conversion.

2 Q. It is comparable in terms of size, it also had as 3 its goal an IPO, did it not?

4 A. It did.

5 Q. By the way, you talked about sponsored 6 mutualizations and sponsored conversions. Those are 7 instances in which the goal of the transaction is not an 8 IPO but an acquisition by a third party; is that right?

9 A. That is correct.

10 Q. With respect to the transaction terms and dispute --
11 many of which you remunerated in your direct testimony, 12 Mr. Alderson-Smith -- would you agree with me that 13 nearly all of them involve requests by the states'
14 consultants that go beyond the terms of the WellChoice
15 transaction?

16 A. There are some of those elements that go beyond the 17 WellChoice transaction. Other elements -- in fact, in 18 the documents and in the terms that we would be prepared 19 to agree to -- in fact, are not necessarily as good as 20 the WellChoice transaction.

21 But I do agree that there are a number of those 22 elements that are in fact more advantageous, in terms of 23 greater governance or greater flexibility or delivering 24 potentially more value to the Washington Foundation,
25 than the New York Foundations received in the WellChoice

1 conversion.

2 Q. And the WellChoice precedent looms large for the 3 Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association, as well as for the 4 consultants, does it not?

5 A. It is certainly an important precedent, yes.

6 Q. And are you aware of the fact that the Blue
7 Cross/Blue Shield Association has said that it will not 8 accede to terms that goes beyond those approved in the 9 WellChoice transaction?

10 A. I have heard that that is a statement that has been 11 made.

12 Q. So let's take off a few of the items that you talked
13 about this morning, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that do go
14 beyond the terms of the WellChoice transaction.

15 The first of those is the change-in-control
16 threshold and the free voting on change-in-control
17 proposals that involve 20 percent, versus 50 percent,
18 change of stock ownership.

19 Is it not the case on that particular point that 20 what Premera has proposed is identical to the WellChoice
21 documents?

22 A. I believe it is identical to WellChoice.

23 Q. And with respect to the divestiture schedule that 24 has been proposed by Premera, is it not the case that 25 the overall divestiture schedule is identical to that

1 which was used in WellChoice?

2 A. The overall divestiture schedule is identical,
3 obviously subject to there being two schedules versus
4 one in the Premera situation, and also the very small
5 technical detail in terms of the 80 percent, year-one
6 hurdle, which we would, in fact, be interested in having 7 removed. But subject to that, you are absolutely right,
8 they are very similar.

9 Q. We will come back to that 80 percent issue in a
10 moment. Just to get to the list, the length in time 11 during which the designated members have tenure on the 12 board -- and it is the lesser of five years or five
13 percent stock ownership, that provision in the Premera
14 documents is identical to what has been provided in the 15 WellChoice transaction, is it not?

16 A. It is.

17 Q. And with respect to the right of the Premera board
18 members to veto nominees by the Foundation to the 19 Premera board, that provision is identical to the 20 WellChoice provision, is it not?

21 A. I believe it is, yes.

22 Q. Actually, I think I misspoke, Mr. Alderson-Smith.
23 Is it not the case in the Premera documents that if 24 Premera actually vetoes the nominees by the Foundations,
25 it must, upon request, explain its reasoning for doing

1 so?

2 A. That's right. There is a right of consultation or 3 at least -- not necessarily public consultation -- but 4 at least a requirement to identify some of the elements
5 or some of the concerns that led to the vetoing. That 6 is something that -- that additional consultation is an 7 element which is over and above that that we have 8 identified in WellChoice.

9 Q. So that's actually advantageous to the Foundations,
10 relative to WellChoice already, is it not?

11 A. Well, yeah. When you have sort of nixed all of 12 three directors and you tell us why, I guess that is a 13 good thing. But it is kind of problematic in its own
14 right, but I take your --

15 Q. I think you indicated that the qualifications for 16 nominees were carefully crafted to be stringent. They 17 were actually -- those qualifications were drafted by 18 Mr. Koplovitz, were they not?

19 A. Who was a very stringent drafter of such 20 requirements.

21 Q. Among the persons who would qualify under those 22 particular qualifications would be every former partner
23 of Arthur Anderson, is that not true?

24 A. Yes, it is true.

25 Q. And also, any person who serves as an executive in a

1 citrus company in Florida would qualify?

2 A. So long as that citrus company was a public company.
3 Obviously, the number of citrus companies that are 4 public in Florida are quite miniscule, I would suggest.
5 But the concept, again, is that we and Mr. Koplovitz
6 drafted some requirements. Again, those are 7 requirements where there is some latitude to make them
8 still more stringent.

9 The thing that was very concerning was that, even 10 with those sort of requirements, there was still an 11 ability to veto nominations, which were particularly 12 problematic.

13 Q. I think you would agree, would you not,
14 Mr. Alderson-Smith, that having a particular item on 15 one's resume may or may not suggest that one is 16 well-suited to work well with other people in that 17 collaborative undertaking?

18 A. That is correct.

19 Q. And in the context of a board that is as active
20 and -- as the Premera board, and does so many things on 21 a committee basis and are critical to the company, is it
22 not reasonable to think that the chemistry of those 23 people is an important issue for the board?

24 A. The chemistry is perhaps less important than the 25 knowledge and comfort that the Foundation has that it is

1 being represented by someone who is going to look after
2 that Foundation's interest, that Foundation having a
3 quarter of a billion dollars or more of shares -- at 4 least at the beginning -- in Premera.

5 And, therefore, it is particularly important that 6 that director is someone who is going to look after the 7 Foundation's interest, but also -- and the Foundation
8 has to fully understand this -- but also represent all 9 of the shareholders of Premera as part of that 10 director's fiduciary duty.

11 Q. It is an excellent point, Mr. Alderson-Smith. Under 12 the terms of the transaction documents as they exist,
13 the designated member of the Washington Foundation and
14 the Alaska Foundation is not going to be a potted plant.
15 The designated member of the Washington Foundation and 16 the designated member of the Alaska Foundation are to 17 sit on the executive committee, the compensation
18 committee, and the pricing committee of the board, is 19 that not the case?

20 A. That is the case.

21 Q. And within the context of committee work, would you
22 not agree with me, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that it is doubly 23 important that the members of such committees be able to 24 work together in order to make sure that the 25 corporation's functions proceed smoothly?

1 A. It is going to be very important that all of those
2 members work together. It is going to be very important
3 for the board of Premera, it is also going to be very 4 important for the Washington Foundation. Because if 5 that group, those committees, that board, is 6 dysfunctional, that could have deleterious consequences
7 on the value and the ultimate price at which the 8 Foundations can sell those shares.

9 Q. Just to be clear, Mr. Alderson-Smith, the right to 10 veto nominees of the Washington Foundation does not 11 mean, at any point that, the Washington Foundation will 12 not have a designated member on the board, does it? It
13 only means they must supply an alternative nominee?

14 A. That's correct. It means they must supply an 15 alternative nominee.

16 Q. So we have gone through some items that are 17 consistent with WellChoice, beyond which the Blue
18 Cross/Blue Shield Association has said it will not go,
19 and I think we are left with three or four items that 20 you mentioned, Mr. Alderson-Smith.

21 One, is the survival of the voting trust
22 agreement in the wake of the loss of the Blue Marks.
23 Second, is the definition of independence for board
24 members on the Blue Premera board. Third, is the 25 unallocated shares escrow agreement. The last, the

1 consultation on pricing. Did I guess those right?

2 A. Yes. There is, I think, one more in the 3 registration rights agreement. There is consultation on 4 pricing --

5 Q. You might be thinking of the question of whether 6 there is an obligation to continue with a registration
7 after a company has withdrawn?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. If legally permissible or if practicable --

10 A. Practicable by the company's thinking, that is 11 correct, that is my final element.

12 Q. Do you think that with -- with respect to that last 13 element, Mr. Alderson-Smith --

14 A. Sure.

15 Q. -- do you think, had Mr. Koplovitz not drafted the 16 legally permissible link in the course of these 17 discussions, that you would even have noticed a
18 difference between that and practicable?

19 A. I wouldn't like to answer that question.

20 Q. Let's turn to the unallocated shares escrow
21 agreement for a moment if we might.

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. There was something similar to that agreement in 24 WellChoice, was there not -- not an agreement but an 25 escrow arrangement?

1 A. There was an escrow arrangement in WellChoice, yes.

2 Q. You would agree, would you not, it is necessary to 3 have an escrow agreement if the parties -- if the states
4 cannot agree upon an allocation of the shares?

5 A. We think that it is a creative way to deal with the 6 difficulties that we have had in terms of working on an 7 acceptable allocation.

8 Q. Now, you said that the unallocated shares escrow
9 agreement was sort of a last-minute agreement and 10 suggested that it didn't have the terrible review that 11 the other documents in the Amended Form A received; is 12 that correct?

13 A. That is correct.

14 Q. In fact, is it not the case, Mr. Alderson-Smith,
15 that when Premera proposed the unallocated share escrow
16 agreement to the states, they refused to review and 17 comment upon it because they were convinced they could 18 agree upon an allocation?

19 A. I am not aware of that particular element in the 20 timeline, but I do know that this was very much
21 something that was prepared, finally, at the last 22 minute.

23 Q. The unallocated shares escrow agreement has within 24 it a clause that allows it to be freely amended by the 25 parties upon common consent, does it not?

1 A. It does.

2 Q. Do you have any reason to believe,
3 Mr. Alderson-Smith, that if the agreement is even 4 required -- and I would assume that you agree that it
5 will go away if there isn't an allocation agreement.
6 But assuming the unallocated shares agreement is 7 required, that any issues or concerns about its terms
8 cannot be resolved by an amendment?

9 A. It can be resolved by amendment by agreement of all
10 of the parties.

11 Q. On the change-in-control issue, Mr. Alderson-Smith,
12 you mentioned that because of various blackout periods
13 and the like it is conceivable that the Foundations
14 could be holding 50 percent of the shares after five 15 years. Do you recall that testimony?

16 A. Yes, I do.

17 Q. Is it not the fact that in prior conversion
18 transactions the divestiture of shares has actually 19 proceeded ahead of the schedule set forth at the outset?

20 A. I think in some instances the divestment schedule
21 has been faster than mandated in the sell down
22 agreement.

23 Q. Are you aware of any instance in which after five 24 years a selling foundation has held 50 percent or more
25 of the shares?

1 A. I am not aware of any situation, certainly in the 2 last many years, when there has been a problem with the 3 shares being more -- a larger number of shares being 4 held by the Foundation than were set out. This is 5 partly, of course, because we have had a remarkably 6 strong series of equity markets over the last many 7 years. Really, throughout the 1990s we had quite strong
8 equity markets. And also the Blue Cross/Blue Shield
9 public companies have generally had a very strong
10 performance.

11 We are obviously concerned about a time in the 12 future -- which none of us obviously want to have 13 happen -- but a time in the future when it may be that 14 the equity markets -- and Blue Cross/Blue Shield public
15 companies, specifically -- do not have such a good wind
16 in their vacuum in terms of rising stock prices.

17 Q. The Foundations will have strong incentives, apart
18 from the state of the market, to sell off their shares
19 over the first several years of the divestiture
20 schedule, will they not?

21 A. They will have some incentives to be able to fund
22 the various healthcare initiatives.

23 Q. And beyond the need to monetize the shares in order
24 to have funds to provide for health needs -- unmet
25 health needs in the state of Washington and the state of

1 Alaska, it would be prudent of the Foundations to divest
2 themselves of shares in Premera in order to diversify
3 their stock holdings; is that not true?

4 A. That might be true if the markets were amenable to 5 that occurring.

6 Q. Now, you mentioned with respect to the separate 7 divestiture schedule that there was a potential for 8 conflict between the states. And it was the potential
9 for conflict between the states that was of greater 10 concern to you than the overall schedule that is 11 proposed by Premera; is that correct?

12 A. That is actually correct, yes.

13 Q. Now, as I understand your testimony, one of the 14 principal concerns about potential for conflict is the 15 cross default provision in the language of the 16 divestiture schedule; is that right?

17 A. That is right.

18 Q. The problem is that if Alaska proves obdurate, 19 Washington could pay the price, and vice versa; is that 20 right?

21 A. That is right.

22 Q. Now, one potential way to address that issue --
23 would it not be, Mr. Alderson-Smith -- would be to have 24 a proportional divestiture schedule, that is that both 25 states -- both states and Foundations would be operating

1 within a common schedule but functioning in proportion
2 to their shareholdings and meeting the same deadlines
3 without cross default?

4 A. We believe that that may be an interesting line of 5 inquiry, which would solve some of the problems that I
6 mentioned earlier in my testimony.

7 Q. And if that were done, then if Alaska proved 8 obdurate in terms of selling off its shares, then they 9 would drop into the Excess Shares Escrow Agreement and 10 be handled in that fashion; right?

11 A. If Alaska proved obdurate, there would obviously 12 need to be ways to deal with that directly with Alaska, 13 without concerning Washington. And obviously if 14 Washington was obdurate, exactly the same mechanism
15 could take place.

16 Q. And, indeed, there is an Excess Shares Escrow
17 Agreement in the Form A documents designed to deal with 18 just such circumstances, is there not?

19 A. There is.

20 Q. You mentioned, with respect to the voting trust
21 agreement and the question of whether it should survive
22 the loss of Blue Marks, that there are a number of 23 provisions in the voting trust agreement that would have 24 value post such an event, and so you would not be fully 25 in favor of just having it disappear altogether; is that

1 right?

2 A. Right. I believe that there is some middle ground
3 between ripping up the voting trust and divestiture
4 agreement in its entirety, and modifying it to ensure 5 that certain elements of the agreement, modified, are 6 maintained, while other elements, which could be 7 detrimental to the Foundations, and also detrimental to 8 the -- all the other shareholders could be eliminated.

9 Q. One of the difficulties at this stage of the game,
10 Mr. Alderson-Smith, is trying to foresee the 11 circumstances in which this -- highly unlikely, but as I
12 think you have described it, potentially disastrous -- 13 event might occur, and to plan for all of those 14 possibilities.

15 So one solution might be by the parties to 16 discuss -- should this unlikely but unhappy event
17 occur -- potential modifications of the voting trust
18 agreement; is that right?

19 A. Though the parties have the right to discuss, the 20 obligation to discuss -- I mean, that they would have 21 the obligation to go on to a different basis 22 potentially.

23 Q. There is nothing in the terms of the Form A
24 documents that would prevent the Foundations from 25 approaching Premera in the event of the loss of the

1 marks to discuss modifications of the voting trust
2 agreement, is there?

3 A. I do not believe that there is.

4 Q. Can you be specific, Mr. Alderson-Smith, and tell me
5 which provisions of the voting trust agreement you would 6 recommend remain in place after a potential loss of the 7 Blue Marks?

8 A. Yes. I believe that there could be some benefit --
9 both to the Premera shareholders, as well as to Premera,
10 and potentially even the Foundations -- to have not -- 11 to not allow the Foundations to exercise all of their 12 governance rights, which would otherwise be conferred
13 upon them given their potentially substantial
14 shareholdings in the business.

15 And therefore, I would suggest that those elements,
16 somewhat modified, could remain in the voting trust
17 agreement. There are some elements, particularly the 18 forced divestment schedule, that we believe is not only 19 potentially damaging to the Foundation, in that it is 20 unlikely and difficult to model future events, but we 21 also think it could be extremely damaging to all the 22 other shareholders.

23 Q. So if I am understanding you correctly, the voting 24 restrictions are appropriate at that point, but the 25 divestiture schedule might eventually be put on hold; is

1 that right?

2 A. That is correct, with regard to the divestiture
3 schedule. With regard to the voting schedule, there may 4 well be some additional rights granted to the 5 Foundations. However, it may be problematic to, in 6 fact, give full voting rights to the -- to those 7 Foundations.

8 Q. Now, with respect to the divestiture schedule,
9 obviously, at the point that such an unhappy event
10 occurred, there would be no restriction upon the power
11 of the Premera board to grant leave to ignore the 12 divestiture schedule, because it would no longer be 13 subject to Blue Cross sanctions with such an action;
14 correct?

15 A. That is correct.

16 Q. And it would obviously be in the interest of the 17 Premera board to do that if the consequence following
18 the divestiture schedule at that point would be to tank
19 the price of the stock; is that not true?

20 A. That is probably a likely outcome.

21 Q. I would want to turn briefly to the issue of the 22 standard for independence of Premera board members. As 23 I understand it, Blackstone would prefer to see a
24 standard that looked at the lesser of one percent -- two 25 percent or one million dollars -- as opposed to the

1 greater of, as followed by the New York Stock Exchange;
2 is that right?

3 A. That is correct.

4 Q. Do you think it would be advantageous to the 5 company -- or to its subscribers or to the 6 insurance-buying public -- if a member of the Premera
7 board, who was an independent director, who was an 8 employee of a company with 300 subscribers, would 9 thereby disqualify Premera from going after the business
10 of that company with 300 potential subscribers?

11 A. Obviously, in that example, it is difficult to see
12 the benefit of going after that piece of business. I
13 understand the potential conflict that that might lead
14 to.

15 Q. And I believe you acknowledged that the consequence
16 of following Blackstone's suggestion in this regard
17 would be to eliminate from the category of independent
18 board members positions within Premera's service area;
19 is that right?

20 A. That is correct.

21 Q. Do you think that the subscribers and the 22 insurance-buying public might actually benefit from 23 having providers on the Premera board who can qualify as 24 independent directors?

25 A. It is obviously a very tough balancing act between

1 having subscribers or physicians on the Premera board in 2 terms of the knowledge, the local knowledge that they
3 could bring, as opposed to the problem that they may be 4 not in fact thinking first and foremost of the interest
5 of all the Premera shareholders, but thinking about 6 their own specific relationship with Premera. And that 7 is obviously the concern that we have.

8 Q. Let me turn to the prospect -- the impact of this 9 conversion upon Premera, if I might, Mr. Alderson-Smith.

10 Would you agree with me that a company in the 11 position of Premera, with a stronger capital position,
12 may be able to take a longer term view of the prospects
13 of a particular market than a company that is capital
14 constrained and for that reason may be forced to pull 15 out?

16 A. Yes. A company with more capital is generally 17 better than a company with less capital, in terms of 18 taking advantage of new opportunities.

19 Q. Would you agree as well that capital raised through 20 the proposed conversion and IPO will give Premera
21 flexibility and financial planning and prepare it --
22 allow it to prepare itself for expected or unexpected
23 events in a fashion that would otherwise not be 24 possible?

25 A. I would agree that it would give it that additional

1 flexibility.

2 Q. Do you recall, Mr. Alderson-Smith, that during the 3 discussions that took place in January, surrounding the 4 subject of the termination of the voting trust upon loss
5 of the Blue Cross/Blue Shield license, that Premera
6 actually offered to remove the divestiture requirements
7 while maintaining the governance restrictions and 8 standstill provisions?

9 A. I believe that I actually was not present at that 10 specific meeting in January.

11 Q. Had you been present, Mr. Alderson-Smith, would you 12 have seen that as a reasonable approach to deal with 13 this particular issue?

14 A. I would certainly see that as a move in the right 15 direction. That would solve one of the issues with the 16 maintenance of the -- of voting trust and divestiture
17 agreement.

18 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further. Thank you.

19

20 CROSS-EXAMINATION

21 BY MS. MCCULLOUGH:

22 Q. Hi, Mr. Alderson-Smith, I just have a couple of 23 questions for you. As proposed in the Form A, Premera's
24 veto power over the designated board member nominees
25 means that Premera may never have to select one of these

1 nominees; is that right?

2 A. I suppose one could get into a situation -- although 3 it is -- I mean, it sounds a little bit extreme -- where 4 nominees are put forward, they are vetoed, more nominees
5 are put forward, they are vetoed. So one could 6 potentially get into a situation where no nominee's
7 eventually adopted. I think that is a very unlikely
8 situation -- but it is possible.

9 Q. But it is possible?

10 A. It is in the realms of possibility.

11 Q. There is nothing in the Form A that would require 12 Premera to eventually select one of the nominees; is 13 that right?

14 A. I think that is kind of an interesting situation. I
15 mean, I don't think, from my personal point of view,
16 that would be a situation that would play out.
17 However -- however, there is no -- that they have gone
18 after the 30th nominee they would really have to take 19 somebody, or after a couple years -- there is a drop 20 dead day or drop dead nominee they really have to take,
21 to the best of my knowledge.

22 Q. Right. And it is my understanding that at the 23 five-year mark neither of the Foundations will have this 24 designated board member on Premera's Foundation; is that
25 right?

1 A. As currently drafted, obviously you have heard that
2 we may have a problem with that, but that is correct.

3 Q. Right. So then there is a potential that during 4 that five years Premera may never choose a designated
5 board member; is that right?

6 A. That's kind of an interesting way of looking at 7 things, but I understand the point, and I would agree
8 with you that technically this thing could be strung out
9 for five years, which is an interesting point.

10 Q. And is it fair to say that having a designated board
11 member sit on these various committees -- I believe, the 12 executive committee, the pricing committee, and the 13 compensation committees -- are important safeguards for 14 the Foundations; is that right?

15 A. They are important safeguards for the Foundation.

16 Q. Okay. And Premera's board and these various 17 committees won't be constrained from making any 18 decisions in the absence of that board member being 19 present; is that right?

20 A. Could you repeat the question, I am sorry.

21 Q. Sure. Premera's board and the executive committee,
22 the pricing committee and the compensation committee,
23 won't be constrained from making any of the decisions it
24 would make if the designated board member was not 25 selected?

1 A. No. That is my understanding of these documents.

2 Q. So -- and I think I just had two more questions.
3 The unallocated shares escrow agreement I think
4 Mr. Mitchell had suggested that the parties may freely
5 amend that; is that right?

6 A. I think by -- so long as all the parties agreed,
7 amendments can be made to that agreement, yes.

8 Q. And Premera is one of those parties?

9 A. That is right.

10 Q. So if Premera was not willing to amend this 11 agreement, then the escrow agent would still be required
12 to participate in the IPO; is that right?

13 A. If Premera was not willing to make the amendments,
14 even though Alaska and Washington were?

15 Q. Right. For instance -- I am sorry, I didn't mean to 16 interrupt you.

17 A. Could you just give me your for instance.

18 Q. Sure. For instance, if both of the Foundations
19 asked Premera to allow them to be freed up to not 20 participate in the IPO, but Premera didn't want that to 21 happen, they would still be required to participate; is 22 that right?

23 A. That is my understanding, yes.

24 MS. McCULLOUGH: Okay. Thank you. No
25 further questions.

1 MS. DeLEON: I just have a couple questions.

2

3 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

4 BY MS. DeLEON:

5 Q. Regarding the ownership of Premera, as it is today,
6 you said that Blackstone basically assumed that Premera
7 was owned by the public; is that correct?

8 A. That is correct.

9 Q. In your review and due diligence, did you find any 10 other entity or body or group that would own Premera?

11 A. We -- to the best of my knowledge, we did not find 12 any other entity that may own Premera.

13 Q. And regarding the WellChoice transaction, did
14 Blackstone set out to mirror -- or look at this to 15 mirror the WellChoice transaction in every respect?

16 A. No. I think it is fair to say that WellChoice was 17 an important benchmark, and it was perhaps -- among all
18 the precedents -- perhaps the most important benchmark
19 for some of the reasons I have testified to.

20 However, there are a number of areas where we 21 believe this plan is different from WellChoice, more 22 beneficial to the company, more beneficial to the 23 Foundations.

24 So, clearly, that may have been a benchmark, but it
25 clearly wasn't something that was slavishly adhered to

1 in terms of the only standard which we wish to meet in 2 every respect.

3 MS. DeLEON: Thank you. No further
4 questions.

6 RECROSS EXAMINATION

7 BY MR. MITCHELL:

8 Q. Very brief redirect, Mr. Alderson-Smith. With 9 Ms. McCullough's question about the selection of 10 designated members, I have before me a copy of the 11 voting trust agreement that addresses this. And the 12 language in question says that Premera -- the board of 13 Premera may veto nominees, only if they are not 14 reasonably acceptable. Is that consistent with your 15 recollection?

16 A. That is consistent with my recollection.

17 Q. And it continues that the board is obliged in those 18 circumstances to promptly notify the beneficiary and the 19 Alaska Health Foundation of its determination at the 20 beneficiary's request to consult concerning the factors
21 involved in such determination.

22 At that point, there will be jointly proposed one
23 or more additional individuals from which the board of 24 directors will choose. Is that consistent with your 25 recollection?

1 A. That is consistent with my recollection.

2 Q. And are you aware of the provision of Washington law
3 that requires parties to such a contract to act
4 reasonably and in good faith?

5 A. I am not aware of that specific element, but I would 6 absolutely take your word that that should be the case
7 in contract law.

8 Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the board of 9 directors of Premera would act in anything other than 10 reasonable good faith in fulfilling its obligations
11 under this provision?

12 A. I do not have any reason to believe that.

13 Q. You said in response to Ms. DeLeon's questioning
14 that you did not find any group other than the public
15 that might own Premera. Did you consider the 16 possibility that, under Washington law, a non-profit
17 corporation does not have any outside owners?

18 A. As one of the sort of qualifications I would like to 19 make is that we did not -- I did not spend a lot of time
20 looking for potential owners of Premera at this time.
21 That was not something within my remit.

22 So I think it is fair to say that we didn't find any 23 specific owners right now, nor did we find any lack of 24 owners right now.

25 Q. You didn't really look at that issue, did you?

1 A. I really did not look at that issue.

2 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further.

3 MS. McCULLOUGH: Just one question,
4 Mr. Alderson-Smith.

5

6 RECROSS EXAMINATION

7 BY MS. MCCULLOUGH:

8 Q. Who determines which of the nominees are reasonably
9 acceptable?

10 A. It is the Premera board who makes the determination
11 as to whether the nominees from the Foundations are 12 reasonable or not reasonable.

13 MS. MCCULLOUGH: Thank you.

14 MS. DeLEON: No further questions.

16 EXAMINATION

17 BY COMMISSIONER KREIDLER:

18 Q. Mr. Alderson-Smith, just a couple questions. One of 19 them would be that -- is you have taken a look at the 20 Amended Form A that is before us right now. Can you
21 identify any particular or combination of factors that 22 are more important for maintaining the value of the 23 stock for the Foundations than others?

24 A. I would say that there are one or two elements that 25 we have identified as being particularly important. And

1 when we say value of the stock, not only do we mean just 2 the sort of dollars and cents value per share for the 3 Foundation, but also its value in terms of the extent of 4 governance that we can bring to bear on the company and 5 the flexibility in terms of the management of those 6 shares, be that divestment or holding, etcetera.

7 I think that a couple of areas that are particularly 8 important to us include a very clear identification of 9 independence of the directors. I think that is a very 10 important element that we discussed this morning.

11 And also the ability to make sure that the directors
12 of the Washington Foundation actually wants on this 13 board, subject to whatever the restrictions are, so that 14 we can cut out citrus growth in Florida and other
15 less-desirable potential groups of people.

16 But the fact that the Washington Foundation can have 17 a director looking after its interests -- as well as 18 looking after the interests of all the other
19 shareholders -- that the Washington Foundation feels 20 very comfortable with, trusts, knows is going to look 21 after the interest of the Foundation. Those would 22 probably be the -- perhaps the principal things just as 23 I review the various elements that are of particular
24 importance.

25 Q. The question on independence of board members, which

1 you mentioned, are there limits as to the standards that
2 could be imposed as a condition of approval of the Form
3 A standards that you could require?

4 Obviously, the two percent, one million, has been 5 talked about. Are there other factors that could be 6 delineated --

7 A. I mean, obviously there are -- there are some other
8 concepts. If, for example, the two percent and one 9 million was to cut out the possibility, for example, of 10 Premera going and bringing on board a new subscriber, 11 clearly, that's something that none of us want to have 12 happen.

13 Maybe there could be some additional drafting to 14 ensure that these directors were still very clearly
15 independent and were very clearly focused, --
16 specifically on Premera and all of the shareholders at 17 Premera -- rather than on the special business
18 arrangements with Premera. I think there could be a way
19 to draft some additional language to maximize the clear
20 independence of those directors -- and yet not harm
21 Premera because clearly that is something we do not want 22 to do.

23 Q. So there is a significant amount of flexibility that 24 could be theoretically imposed as to standards for 25 independence that could be applied, always with the

1 understanding that you would not want to harm the 2 corporation. But at the same time, could be there to 3 enhance the issues that might be identified by the state
4 of Washington or the Foundation of being paramount
5 importance?

6 A. I would absolutely endorse that point. And clearly,
7 just to make the point even more specific, it is 8 obviously in the board of Premera's interest to do this.
9 I have no hesitation that the board of Premera is also 10 going to be highly sensitive to ensuring that in a best
11 corporate government -- governance practices that are 12 set out right from the beginning, right from the 13 floatation of the company.

14 Q. Out of curiosity, out of the thousands of pages
15 that -- and documents that have been submitted by 16 Blackstone and others as a part of this overall review,
17 have you ever received any comments from the Blue
18 Cross/Blue Shield Association as to the standards that 19 they have set in order to make sure the Blues mark is 20 not lost by Premera?

21 A. I personally don't remember having any specific 22 pieces of paper, that I have reviewed, that are 23 specifically to do with that. I do know that there is 24 a -- an overriding rule within the Blue Cross/Blue
25 Shield Association that no non-institutional investor

1 can hold more than five percent of a public Blue. But 2 that excepted, I have not seen any specific documents to 3 the best of my recollection.

4 Q. Relative to the Blues mark and the Blue Cross/Blue
5 Shield standards -- and I believe there was a comment to 6 the effect that the WellChoice standards were as far as 7 they would go.

8 I think in history, have we not seen that the 9 Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association has not always drawn
10 a hard, firm line as to where its standards will be from 11 one year to the next -- and I think specifically what 12 happened when they made the change to allow for-profit
13 companies to maintain the Blues mark. Is it true there
14 is not a hard standard?

15 A. No. I think the only hard standard is the one I
16 alluded to, namely, the five percent ownership capital,
17 which appears to be quite hard, and I think a related 10
18 percent ownership cap for institutional investors.

19 But to the best of my knowledge, all of the other
20 restrictions are not necessarily in some rule book that 21 has been forever set out that you have to adhere to, I
22 think there is some more flexibility.

23 Clearly, if you look over time, there has been some 24 movement in the Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association.

25 Clearly, it is difficult to predict how much more

1 latitude there is, and obviously we sympathize and
2 understand Premera's situation between an insurance
3 commission and an association.

4 But, obviously, what we are trying to do is make
5 sure we look after the best interests of the Foundations
6 and the public in this procedure.

7 Q. Would there potentially be ways that the envelope
8 could be pushed, so to speak, with the Blues
9 Association --

10 A. It is --

11 Q. -- if there were issues that we found of importance,
12 and at the same time not unduly jeopardize what I think
13 is generally recognized as a valuable trademark?

14 A. It is a very interesting question. Obviously, as we 15 sit here, not being parties to those discussions -- I
16 mean, I almost sort of look out to Mr. Barlow and 17 Mr. Marquardt and all the others, who actually have to 18 go into battle with the Association and actually deal
19 with these issues. As I sit here in my comfortable
20 chair not having to do that -- and not, by the way,
21 wishing to do that.

22 I fully understand that sitting here with my benefit
23 of very little perspective and very little knowledge, 24 not knowing any of the individuals on the other side of 25 the table, I would suspect that there might be an

1 opportunity -- there might be an opportunity to push the 2 envelope a little further.

3 Having said that, we note that the envelope has 4 already been pushed a little further in the meeting on 5 the 20th of March, 2004. I think the boundaries were 6 pushed a little. I don't know how much more those 7 boundaries can be pushed. I am not sure they can be 8 pushed anymore. That's really one for the company to 9 figure out. It is a tough call, I have to say.

10 Q. Is there a safe way of playing that game without 11 risking too much?

12 A. Without playing chicken, as Mr. Mitchell asked 13 Mr. Koplovitz yesterday in the redirect? It is 14 obviously one -- if there is a safe way to play that 15 game, I am not sure that this is the right forum to even 16 strategize on it, unless Mr. Mitchell wishes me to -- on 17 his redirect, fill out my views.

18 Q. I can appreciate that. Let me ask a question that 19 might be a little bit on the sensitive side, just 20 because of the nature of Blackstone and its role in 21 advising the state of Washington in this matter.

22 Would Blackstone be in a position to potentially 23 benefit if in fact a conversion took place and a trust
24 foundation was created because of consulting services
25 that it might be able to participate in in the future?

1 And would that in any way be something that I should
2 think about in judging Blackstone's advice?

3 A. Just in terms of how we are currently working, we
4 are on a retainer right now with Premera -- pardon me,
5 with you, with the OIC, but paid for by Premera. At 6 some stage -- probably in the not too distant future --
7 that retainer arrangement will come to an end. We would 8 then receive -- potentially receive certain fees if a
9 further opinion -- either a fairness opinion or a
10 procedures opinion -- is requested.

11 So there are certain fees -- in other words, if we 12 go down a track now, there are certain fees that we may 13 receive if the company was to go public, because you may 14 require a procedures opinion or a final fairness
15 opinion. So there is some financial bias for us if we 16 go down that track.

17 We are certainly not anticipating that we would be 18 the appropriate consultants to the Foundation. It is 19 our view that the Foundation will probably require an 20 investment bank who has significant capital markets
21 expertise, who is able to sell the shares of the 22 Foundation into -- into the markets and be a lead
23 underwriter or a co-managing underwriter of the sales of 24 those shares.

25 We at Blackstone are not able to do that, and

1 therefore we would not anticipate that we would be
2 involved or would be in any way compensated by the 3 Foundation once that Foundation is set up.

4 But I would note that if we were to go down a path
5 where you are generally positive on the conversion and 6 you require opinions, those opinions would generate
7 additional fees for us.

8 One interesting point, just for the sake of 9 argument, in the Maryland conversion -- which, as 10 Mr. Koplovitz testified yesterday was a, quote, 11 "unsuccessful conversion," at least as far as the 12 company was concerned it was unsuccessful -- we could 13 have made an additional fairness opinion fee. Had the 14 transaction gone ahead, we would have received a
15 fairness opinion. However, in that situation, we came 16 to the conclusion that that was not a fair transaction
17 and the value was not being transferred. Therefore we 18 forgo -- we did not receive that fairness opinion fee.

19 So hopefully that is at least some background on how 20 we are compensated in any of biases that you may need to 21 consider as you look at the testimony of myself and 22 Mr. Koplovitz.

23 COMMISSIONER KREIDLER: Thank you for 24 answering that question. It was one I felt an 25 obligation to ask. Thank you, Mr. Alderson-Smith, I

1 have no further questions.

2 MS. DeLEON: I have no questions.

3 MR. MITCHELL: No, thank you.

4 MS. McCULLOUGH: No, thank you.

5 JUDGE FINKLE: Let's take a break.

6 (Morning recess.)

7 JUDGE FINKLE: Let's resume.

8 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, Commissioner, the 9 OIC staff calls Richard A. Ashley to the stand.

10

11 RICHARD A. ASHLEY, having been first duly
12 sworn by the Judge,
13 testified as follows:

15 DIRECT EXAMINATION

16 BY MR. HAMJE:

17 Q. Please state your name and business address.

18 A. My name is Richard Allen Ashley. My business
19 address is 2001 Market Street, Philadelphia,
20 Pennsylvania.

21 Q. Please describe your current position.

22 A. I am a tax partner with the firm of 23 PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP.

24 Q. Please describe your educational background.

25 A. I have undergraduate and graduate degrees in

1 accounting from Florida State University.

2 Q. Do you hold any licenses?

3 A. I am licensed as a Certified Public Accountant.

4 Q. Please describe your experience that is relevant to 5 PricewaterhouseCoopers -- or PwC's -- engagement in this 6 matter.

7 A. I will address my own experience. I have been 8 involved in a variety of insurance company conversion
9 transactions, including Blue Cross/Blue Shield
10 Association transactions.

11 For example, I was involved in the conversion of 12 Trigon, which is the Virginia Blue Cross and Blue shield 13 plan. I was also involved in the proposed conversion of 14 the Colorado plan.

15 I was also involved in the mutual holding company
16 conversions of Pacific Mutual, as well as, Provident
17 Mutual Life Insurance Company, and also the conversion
18 of the Medical Inter-Insurance Exchange of New Jersey,
19 and I have been involved in a variety of demutualization
20 transactions, including MetLife, as well as Mutual of 21 New York. I have worked on both the company side, as 22 well as, the regulator side.

23 Q. What was PwC asked to do that resulted in your
24 involvement in this matter?

25 A. PricewaterhouseCoopers was engaged by the Washington

1 OIC to advise them on a variety of matters. My 2 particular involvement was with respect to the federal
3 and state tax aspects of the proposed conversion.

4 Q. What did you do to fulfill your engagement?

5 A. We did a variety of things. First, we have reviewed
6 a number of documents associated with the transaction.
7 With respect to tax we looked at tax returns, tax work
8 papers, we reviewed draft and final opinions by the 9 advisors to Premera. We have reviewed the rulings from 10 the state of Washington in a variety of transactional
11 documents.

12 We met with Premera and its advisors and had a 13 variety of different discussions with them. We also 14 performed analysis of key issues and had a variety of 15 discussions with the OIC and other advisors.

16 Q. In connection with PwC's engagement, did you
17 participate in the preparation of one or more reports?

18 A. Yes, I did. I participated in the tax aspects of 19 the PricewaterhouseCoopers reports.

20 Q. And does that include the accounting and tax
21 evaluation?

22 A. It does.

23 Q. And the report on tax matters?

24 A. That's correct. The accounting and tax report was 25 principally a due diligence report. I participated in

1 the tax aspects of that. The tax reports addressed the 2 basic issues that I will be addressing today, and there
3 was also an addendum that dealt principally with 4 Foundation tax matters, that will be addressed by 5 Mr. Lundy that will testify after myself.

6 Q. Was there also an additional report that you were 7 involved in preparing that was submitted in February of 8 this year?

9 A. Yeah. There was an addendum to the report that 10 addresses the progress we made recently with Premera in 11 addressing and resolving several of the tax issues.

12 Q. Have you also submitted prefiled testimony in this
13 matter?

14 A. Yes, I have. Prefiled, both direct testimony, as 15 well as responsive testimony.

16 Q. Do you adopt your prefiled testimony and the 17 portions of the reports in which you were involved in 18 preparing?

19 A. Yes, I do.

20 MR. HAMJE: At this time the OIC staff
21 offers Exhibit S-9, which is the accounting and tax
22 evaluation of the proposed conversion of Premera Blue
23 Cross of Washington by PwC. Exhibit S-11, which is a
24 short biographical sketch of Mr. Ashley. Exhibit S-12, 25 which is the report to the Washington State, Office of

1 Insurance Commissioner, on tax matters in connection
2 with the proposed conversion of Premera. Exhibit S-13,
3 which is the addendum to the report, to the Washington
4 State, Office of Insurance Commissioner, on tax matters
5 in connection with the proposed conversion of Premera.
6 Exhibit S-40, which is the prefiled direct testimony of 7 Mr. Ashley. And also Exhibit S-41, which is the 8 prefiled responsive testimony of Mr. Ashley.

9 MR. MITCHELL: No objection.

10 MS. McCULLOUGH: No objection.

11 JUDGE FINKLE: Admitted.

12 Q. Mr. Ashley, please state the key tax issues that you
13 analyzed with respect to the Premera conversion
14 transaction.

15 A. There were principally four tax issues that we 16 focused our attention. The first issue, which we view
17 is by far the most significant tax issue associated with 18 this transaction, is the matter of whether or not
19 Premera will experience what we refer to as a material
20 change in structure. Which, if they do experience such 21 a material change in structure, they would lose
22 significant tax benefits allowed to Blue Cross and Blue
23 Shield organizations under federal tax law.

24 The second area we looked at was whether or not the 25 transactions that comprise the conversion of Premera

1 would qualify for tax-free treatment for federal income
2 tax purposes.

3 The third issue was whether or not certain key tax
4 attributes of Premera, principally federal net operating
5 loss carryovers, as well as federal alternative minimum
6 tax credit carryovers, would be subject to a limitation
7 on their future use after the conversion transaction.

8 And finally, the fourth issue we looked at was 9 whether or not there could be adverse state tax
10 consequences from the conversion transaction.

11 Q. Mr. Ashley, you indicated that the material change
12 issue -- the issues are the most significant -- or is 13 the most significant tax issue.

14 Before you address it, would you please provide 15 some brief comments on the significance of the other
16 issues and the manner in which Premera addressed those 17 issues.

18 A. I would be glad to. As I indicated in your question
19 refers to the -- the material change issue is really the 20 key issue I would like to talk about in my opening
21 comments and questions and answers here. I would like 22 to briefly comment on the other three areas, the first
23 being the tax-free treatment of the conversion
24 transaction itself.

25 As it has been indicated before in the testimony

1 provided to this body, Premera intends to rely upon an
2 opinion from the firm of Ernst & Young with respect to 3 whether the transactions constitute tax-free
4 transactions for federal income tax purposes.

5 I would like to note that we have been provided with 6 that opinion, which is a short form opinion. However,
7 that opinion is subject to the accuracy of assumptions
8 and representations set forth in a technical memorandum
9 in support of that short form opinion.

10 We have not been provided with a copy of that 11 technical memorandum, and it is necessary for us to be 12 provided with a copy of that technical memorandum and be 13 given the opportunity to review that to determine 14 whether or not the short form opinion is satisfactory to 15 us. We have not been provided with that.

16 On the limitation of tax attributes, just,
17 Commissioner, for your benefit and others, just a little 18 bit of background on that. Whenever a corporation
19 experiences a more than 50 percent change in its 20 ownership over a three-year period, a limitation on tax
21 attributes -- such as, net offering loss carryovers and 22 certain tax credit carryovers, such as AMT credits --
23 can be subject to a limitation. It is an annual 24 limitation imposed by the Internal Revenue code.

25 Premera has significant net operating loss

1 carryovers and has significant alternative minimum tax
2 credit carryovers.

3 Premera received an opinion from Ernst & Young
4 addressing whether the conversion transaction itself
5 would trigger this limitation on those tax attributes.
6 E & Y provided an opinion that the conversion should not
7 cause such a limitation. However, the opinion only
8 addressed the consequences of the conversion transaction
9 itself and not the effect of future changes in the 10 ownership of Premera that could be caused by a sale of 11 the stock by the Foundations, as well as additional 12 sales of shares by Premera in IPOs or subsequent share 13 offerings.

14 We have looked at information provided by Premera
15 with respect to this issue. It does not appear to us
16 that that issue would cause a significant adverse effect
17 on Premera based on the information provided.

18 With respect to the state tax effects, I believe 19 this was indicated in earlier testimony, Premera has 20 received rulings from the state of Washington, which has 21 ruled favorably that there should not be adverse state
22 tax consequences to the transaction.

23 Q. Mr. Ashley, can you provide some background on the 24 material change issue and specifically talk about what 25 your concerns are with respect to that matter?

1 A. I would be glad to. I wanted to make sure that's 2 working. Just by way of background, prior to 1987, most
3 Blue Cross and Blue Shield organizations were tax
4 exempt. They did not pay income taxes for federal 5 income tax purposes.

6 As a result of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, Blues
7 became subject to federal income tax beginning in 1987.
8 However, in doing so, Blue Cross/Blue Shield
9 organizations were provided with a series of benefits to 10 cushion the blow, if you will, of going from tax exempt
11 status to taxable status.

12 The four benefits that are provided are set forth in 13 the slide here. The relevance and significance of those 14 varies from organization to organization. In the case
15 of Premera, the first issue, the special deduction, is 16 the most significant, I believe. And the special 17 deduction is a deduction that's allowed, again, to 18 certain qualifying Blue Cross/Blue Shield organizations.
19 It can be very significant -- it is very significant in 20 the case of Premera. It substantially reduces the 21 taxable income and the effected tax rate gets imposed on 22 the organization.

23 The other three issues we have gone through with the 24 company and advisors, and they do not appear to be of 25 any real significance to the company.

1 In order to be eligible to receive the special
2 benefits -- again, including the special deduction,
3 which we believe is so significant to Premera -- the 4 organization must not experience what's referred to as a
5 material change in either its structure or its 6 operations.

7 My concern is that the conversion transaction itself
8 may well cause Premera to experience a material change
9 in its structure, which again would cause the loss of 10 these tax benefits I referred to.

11 Unfortunately, there is very little guidance as to 12 whether or not the proposed conversion transaction
13 itself will cause this material change. There is no
14 statutory or judicial authority which sheds light on the 15 meaning of a material change.

16 The legislative history with respect to this matter
17 is very limited. However, I would like to note that the 18 Internal Revenue Service has provided informal
19 statements that they believe that a conversion
20 transaction, such as the one proposed by Premera, will 21 in fact result in a material change in structure, and 22 that of course is always a concern.

23 Q. What has Premera done to obtain comfort with respect
24 to this issue?

25 A. Premera has indicated to us that they intend to rely

1 upon an opinion from Ernst & Young with respect to this 2 issue.

3 Q. Have you had a chance to look at this and review
4 this tax opinion?

5 A. We were provided with a draft tax opinion -- a draft
6 short form tax opinion -- which indicated that Ernst &
7 Young believed that it was more likely than not -- and 8 that's kind of a key phrase here -- more likely than not 9 that the transaction would not cause Premera to 10 experience a material change.

11 Q. Were you provided with a final tax opinion with 12 respect to this subject?

13 A. No, we have not been.

14 Q. Please describe to the Commissioner and explain what 15 a short form tax opinion is and what its significance 16 is?

17 A. Yeah. I think it may have been mentioned earlier,
18 Commissioner. This is all terminology in the tax world
19 that has developed over the years, you may or may not be 20 familiar with it.

21 A short form opinion is an opinion that provides an 22 opinion of the advisor, but it does not provide a 23 well-reasoned analysis of how they reached their 24 opinion.

25 Q. What's the significance of a more likely than not

1 opinion?

2 A. A more likely than not opinion is exactly what it
3 says. It is more likely than not that that is the 4 outcome. It is more than 50 percent. And in the tax
5 world, a more likely than not opinion is typically not a
6 real strong level of opinion. For a significant issue,
7 most companies would prefer something above that if they 8 could achieve it. But it is just what it says, it is 9 more likely than not, at least in my view.

10 Q. Given this level of opinion, in your analysis, what 11 does this mean with respect to the degree of risk
12 associated with this issue?

13 A. I believe there is a considerable degree of risk
14 associated with this issue.

15 Q. If Premera were determined to experience a material
16 change in structure, what would be the likely result?

17 A. Based on the conversations in the analysis we have 18 performed, again, the key is this special deduction that 19 is the most significant to Premera. If they were to 20 lose the special deduction as a result of a material
21 change, based on the information we have obtained from 22 the company, we do not believe there would be any 23 immediate cash flow adverse effects. Although there
24 certainly would be over time -- not immediately, but 25 over time. However, there would be, I believe,

1 significant and dramatic financial statement
2 implications that would be caused by a material change.

3 Q. Could you describe the financial statement impact.

4 A. I would be glad to. The bottom line, the key is, on 5 a perspective basis, if Premera would experience a
6 material change and lose the favorable Blue Cross and 7 Blue Shield benefits, including the special deduction,
8 that special deduction provides a current benefit. It
9 is referred to in the accounting terminology as a
10 permanent benefit, and it reduces the effective tax rate
11 that's imposed on its earnings, generally by about 15
12 percent.

13 So if the special deduction was lost, Premera's tax
14 rate would go up generally by about 15 percent, and its 15 bottom line would go down by 15 percent. A 15 percent
16 effect on the bottom line I think in most people's 17 judgment is a significant issue.

18 Q. Could you just please summarize what you believe are 19 the most significant tax issues that the Commissioner 20 should consider when deciding whether to approve the 21 proposed transaction?

22 A. Just cutting through it, just to summarize my 23 thoughts for just a moment, I think the real key issues
24 here are this material change issue, which could result
25 in Premera losing the special Blue Cross and Blue Shield

1 benefits, having an adverse effect on its effective tax
2 rate going forward.

3 And I am not an investment banker, but one would 4 think that the strain on earnings could cause a
5 diminution in the value of the enterprise.

6 And, again, we would like to be provided with this
7 technical memorandum in support of the short form
8 opinion on the tax-free nature of the transactions so we 9 can complete our review.

10 MR. HAMJE: That's all the questions I have 11 at this time.

12 MR. MITCHELL: May I approach the witness,
13 Your Honor?

14 JUDGE FINKLE: Yes. Did you have another 15 copy or --

16 MR. MITCHELL: Yes.

17
18 CROSS-EXAMINATION

19 BY MR. MITCHELL:

20 Q. Mr. Ashley, your wish is our command. I actually 21 did not intend for this to be a dramatic moment, but we 22 just received this this morning, and I am happy to 23 provide to you the technical memorandum in support of 24 the Ernst & Young short form opinion, which you
25 doubtlessly will review at your leisure, and I would not

1 ask you to do so now.

2 A. I hope not. It is pretty long. It is 117 pages.

3 Q. Maybe that's why it took them so long to get it to 4 us, I don't know. As compared with your original
5 report, Mr. Ashley, your supplemental report reflects
6 tremendous progress by Premera in addressing the 7 concerns that you had identified initially, is that not
8 true?

9 A. Yes, we did make progress.

10 Q. And with respect to the tax-free nature of the 11 proposed reorganization, is it not the case that it was 12 reasonable for Premera to rely upon the opinion received
13 from Ernst & Young?

14 A. We do not find it to be unreasonable to rely on such 15 an opinion.

16 Q. Now, you say that the potential loss of the special
17 deduction -- which I gather the lingo is 833(b)
18 deduction -- is the most significant tax issue; is that
19 right?

20 A. I believe so. Certainly, if the transaction was to 21 not be tax-free, if it was a taxable transaction, there
22 could also be significant tax implications on the 23 transaction, but there is a strong level of opinion
24 offered by E & Y.

25 Q. So I think you would agree with me, would you not,

1 Mr. Ashley, that 833(b) issue is the most significant
2 here, because it is the only one that's not -- at this
3 point -- resolved, or as close to resolved as we can 4 resolve it?

5 A. I think that's true.

6 Q. Now, with respect to the potential loss of the 7 833(b) deduction, Mr. Ashley, would you not agree that 8 this is a very unsettled area of tax law?

9 A. Yes. As I indicated before, there is scant
10 authority with respect to the issue, and it is clearly 11 an unsettled area.

12 Q. Would you also agree with me, Mr. Ashley, that 13 Premera has reasonable arguments to support its position
14 that it should be able to retain the deduction, special
15 deduction?

16 A. Yeah. I think it has some substantial arguments to 17 support a position that the 833(b) deduction should be 18 maintained and the company will not experience a
19 material change, but I believe there is a significant 20 risk that they may not prevail on that issue.

21 Q. And with respect to that last point, Mr. Ashley,
22 would you not agree with me that the outcome of this
23 question will not be known for many years?

24 A. A good chance of that.

25 Q. Because the way in which the issue might come up is

1 on audit, in subsequent years. The IRS, if it takes a
2 position on audit, consistent with the informal position
3 that you indicated in your testimony, would lead to a
4 potential dispute that would only be resolved in tax
5 court or US District Court; is that right?

6 A. Yeah, that's certainly one scenario, and that could
7 occur for Premera, or it could apply for another Blue
8 Cross/Blue Shield organization who may be challenged on 9 that issue.

10 The service may also issue other authorities with 11 respect to the issues, such as a revenue ruling, that 12 would provide a stronger level of view of service.

13 Q. The informal position to which you alluded has no
14 force of law; is that right?

15 A. I think that's probably a correct statement.

16 Q. Would you also agree with me, Mr. Ashley, that if 17 the deduction is lost, the impact on Premera's bottom
18 line will be deferred because of the existence of tax
19 attributes, such as net operating loss carryovers?

20 A. No, I do not think I agree with that.

21 Q. Apart from the financial statement impact, would you 22 agree with that?

23 A. I think the financial statement impact is very 24 significant here.

25 Q. With respect to this special deduction, it is a

1 deduction that, by its terms, is not meant to last
2 forever; is that not true?

3 A. I am not sure what you mean by that.

4 Q. The ability of a Blue Cross/Blue Shield Association
5 to claim this deduction disappears over time, does it
6 not?

7 A. Well, companies can work their way out of the 8 deduction, if you will. Perhaps that's what you are 9 referring to. The deduction is equal to 25 percent of 10 claim and claims adjustment expenses over adjusted
11 surplus.

12 As a company grows and it accumulates an amount of 13 surplus, quite often the deduction is diminished over 14 time, but there is nothing that causes the company,
15 under current law, to not be entitled to the deduction.
16 It is a question of the mechanics.

17 And based on -- just to elaborate on that point --
18 based on the projections provided by Premera, I believe 19 the company believes they are going to receive 20 substantial benefits for this deduction for many, many 21 years.

22 Q. Would you agree with this point, Mr. Ashley, that 23 the risk of losing the 833(b) deduction is unavoidable
24 if there is to be any transaction that puts substantial
25 value into the Washington Foundation?

1 A. If that's done through a conversion of the company
2 from a non-profit/non-stock, to a for-profit/stock
3 company, which is what is proposed in this transaction,
4 I think the risk will arise.

5 I just believe it is important for the Commissioner
6 and other interested parties to be aware that the 7 conversion transaction has with it this tax risk, and 8 therefore potential -- imposition of additional taxes on 9 the organization, and therefore diminution of the value
10 of the organization. That's the important point I would 11 like to make here. I agree with your general statement.

12 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further.

15 BY MS. McCULLOUGH:

16 Q. Is there something called an IRS private letter
17 ruling?

18 A. An IRS private letter ruling is a means by which a 19 company can request an opinion or advice from the 20 Internal Revenue Service on the tax consequences of a 21 particular matter.

22 Q. So is it possible then that Premera could have 23 stocked this private letter ruling from the IRS to clear
24 up whether or not this conversion would result in a loss
25 of the 833(b) benefits?

1 A. That is possible. They could have gone to the 2 Internal Revenue Service. Whether or not the Internal 3 Revenue Service would have ruled on that issue is not
4 clear. They have not, to date, ruled on that issue.

5 MS. McCULLOUGH: Thank you.

6 MR. HAMJE: No questions.

7

9 BY COMMISSIONER KREIDLER:

10 Q. I am curious right now as to how some of the other 11 plans that have gone through conversion, what their 12 experience was relative to these tax benefits. Have 13 they been harmed in this process or lost their 833(b)
14 tax benefit or not?

15 A. That's an excellent question, Commissioner. Let me
16 answer it in a couple of ways. The significance of the 17 material change varies from Blue to Blue, if you will.
18 In some of the prior transactions, that issue wasn't as 19 significant as it is to Premera. A lot of the companies 20 had surplus levels where the special deduction was very 21 small or they were not entitled to special deductions
22 and the other items weren't that significant. So many 23 other conversions, this material change issue, wasn't as 24 big of a deal as it is I think in the Premera
25 transaction.

1 Also, I will note that in several of the prior
2 conversions, at least for financial reporting purposes,
3 the plan took the position for financial reporting
4 purposes that it did experience a material change and 5 reported its financial affairs on that conservative
6 basis.

7 It is our understanding that Premera intends,
8 subject to further review and consideration, to report
9 its financial affairs on the basis that it does not 10 experience a material change.

11 Q. So the point that you would make, Mr. Ashley, would 12 be that potentially this conversion could experience
13 more harm than any of the substantive conversions that 14 have taken place in the past?

15 A. Yeah. The ones I have been involved with that I can 16 think of is not as big an issue as it is here, yeah.

17 COMMISSIONER KREIDLER: Thank you, very 18 much.

19 MR. HAMJE: No follow-up.

20

22 BY MR. MITCHELL:

23 Q. I have I couple of questions of follow-up,
24 Mr. Ashley. First, with respect to Premera's plan with 25 respect to this issue, is it your understanding that

1 Premera will disclose the issue in its Form S-1 as a
2 footnote?

3 A. I think so. We had discussions about that, and it
4 was not clear in our discussions exactly what or the 5 manner of how it would be disclosed. I would think it
6 would need to be disclosed and I think it has been in --
7 I can think of Mr. Mitchell in the Trigon transaction
8 and the WellChoice, that there were disclosures in both
9 of those, I would think it would need to be here.

10 Q. In the WellChoice precedent, Mr. Ashley, would you
11 confirm my understanding that the converted entity took 12 a position from a financial reporting purposes, a GAAP
13 position, that assumed the loss of the 833(b) deduction,
14 but that WellChoice continued to claim the deduction on 15 its tax return?

16 A. That's my understanding.

17 Q. And in the circumstances described there, what, if 18 any, impact was there upon the value realized by the 19 Foundations upon the sale of Blues stock?

20 A. I am not in a position to answer that. You would 21 have to ask an investment banking person or another
22 competent person in that area. That's not an area I can 23 make a judgment on.

24 Q. Would you agree with me, Mr. Ashley, that the 25 WellChoice transaction was a very successful conversion,

1 certainly from the standpoint of the Foundation?

2 A. I am not that familiar with the transaction and 3 probably shouldn't comment on that.

4 Q. Finally, am I correct in my understanding,
5 Mr. Ashley, that PwC assumed that the Section 833(b)
6 deduction would be lost?

7 A. Yeah, I think that's a good point. We originally 8 had requested that this transaction be conditioned upon 9 the receipt of an acceptable opinion with respect to 10 this matter, and it was suggested by Premera that it not 11 be. And we thought that was not an unreasonable
12 position, because we thought there was a reasonable
13 degree of risk associated with it.

14 And in doing so, we suggested that the advisors do
15 their analysis on the assumption that the material
16 change would occur, the tax benefits would be lost, to 17 look at it on kind of a worst case basis, and our firm
18 took that approach, and I believe some of the other
19 advisors did as well, including the investment bankers.

20 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further.

21 MS. McCULLOUGH: Nothing.

22

23 EXAMINATION

24 BY COMMISSIONER KREIDLER:

25 Q. Mr. Ashley, I am curious. It seems like there is

1 such a void here. I can understand the reservations
2 about not always wanting to go to the IRS and ask a
3 question, but it seems like there is precedent that had 4 to have been established by rulings, by the IRS on 5 833(b) deduction and that issue.

6 Is it your -- to your knowledge, are there no
7 rulings that have taken place that are on point enough
8 so we have some real substantive ground here to grab 9 hold of?

10 A. Unfortunately, that's the case. The areas that they 11 have ruled on, Commissioner, have not been on point with 12 respect to our issue. They have not ruled on a
13 conversion of a non-profit/non-stock to a
14 for-profit/stock company. They have not ruled on that.

15 They have issued guidance, and the committee reports
16 provide some guidance on a split-up or merger of two 17 Blues where there is no substantive change in the 18 structure of the organization. They provided guidance, 19 going from a non-profit to a mutual organization, is 20 that a material change, but nothing on point that 21 addresses our situation, unfortunately.

22 Q. Thank you, very much.

23 A. So we are kind of looking in the crystal ball, if 24 you will, and that's why there is a reasonable degree of 25 risk.

1 JUDGE FINKLE: Any follow-up?

2 MR. HAMJE: None from the OIC staff.

3 MR. MITCHELL: None.

4 JUDGE FINKLE: Thank you. Please step down.

5 MR. HAMJE: May this witness be excused?

6 MS. DeLEON: Your Honor, the OIC staff would 7 like to call Joseph Lundy to the stand. Mr. Lundy is 8 setting up his computer, he will be a minute.
9

10 JOSEPH LUNDY, having been first duly
11 sworn by the Judge,
12 testified as follows:
13

14 DIRECT EXAMINATION

15 BY MS. DeLEON:

16 Q. Please state your name for the record.

17 A. Joseph Edward Lundy.

18 Q. Where do you currently work?

19 A. I work at PricewaterhouseCoopers, 2001 Market
20 Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where I am a
21 consultant to the firm.

22 Q. Could you please briefly describe your educational 23 background.

24 A. I received my Bachelor of Science in economics at 25 the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. I

1 received a Juris Doctor at Temple University, School of 2 Law, and a Master in legal letters, in the field of 3 taxation, at New York University, School of Law.

4 Q. Could you briefly describe your work experience.

5 A. I have been a practitioner of law for 28 years and 6 the last seven years have been a consultant for the firm
7 of PricewaterhouseCoopers.

8 I am a former chair of the American Bar Association,
9 Tax Sections and Exempt Organization Committee. I am a
10 Co-editor in Chief of the journal known as the Journal
11 of Exempts, published by Warren, Gorman, Lamont.

12 I am an adjunct faculty member of the Temple
13 University, School of Law, where I teach -- and have 14 taught -- for 30 years a course in the exempt
15 organization law.

16 Q. Could you please describe your experience regarding 17 the federal tax aspects of forming and maintaining 18 non-profit tax exempt organizations.

19 A. Over the course of my career, I have devoted more 20 than half of my time to the matters involving the 21 formation and maintenance of tax exempt organizations.
22 And, in the last 15 years, my exclusive time has been 23 devoted in that area.

24 In particular, with regard to conversions of Blues
25 organizations, I was involved in the Colorado

1 conversion.

2 I have also formed, personally, many tax exempt
3 organizations, and converted many tax exempt
4 organizations for-profit, as well as assisting them to 5 go from for-profit to tax exempt status.

6 Q. Did you prepare a prefiled direct testimony for this
7 proceeding?

8 A. I did.

9 Q. Did you also assist in the preparation and 10 submission of Exhibit 1 to PricewaterhouseCoopers'
11 report on tax matters, dated October 27th, 2003?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Did you also assist in the preparation and 14 submission of Exhibit 1, to the report addendum on tax
15 matters, in connection with the Washington Foundation
16 Shareholder and the Alaska Foundation, dated February
17 27th, 2004?

18 A. Yes. I did.

19 Q. Did you also prepare a report on allocation tax
20 matters dated March 29th, 2004?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Are these reports incorporated by reference in your 23 prefiled direct testimony?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Did you also attach a curriculum vitae to your

1 prefiled direct testimony?

2 A. I did.

3 Q. Mr. Lundy, do you adopt all of your prefiled direct
4 testimony in this matter?

5 A. I do.

6 MS. DeLEON: Your Honor, with Mr. Lundy's
7 adoption of his testimony that's been previously filed
8 and served in this matter, we would move for admission
9 of Exhibits S-14, S-15 and S-55.

10 MR. MITCHELL: No objection.

11 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

12 JUDGE FINKLE: Admitted.

13 Q. Mr. Lundy, could you please briefly summarize your 14 opinions regarding the federal tax aspects of the part 15 of the proposed conversion transaction involving the 16 formation and operation of the proposed Washington
17 Foundation?

18 A. In summary -- and for reasons that I will explain
19 and elaborate on in a little bit of detail -- I think it
20 important and in the interest of the public that the 21 Washington Foundation qualified for federal tax
22 exemption.

23 I also believe that the Single-Tier Social Welfare
24 Organization Model that has been proposed in the Amended
25 Form A is more tax efficient than any other feasible

1 model.

2 I think that the Single-Tier Social Welfare
3 Organization Model appears to be a model that is 4 otherwise effective, efficient, practical, and in the 5 best interest of the public.

6 That is, I think it strikes a reasonable balance
7 among at least three competing concerns, those concerns
8 being tax efficiency, simplicity, and inspiring public
9 confidence.

10 The Single-Tier Social Welfare Organization Model, I
11 believe, is achievable. I do have some concerns about 12 the Internal Revenue Service's willingness, as the 13 documents are currently formulated to immediately
14 recognize it, but I do believe that this model is 15 achievable.

16 Lastly, and in summary, in order to eliminate any 17 uncertainty and potentially have impacted considerable 18 tax liabilities, I believe that the closing of the 19 proposed conversion should be conditioned upon obtaining 20 recognition that the Washington Foundation is a social 21 welfare organization.

22 Q. Why is it important and in the best interest of the 23 public that the proposed Washington Foundation be 24 determined to be exempt from federal income tax?

25 A. As the slide that is currently going up on the

1 overhead indicates, recognition of federal tax
2 exemption, on the part of the Washington Foundation,
3 will eliminate certain potential tax liabilities.

4 Judge Learned early on said in one of his more
5 significant opinions, "It is perfectly proper to so
6 structure your affairs to avoid taxation. What is not 7 proper is to structure one's affairs to evade taxes."

8 In this instance, properly recognizing the 9 Foundation as a tax-exempt, social welfare organization,
10 will eliminate the following potential tax liabilities.

11 Federal income tax might well be imposed upon the 12 receipt of the Foundation of the shares of new Premera
13 at a rate of close to 35 percent, 35 percent of the fair
14 market value of those shares upon receipt, unless the 15 Foundation is determined to be tax exempt.

16 Second, even should there be a determination -- and 17 there is a basis to conclude that the receipt alone may 18 not be a time to tax the Foundation -- upon subsequent 19 sale of those shares, as an IPO or otherwise, there will 20 be a tax liability imposed on the gain, recognized upon 21 that disposition, and to the extent that there had not 22 been a tax imposed at the time of the receipt, and the 23 basis of those shares was little or nothing in the hands
24 of the Foundation, the tax liability again would be a 25 little bit less than 35 percent of the total amount of

1 the proceeds received upon the sale.

2 Last, any income derived from the proceeds of the 3 sale in the form of dividends, interest, royalties,
4 rents, or other forms of income -- including gains upon
5 subsequent dispositions of investments -- would be 6 subject to federal income tax at rates that might be 7 approaching in the area of, again, 34 percent.

8 In order to eliminate the possibility of those types
9 of taxes, which could be literally in the hundreds of 10 millions of dollars, it is important, in my point of 11 view, for the public's interest and everybody else's
12 interest in the transactions that those taxes not be 13 triggered.

14 Q. In the context of the role of the proposed 15 Washington Foundation, could you please summarize the 16 difference between being classified as a social welfare
17 organization as opposed to a charitable foundation?

18 A. Slide number four, please. There are more than 30
19 different types of tax exempt organizations. The two 20 that are most appropriately considered in the context of 21 the Washington Foundation are either a charitable 22 organization or a so-called social welfare organization.

23 A charitable organization is distinguishable from a
24 social welfare organization. If you would, please, put 25 up slide number eight. In the sense that in each case a

1 charitable organization and a social welfare
2 organization are organized and operated so as to not 3 have any private gain, each is exempt from federal 4 income tax as a general rule, but subject to tax
5 nonetheless on its so-called unrelated business income.

6 The core underpinning similarity and distinction
7 between a charitable organization and a social welfare
8 organization deals with its mission. A social welfare
9 mission is incorporated and encapsuled in the concept of 10 charity, but not the reverse. That is, a charity can 11 include a social welfare organization, but a social 12 welfare organization cannot include a charity.

13 Q. How does an organization, like the proposed
14 Washington Foundation, obtain a formal IRS determination 15 that it is exempt from federal income tax by reason of 16 being a social welfare organization?

17 A. In order to achieve certainty that a social welfare
18 organization is entitled to federal tax exemption, there
19 is a formal Internal Revenue Service procedure, which 20 requires the filing of a lengthy application, in which 21 certain information is provided to the Internal Revenue
22 Service, basically providing to the service an 23 opportunity to make a reason judgment as to whether that 24 organization satisfies the critical elements
25 constituting the definition of a social welfare

1 organization.

2 That process is triggered by the filing of an
3 application, along with certain other documents, and the 4 paying of -- humorously enough -- a user fee, a
5 payment -- another fee, Commissioner, that comes out of 6 the pocket of somebody, and in this case to the tune of 7 $500.

8 Q. Is there currently a determination by the IRS of the 9 Foundations' tax status?

10 A. To my knowledge, there is no determination that has 11 been received. Although I believe from listening to 12 prior testimony over the last few days, that there may 13 have been a process begun in which the application may 14 or may not have been filed. I do not know.

15 Q. Does that concern you?

16 A. It does not concern me that there has been a process
17 initiated, to the contrary, since the timeline for 18 obtaining this process is very uncertain. The Internal 19 Revenue Service receives as many as 80,000 of these 20 applications for tax exemption a year. The process by 21 which they handle those applications is very, very 22 difficult, to say the least. They are very, very 23 constrained with resources, and it is very difficult -- 24 if at all possible -- to predict how quickly such 25 applications will be examined and determinations made.

1 There are expedited procedure processes, which hopefully
2 could be brought into play in this instance.

3 Q. If the proposed Washington Foundation is determined
4 by the IRS to be a social welfare organization, will it
5 be required to file federal income tax returns?

6 A. Yes. A social welfare organization does file a
7 federal information return, it is not a tax return. It
8 is IRS form 990, and it requires certain information, 9 much of the same type of information that is required of 10 a charitable tax exempt organization.

11 Q. How else might the Foundation be regulated or 12 affected by the IRS or by federal tax law?

13 A. As an organization that has been recognized as 14 exempt by reason of being a social welfare organization,
15 the Internal Revenue Service is charged with the 16 responsibility of monitoring from time to time its 17 compliance with those requirements.

18 And it is not uncommon for organizations of this 19 nature to be examined in the same fashion that 20 charitable tax exempt organizations are examined to 21 determine whether they are in compliance with the 22 requirements for their continuing exemption.

23 Q. Are there any other thoughts or concerns that you
24 wish to express regarding the potential federal tax
25 implications of forming and maintaining a proposed

1 Washington Foundation as a tax-exempt, social welfare
2 organization?

3 A. The only other area that I have seen that has given
4 me any pause is the most recent Unallocated Shares
5 Escrow Agreement, the USEA. As my last report
6 indicates, it creates some additional tax concerns,
7 without regard to whether the ultimate organization is 8 recognized as a charitable exempt organization or as a
9 social welfare organization.

10 The reason for that is that the transactions that 11 might occur while those shares are in the escrow
12 agreement, and the gain and income that might be derived
13 from those shares, it is problematic as to whether there
14 could be taxation imposed on that income and those 15 activities. While I do not believe that it should, I
16 believe that it is an uncertainty.

17 Q. Do you have any other concerns that have not been 18 addressed?

19 A. I do not.

20 MS. DeLEON: Thank you. No further
21 questions.

24 BY MR. MITCHELL:

25 Q. Good morning, Mr. Lundy.

1 A. Good morning, Mr. Mitchell.

2 Q. You are, as I understand it, a tax professional with 3 a particular focus on non-profit, tax-exempt
4 organizations; is that correct?

5 A. That is correct.

6 Q. And Premera, Premera Blue Cross are not such 7 organizations, are they?

8 A. They are not.

9 Q. Your reports and your testimony today focus upon the 10 structure of the Foundations that will be established to 11 receive Premera's initial stock, to monetize that stock,
12 and then distribute the proceeds to address unmet health
13 needs; is that right?

14 A. That is correct.

15 Q. And the Foundations that are proposed to be 16 established are designed to be both non-profit and tax
17 exempt; is that right?

18 A. That's correct.

19 Q. From a tax-planning standpoint, Mr. Lundy, would you
20 agree that the transaction documents in Premera's
21 Amended Form A are designed to minimize the taxes and 22 operational rigidities that would flow from an 23 alternative structure?

24 A. Yes, I do.

25 Q. Would you agree, as well, that from a tax-planning

1 standpoint, those transaction documents appear likely to 2 achieve their objective?

3 A. Yes, I do.

4 Q. As part of your analysis then, Mr. Lundy, did you
5 review conversion transactions that had taken place in 6 other states?

7 A. I did.

8 Q. And you are aware from that review, are you not,
9 that in recent years state attorneys general and 10 insurance commissioners had been exercising more
11 stringent regulatory review of proposed conversions?

12 A. I am so aware.

13 Q. In some cases, is it not the case that state
14 attorneys general have filed lawsuits to set aside the 15 full value of conversion proceeds to charitable use?

16 A. That is my understanding.

17 Q. In our case here, Mr. Lundy, is it not the case that 18 the goal of such a claim by a state attorney general,
19 namely, to set aside the full value of the conversion
20 proceeds for charitable use, has already been 21 accomplished by Premera's proposal?

22 A. I believe it has.

23 Q. Last week Commissioner Kreidler heard testimony from 24 Lewis Reid, who described himself as a tax geek. Are 25 you familiar with Mr. Reid's expert reports?

1 A. I have reviewed them and I agree with Mr. Reid --
2 although I wouldn't say geek, but certainly an 3 accomplished tax professional.

4 Q. I think the world would be a better place if 5 accomplished tax professionals were in charge, at least 6 insofar as this transaction is concerned, because you
7 and Mr. Reid basically agree with each other, do you
8 not?

9 A. I think that is correct. We have slight differences
10 on the achievable of the Social Welfare Organization
11 Model. But otherwise, I do not think we have any 12 disagreement on the desirability of the outcome.

13 Q. For example, Mr. Reid, in his prefiled responsive
14 testimony, which is Exhibit P-12, at page 12, endorses
15 the proposal that you have offered in your most recent 16 report, which is Exhibit S-15, for the Foundation's 17 report income arising from funds or shares that are 18 escrowed in the USEA, the Unallocated Escrow Agreement;
19 is that right?

20 A. That is right.

21 Q. And I assume you would agree with Mr. Reid that the 22 most straightforward solution to any issues associated 23 with the USEA, would be for the states to agree upon an 24 allocation of the shares, which would render the USEA
25 superfluous; is that right?

1 A. That is correct.

2 Q. Do you agree with Mr. Reid that Premera's proposed
3 conversion is designed to deliver the greatest dollars
4 to the charitable organizations that will be established
5 as a result of the conversion?

6 A. I don't have the expertise, Mr. Mitchell, to opine
7 in that regard.

8 Q. Mr. Reid has observed that given the practice of 9 philanthropic organizations to pursue programs that 10 leverage their assets for greater social good, the 11 Foundation's impact and influence in this case could 12 well be much greater than the size of their endowments.
13 Do you agree with that?

14 A. Yes, conditionally, Mr. Mitchell. One of the areas
15 that I did examine in the process of my review are the 16 series of documents that go through the task of forming 17 the Foundation, the proposed articles. And then
18 additionally and critically as well, the so-called 19 transfer grant and loan agreement.

20 The reason I say conditionally, is that in the 21 articles of incorporation, there starts with a purpose
22 clause which explains -- very, very well, I believe,
23 from everybody's perspective -- the proposed purposes
24 for the Washington Foundation.

25 The powers then that follow a separate article of

1 those -- articles of incorporation, limit the powers of 2 the organization when formed to directly following or 3 pursuing -- the purposes set forth in the purpose
4 clause -- pursuing the health needs of the citizens, the 5 residents of the state of Washington. As well as 6 indirectly -- as well as indirectly fulfilling those 7 purposes by way of making grants exclusively to 8 charitable 501(c)(3) organizations.

9 The document then that is described as the grant --
10 transfer grant and loan document, further restricts the 11 power of the Foundation -- not the purpose, but the 12 power of the Foundation -- to -- I believe, the language
13 of the document is solely use the proceeds from the sale
14 of the new Premera stock for grants to charitable 15 501(c)(3) organizations. In that context, the leverage
16 may be diluted.

17 Q. But still possible though; is that right?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Mr. Reid has stated, and I quote, "The Conversion
20 Transactions serves the public interest by permitting
21 Premera to continue as a vital company with assets to 22 the capital markets, while unlocking the charitable 23 potential in its assets by adding two new large sources 24 of philanthropic health funding in the states of 25 Washington and Alaska," closed quote. You agree with

1 that, do you not?

2 A. I do. I do.

3 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further. Thank you.

4

6 BY MS. HAMBURGER:

7 Q. Good morning.

8 A. Good morning.

9 Q. I just had a few questions. Your testimony earlier
10 this morning about the federal tax status, when you
11 referred to charitable and social welfare organizations,
12 you were referring to federal law that designates
13 charitable and social welfare organizations; is that
14 right?

15 A. That is correct. And being in that tribe of tax
16 geeks, I was trying to avoid the IRS terminology,
17 501(c)(3) versus 501(c)(4).

18 Q. So you weren't having any opinion on those terms
19 charity or social welfare in the context of Washington
20 State law?

21 A. I had no focus on that terminology as it is used
22 under Washington law.

23 Q. Now, some Foundation -- you testified that you have 24 studied the conversion entity, Foundations formed from 25 conversions in other states?

1 A. That is correct.

2 Q. Some of those conversion entities have been 3 established as 501(c)(4) organizations?

4 A. That is correct.

5 Q. And some have been -- had included similar 6 restrictions that 501(c)(3) organizations have in their 7 articles of incorporation and bylaws?

8 A. That is correct.

9 Q. Including a minimum five percent annual grant
10 making?

11 A. That is correct as well.

12 MS. HAMBURGER: Thank you.

13 MS. DeLEON: I have no questions.

14 MR. MITCHELL: One follow-up question,
15 Mr. Lundy.

18 BY MR. MITCHELL:

19 Q. You had observed, I think in the overview slide,
20 that you recommended that a consideration of the 21 condition upon the Commissioner's approval of the 22 proposed conversion that would be focused upon receipt
23 of recognition of tax exempt status of the Foundation;
24 is that right?

25 A. That is correct, Mr. Mitchell.

1 Q. Am I correct in my understanding that your
2 recommended condition would focus on tax exempt status,
3 not specifically on (c)(4) versus (c)(3) status?

4 A. I think that is a correct statement, Mr. Mitchell.
5 The current document identified as the plan of 6 conversion would -- at Article 4, as I recall --
7 condition the closing of the conversion transaction upon 8 the receipt of a -- of recognition or the filing of an 9 application. What concerned me was the -- were the 10 filing of the application and not having the actual 11 receipt of the recognition of exemption.

12 I believe that, were it ultimately determined to be 13 a 501(c)(3) organization, as opposed to a 501(c)(4)
14 organization -- that is, a charity as opposed to a 15 social welfare organization -- that there would not be 16 quite the same tax efficiency, but that the significant 17 potential tax implications would be eliminated.

18 By that, I was hoping to avoid any explanation, but 19 I will just make a very brief one. And that is, that in 20 the event that the Foundation is classified as a charity
21 for federal tax purposes, it will -- in all likelihood,
22 if not certainly -- also be categorized as a private 23 foundation. And as a private foundation, it will be 24 subject to -- among other things -- a two percent excise 25 tax -- not an income tax, an excise tax -- on, among

1 other things, the gain derived from the monetization of 2 the new Premera stock.

3 In the event that it is categorized as a social
4 welfare organization, there would not be such a tax
5 liability imposed. Therefore, most tax efficient,
6 social welfare organization. Next, charitable tax
7 exempt organization.

8 Were it to become a charitable private foundation,
9 in addition to the two percent excise tax that would be 10 imposed on the gain derived from the sale of the new 11 Premera shares -- which would be virtually the entire 12 amount of the proceeds -- there would also be a similar 13 tax imposed on any investment income, including
14 subsequent gains upon the sales of other investment
15 vehicles that the Foundation would invest in from time
16 to time.

17 And there would also be a series of IRS-imposed
18 restrictions on the use of the funds, how much money
19 would need to be distributed annually, and other
20 limitations on the trustees of the Foundation in order
21 to maintain tax status.

22 Q. Bottom line, your proposed condition is receipt of 23 recognition of tax exempt status, either as a C3 or 24 (c) (4) ?

25 A. Yes.

1 MR. MITCHELL: Thank you. Nothing further.

2 MS. DeLEON: Nothing further.

3 MS. HAMBURGER: Nothing.

4

5 EXAMINATION

6 BY COMMISSIONER KREIDLER:

7 Q. I just have a couple of questions here. One is that 8 in the event that the IRS either ruled that the 9 Foundation was subject to a 34 percent or a two percent,
10 are there tax consequences -- are there other structures
11 or amendments or alternatives that would be available in 12 order to avoid the interpretation of the IRS?

13 A. I believe that it is highly unlikely that the 14 Internal Revenue Service will not rule favorably that 15 the Foundation is either a charitable exempt
16 organization or a social welfare organization.

17 In the unlikely event that it were to rule
18 unfavorably in either of those categories, the only 19 other category which I believe could possibly be 20 applicable, but which I understand has more challenges
21 and difficulties -- would be to have the Foundation
22 categorized as an instrumentality of the state.

23 Q. Interesting. Thank you. Of the Insurance
24 Commissioner's Office?

25 A. No comment.

1 Q. In reviewing the analysis that was done by Mr. Reid,
2 how would you judge your level of confidence in the IRS
3 ruling favorably, from yours to Mr. Reid's, as the same?
4 Or are you less optimistic or more optimistic than 5 Mr. Reid?

6 A. I think we are about the same. I believe that it is 7 very possible that the Internal Revenue Service will, as 8 a condition of approving recognition, request
9 modifications of some of the documentation. Exactly
10 what will be requested, I cannot speculate. It is a 11 process that is very, very -- lacks uniformity. Lacks
12 uniformity.

13 As one of the counsel for the Intervenor asked me
14 the question about other conversion transactions and 15 elements that were in those transactions, which were 16 approved by the Internal Revenue Service, when you have 17 seen one conversion transaction, you have seen one
18 conversion transaction.

19 COMMISSIONER KREIDLER: Thank you very much,
20 Mr. Reid. That's all I have.

21 MS. DeLEON: No questions.

22 JUDGE FINKLE: See you at 1:30.

23 (Lunch recess.)

24 THE COURT: Ready to proceed?

25 MR. KELLY: Yes. I do have a preliminary

1 motion.

2 THE COURT: Can I interrupt you with
3 something preliminary of my own?

4 MR. KELLY: Sure.

5 THE COURT: There is a letter dated May 10,
6 directed to Commissioner Kreidler, from Gloria Glover,
7 who is the Chief Financial Examiner for the Alaska
8 Department of Community and Economic Development,
9 indicating that in the 24th order in this case the 10 Commissioner invited the Alaska Director of Insurance to 11 call one of her staff to inform you -- that is the 12 Commissioner -- to a written statement of any 13 information which the ADI believes should be aware of in 14 connection with the proposed conversion.

15 They have provided such a comment by report
16 captioned, "Statement of Alaska Division of Insurance 17 Regarding Proposed Conversion of Premera," that is 18 attached to the letter I just referred to. This was 19 received by the Commissioner just now, by his office,
20 just late this morning as I understand it.

21 The report will be made available to all
22 parties, and we will see what is to be made of it. But 23 I just wanted to announce that to you and it will be 24 made available. The report appears to deal strictly 25 with the allocation issue, although I truly have only

1 had a couple of minutes to look at it. So the staff
2 will make it available to you. Go ahead, Mr. Kelly.

3 MR. KELLY: Yes. I have a motion to exclude
4 PowerPoint slide presentations that have just been given
5 to us by the OIC staff. I base the motion upon the 6 Court's and Special Master's order, that all such 7 illustrative exhibits were supposed to have been 8 produced by April 26th.

9 You will recall that we have done this in 10 our case, of course we are finished and there is a
11 different approach for this.

12 This morning, while I was out preparing for 13 Mr. Nemerov, I understand we were handed a 17-page
14 PowerPoint slide presentation from Mr. Nemerov, which I
15 barely had a chance to look at.

16 This afternoon, I came in and I was asked if 17 I was going to be getting to Ms. Hunt this afternoon.
18 When I said yes, as the magic word, I then got a 28-page
19 PowerPoint slide from Ms. Hunt. I submit that if I had 20 said no, I would not get to her this afternoon, I would 21 have gotten this tomorrow morning.

22 Once I made that statement it was apparent
23 what needed to be done, so then I got Mr. Staehlin's
24 34-page PowerPoint slide. I hope this isn't a geometric 25 progression.

1 This is wrong. It isn't fair to us, it is
2 in violation of your order, and it is just simply a
3 sandbag. And I ask that the proper remedy is to make 4 these folks just talk without their PowerPoint slides.

5 They could have presented these at any time,
6 certainly by the deadline, and they chose to wait -- not 7 only beyond the deadline, but until literally the last
8 possible moment each time.

9 MR. HAMJE: All that I can speak to with 10 respect to these presentations is that they are simply 11 summaries of the testimony that will be given by these 12 witnesses.

13 It is my understanding these are not going
14 to be introduced as exhibits, are not going to be given 15 to the Commissioner to review as part of the record, but 16 only there for the purpose of following along with the 17 testimony, as have been done with several of Premera's
18 witnesses as we have seen.

19 We have -- these particular exhibits that 20 were presented -- items that were presented to Mr. Kelly
21 this afternoon, only were prepared over the lunch hour.
22 We only just received them and were able to get them
23 together. To be perfectly candid, we did not anticipate 24 that this morning would go quite as quickly as it did.
25 And so we have been trying to get these things all put

1 together as quickly as possible to get them to the other
2 parties.

3 And the first one we delivered was earlier
4 this morning, as soon as we could, after it had been 5 prepared, and then these next two during the lunch hour,
6 when they were completed.

7 We would ask that the motion be denied,
8 because this would be very useful to the Commissioner
9 and other members of the public and the staff to be able 10 to follow along with the presentations made by these 11 witnesses.

12 THE COURT: Could you remind me of the 13 language of the order that you are referring to?

14 MR. KELLY: I will turn to my colleague.

15 MS. HAMBURGER: Your Honor, while they are 16 looking that up, I would like to make one brief comment.
17 While we believe that everyone should try to provide 18 this information in advance, we understand there are 19 circumstances here where lots of information is being 20 brought to light, and that we might be in need to submit 21 this information for illustrative purposes only later.

22 And I would just like to remind counsel that 23 Ms. Halverson, on the spur of the moment, drew a diagram
24 that none of us had seen before as well, and we had not 25 had the opportunity to review that in advance.

1 MR. KELLY: I think that that falls outside
2 the requirement, and that is traditionally done in 3 court. But I will happily swap one diagram for the rest
4 of their witnesses for what's going on here.

5 I think the order, Your Honor, says -- it
6 requires in your special revised order, that all hearing
7 exhibits be provided by April 26th.

8 And if someone is going to try and use a
9 PowerPoint slide, I am going to demand it be marked as 10 an exhibit so we know what we are talking about. So it
11 is an exhibit.

12 This argument we are doing it as soon as we 13 could is preposterous. That's the excuse of I am late,
14 well, I am doing it as soon as I can? We can 15 demonstrate why they couldn't do it months or weeks ago
16 at least.

17 If there is nothing new in the slides, and 18 it is just a summary of their reports and their prefiled
19 testimony, they could have done it by the time of April 20 26th. If there is something new -- and I certainly 21 don't have the time to try and figure that out -- then 22 it is too late.

23 So there is no reason why these witnesses
24 can't do what the whole idea of one half hour was, which 25 was to give a summary. The one witness where we used

1 extensive slides was Mr. McCarthy, and they had all of 2 those slides by April 26th.

3 THE COURT: I am going to enforce the
4 deadline. The slides will not be permitted. Let's
5 continue, please.

6 MS. DeLEON: Your Honor, the OIC staff will 7 call Gary Tillett to the stand, please.

8
9 GARY TILLET, having been first duly
10 sworn by the Judge,
11 testified as follows:
12

14 BY MS. DeLEON:

15 Q. Could you please state your full name for the 16 record.

17 A. Gary Lynn Tillett.

18 Q. Where are you currently employed?

19 A. PricewaterhouseCoopers in a transaction services
20 division. I am a partner in that group. Office address
21 2001 Ross Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

22 Q. Could you briefly describe your educational
23 background.

24 A. I have a Bachelor's of Science degree in accounting
25 from the University of Texas at Dallas. I am a

1 Certified Public Accountant.

2 Q. And could you please summarize your work experience.

3 A. My work experience is 22 years with 4 PricewaterhouseCoopers. The last six I have spent in 5 the transaction services group. Prior to that, I was in 6 the audit practice.

7 With regard to industry experience, I spend maybe a
8 third to half of my time in the financial services
9 industry at this point, a lot on insurance companies.
10 And in the audit practice, for several of those years, I
11 have spent about 75 percent of my time on insurance
12 companies.

13 Q. Did you prepare prefiled direct testimony for this 14 proceeding?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. Did you also assist in the preparation and 17 submission of PricewaterhouseCoopers Report on 18 Accounting and Tax Evaluation, dated February 26th, of 19 2003?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And did you assist in the preparation and submission
22 of a Supplemental Report on Accounting and Tax
23 Evaluation, dated February 27th of 2004?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Are these reports incorporated by a reference in

1 your prefiled direct testimony?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Did you also attach a curriculum vitae to your
4 prefiled direct testimony?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Mr. Tillett, do you adopt all of your prefiled
7 direct testimony in this matter?

8 A. I do.

9 MS. DeLEON: Your Honor, with Mr. Tillett's
10 adoption of his testimony previously filed and served in 11 this matter, we would move for the admission of exhibits
12 S-8, which is Mr. Tillett's curriculum vitae, S-9, which 13 is the Report on Accounting and Tax Evaluation, dated 14 February of 2003, S-10, which is the Supplemental 15 Report, and S-63, which is Mr. Tillett's prefiled direct
16 testimony.

17 MR. MITCHELL: Could I ask a question on 18 Voir Dire?

19 THE COURT: Yes.
20

21 VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

22 BY MR. MITCHELL:

23 Q. Mr. Tillett, the Accounting and Tax Evaluation of 24 the proposed conversion of Premera Blue Cross of 25 Washington, which bears a date of February 26th, 2003,

1 except 2003 information which is August 29, 2003, was
2 that report actually produced first in October of 2003,
3 and does the -- would the dates actually refer only to 4 the information upon which it is based?

5 A. That is correct. The information in the report that 6 is 2002 and prior. The work was substantially completed
7 on February 26th.

8 The addendum that has the 2003 first quarter
9 information and any other references in the document to 10 '03 information, would carry the date of August 29th.

11 The way we date our product is with respect to when 12 the work is substantially complete. So the October 13 release of that report is the actual release date of 14 that report. That is the way we date the material.

15 MR. MITCHELL: No objection.

16 JUDGE FINKLE: Admitted.

17

19 (Continued)

20 BY MS. DeLEON:

21 Q. Mr. Tillett, could you briefly describe what the 22 scope of your -- of PwC's engagement in this matter.

23 A. Yes. We were engaged to come in and perform due 24 diligence type procedures on the accounting and -- the 25 historical accounting and tax information for Premera.

1 That would consist of analysis of documentation,
2 interviewing people, and different kinds of procedures
3 that are more analytical in nature to consider the 4 reasonableness or any issues or concerns we might have 5 with the reliability of the historical, financial 6 information.

7 Q. Could you please discuss your findings.

8 A. I think our findings are stated throughout the 9 report. First, I would say two things. Our report is 10 not an audit. It is not -- an audit is something the 11 independent auditors Ernst & Young would issue. It does 12 not fall within audit guidelines.

13 Nor is it a formal examination under the state
14 guidelines. It has similar procedures throughout, and 15 as stated in the report, our findings are there. But I
16 wanted to make that clear.

17 With respect to matters that are probably worth
18 noting at this time, in the first report that was 19 delivered in October, dated February 26th and August
20 29th, I think that there are two things worth noting.

21 First, we noted that the company entered into 22 several sale-lease back transactions over the years, up
23 through '02 and then continuing. That was -- I think,
24 the primary reason was to enhance statutory capital
25 surplus, because certain assets are not admissible under

1 statutory accounting, and therefore, if you sell those 2 assets and enter into a lease, then you can admit the 3 proceeds from that sale.

4 We did note that with regard to the criteria under 5 generally accepted accounting principles, several of the 6 tests were very close in terms of qualifying as a
7 capital lease, versus an operating lease, which is how 8 they were accounted for under GAAP, and noted that 9 someone could take a different view that some of those 10 tests are close enough or there is enough in the details
11 to question operating-lease accounting.

12 The effects of that, if someone took a different
13 position, would be that possibly you would have assets
14 and liabilities added to the financial statements for 15 GAAP. For statutory, those rules do not apply. And the 16 reason why it is worth noting here is I think -- should 17 the company file an IPO, and through the SEC review
18 process that gets questioned and thoroughly reviewed --
19 someone might take a different position.

20 One other area that we noted in the first report was 21 in the pension area. The company is required annually
22 to obtain an actuarial evaluation of its pension fund,
23 and they do that from an outside independent actuary.

24 Several assumptions have to be made in those 25 calculations that drive financial results and also get

1 recorded in the financial statements.

2 We noted that a couple of assumptions seemed
3 aggressive with regard to year-end December 31st, 2002.
4 Particularly, the discount rate used to discount the 5 estimated future liability, and also the long-term rate
6 of return on the asset pool.

7 The discount rate is less judgmental in our point
8 because there are several indices that exist that you
9 can tie that to, and the rate of seven and a quarter --
10 and there is some confusion there. Some of the 11 documents we looked at said it was discounted seven and 12 a quarter, others said seven percent, and I will expand
13 on that later. But we thought that discount rate was 14 outside of reasonable ranges at that point in time. So 15 that was one assumption that we thought could change the 16 numbers.

17 Secondly, the long-term rate, although it is a much 18 more judgmental number, the SEC had commented in recent 19 periods that companies still using an eight, nine
20 percent range might be questioned in the future. Since 21 that time, obviously investments, the markets have come
22 back somewhat, and I think that is less of an issue than 23 the discount rate.

24 Q. With regard to your supplemental report, do you have 25 any additional findings?

1 A. Right. The supplemental report -- based on the 2 nature of our work, the only update that we did on the 3 supplemental report was to review the company's 2003
4 pension valuations. And those were provided to us and 5 we noted two things.

6 First, we noted that the company reduced the 7 discount rate from seven to six and a quarter for 2003.
8 That, we believe, was within a reasonable range. And 9 while at the high end of a reasonable range at that 10 point in time, was within a reasonable range. Secondly,
11 they reduced the long-term rate of return assumption
12 from 8.5 percent to 7.9 percent.

13 So we felt that those assumptions were more in line,
14 and therefore the '03 evaluation was more reasonable.
15 However, we did note upon further examination of the 16 detail, that in the actuarial reports provided to us,
17 the 2002 calculation appeared to have a methodology
18 flaw, according to our actuaries -- and I will state, 19 that I used an actuarial partner in our firm to look at 20 this particular issue.

21 That in calculating the estimated liabilities in 22 2002, the estimated benefits that were paid in 2002,
23 rather than the actual benefits paid in 2002, were used.
24 And the effect of that was that the estimated benefits
25 were much higher than what was actually paid. Which, by

1 nature of the calculation, would reduce the liability,
2 and we believe that that was an incorrect methodology to 3 use. And, therefore, the '02 number might be misstated
4 from a calculation problem rather than just an
5 aggressive assumption. So those were the two points
6 noted in the updated report.

7 Q. Are there any other issues that you are still 8 concerned about?

9 A. I think at this time, given where we are on the 10 calendar, the main issues for us would be, number one,
11 that we haven't really looked at any financial 12 information subsequent to March 31, 2003.

13 Secondly, the company is up and running on a new 14 system, it has much more of the business on it, which 15 was much less significant at the time we looked at it.

16 And then lastly, I think when one thinks about an 17 IPO, management should clearly consider the requirements
18 and effects in a controlled environment going into the 19 public arena these days. Those would be our comments.
20 More of an update type of commentary, I think.

21 MS. DeLEON: I have no further questions.

22

24 BY MR. MITCHELL:

25 Q. Mr. Tillett, good afternoon. My name is Rob

1 Mitchell. As I understand your testimony, PwC looked at 2 Premera's books and records and accounting procedures,
3 as a due diligence exercise, as part of the overall
4 financial examination being conducted by the OIC staff;
5 is that correct?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. And the results of that exercise are presented in 8 your reports; is that right?

9 A. That's correct.

10 Q. Your initial report, which I think is Exhibit S-9, 11 contains some information which does not appear to 12 relate specifically to your due diligence exercise, and 13 I wonder if you have that before you, sir.

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. I am looking at pages 9 and 10 in the executive
16 summary. There is a passage that begins, "Overview."
17 Do you see that there, sir?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And I believe in the text of the report there is a 20 similar passage on page 21. Can you confirm that for 21 me?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Now, in those passages, your original report
24 describes Premera as having charitable assets owned by 25 the public in Washington and Alaska. Am I correct in my

1 understanding that you relied upon Cantilo & Bennett for 2 those factual assertions?

3 A. What was done -- first of all, can I explain the 4 purpose of why this is in the report?

5 Q. Actually, if you can answer my question first, I
6 would appreciate it.

7 A. I think we pulled these facts from the Form A and 8 different documentation and Cantilo & Bennett reviewed
9 this information for correctness. That is the process
10 we followed.

11 Q. Are you saying that you made an independent
12 determination on these issues?

13 A. No legal determination was made by PwC. It was 14 information written by my team, reviewed by 15 Cantilo & Bennett for the reasonableness of the 16 information.

17 Q. So the assertions here are -- insofar as they 18 involve questions of law -- come from Cantilo & Bennett;
19 is that right?

20 A. Cantilo & Bennett reviewed the information. PwC is 21 not making an assertion of law. They were subject to 22 review.

23 Q. Now, as the result of your due diligence,
24 Mr. Tillett, you concluded, did you not, that Premera's
25 accounting procedures made sense?

1 A. I would state it more that nothing came to our 2 attention to say -- other than the items noted in the 3 report and the more significant ones that I just went 4 through in my testimony -- nothing came to our attention
5 as being unreasonable.

6 Q. And you looked -- as I understand it -- at some of 7 the inter-company agreements that were part of the 8 filing made by Premera; is that correct?

9 A. The proposed inter-company agreements?

10 Q. Exactly so.

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And you determined that the terms of those 13 inter-company agreements -- which I will refer to as 14 Form D agreements -- were fair and reasonable; is that 15 right?

16 A. I think that's stated in the report. There is one
17 exception in the first round of the tax agreement I
18 believe.

19 Q. Am I correct in my understanding that Premera's most 20 recent financial statements allayed the concern that you
21 had expressed about the pension accounting?

22 A. I think that the assumptions were definitely brought 23 in line in the '03 financial statements. I would still 24 question whether there may be a problem with the '02
25 presentation, and how that rolls forward into the '03

1 valuation we have not performed any work on. So there
2 could be some effects on the '03 financials.

3 Q. And I think with respect to the other issues you
4 mentioned, the sale-lease back transactions, you said
5 that different people could find those GAAP tests come
6 to different conclusions about whether they were 7 operating leases or capital leases; is that right?

8 A. That's correct.

9 Q. If the person reviewing it came to a different
10 conclusion than Premera had, would not the consequence
11 be to make Premera's RVC levels more than they are 12 currently?

13 A. I don't believe so, because the statutory rules are 14 different, and essentially all leases are operating 15 leases under current statutory code or rules, and 16 therefore, I don't believe it affects RVC.

17 Q. I take it, Mr. Tillett, there was nothing in 18 Premera's examination books and records that would 19 qualify as a red flag for the Commissioner, was there?

20 A. I am not prepared to speak -- red flag? I guess I
21 would like a definition of a red flag.

22 Q. Insofar as this proposed transaction is concerned,
23 Mr. Tillett, would you advise the Commissioner that he 24 should not allow the transaction to proceed because of 25 concerns raised with Premera's books and records?

1 A. I don't think that that was our specific task, but 2 nothing has come to our attention that would cause me to 3 make such a statement.

4 MR. MITCHELL: Nothing further.

5 MS. HAMBURGER: I have no questions.

6 MS. DeLEON: Nothing.

7 THE COURT: Thank you. Please step down.

8 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor the OIC staff would 9 call Don Nemerov to the stand, please.

10
11 DONALD NEMEROV, having been first duly
12 sworn by the Judge,
13 testified as follows:
14

15 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, if I could approach
16 the witness and remove one of the notebooks that I don't 17 think he is going to need.

18 THE COURT: Sure.
19

21 BY MR. HAMJE:

22 Q. Would you please state your name and your business
23 address, please.

24 A. Donald Nemerov, 1 North Wacker, Chicago, Illinois, 25 with PricewaterhouseCoopers.

1 Q. What is your position at PricewaterhouseCoopers?

2 A. Director in the human resource service compensation
3 practice. We provide the compensation, benefits
4 consulting to clients, both public and private, as well
5 as domestic and global in nature.

6 Q. Please describe your educational background.

7 A. I have a Bachelor's of Science in economics from the 8 University of Pennsylvania, and a Master's in industrial 9 relations from the University of Minnesota.

10 Q. Please describe your experience that is relevant to 11 PwC's engagement in this matter.

12 A. I am a director in Chicago, and I lead our executive 13 compensation practice in that office. I have 14 collectively around 30 years or so of experience in 15 benchmarking, designing, implementing executive
16 compensation programs, both on a corporate side, as well
17 as the last 15, 18 years on the consulting side.

18 I have, over the years, worked with numerous 19 companies in the insurance industry. And I am currently 20 an advisor to a compensation committee for a major
21 public insurance company.

22 I have also had numerous engagements over the years
23 working with companies in the transaction -- various 24 transactions, IPOs, mergers, joint ventures, spins or 25 carve outs of companies, etcetera.

1 Q. What was PwC asked to do that resulted in your
2 involvement in this matter?

3 A. We were asked to do a number of things with respect
4 to executive compensation in this engagement.

5 Specifically, there were four questions that we were 6 tasked to answer. One being, will the conversion
7 unjustly enrich executive officers or other outside
8 directors as prior to the conversion. If the executive 9 compensation benefit practices that Premera has are in 10 fact representative of best practices. If the 11 conversion is in fact necessary for strengthening
12 employee retention. And finally, to inform and educate 13 the Commissioner and other interested parties where the 14 non-form of compensation might be of interest to this 15 transaction.

16 Q. What was the scope of your assignment?

17 A. Our scope -- we had really two areas of scope. One 18 was on a pre-conversion basis, where we were asked to 19 evaluate the total direct compensation of the executive 20 officers at Premera. And by total direct compensation, 21 that would include base salary, annual incentives or 22 long-term incentives for officers and other senior
23 members of Premera. And also looked at the total cash 24 compensation of other directors and managers within the 25 organization, in terms of the competitiveness to the 1 market.

2 We also were asked to examine the executive benefit
3 practices, the programs that Premera has in place with 4 respect to their competitiveness and reasonableness,
5 their change-in-control policy and other retirement
6 plans.

7 We also looked at qualified plans that Premera
8 maintains for all its employees, including its 9 executives. And we also were asked to complete other --
10 specialized analyses, which included paid performance
11 analysis, most senior executives of Premera, versus 12 similar companies, as well as some historical analysis
13 of salary growth and employee turnover.

14 Q. What about post-conversion?

15 A. Post-conversion scope is primarily focused in a 16 couple of aspects. One, was to look generally at the 17 overall program that Premera has submitted with respect
18 to equity compensation for its executives, often 19 employees and outside directors. And secondarily, was 20 to evaluate the impact of these programs on the 21 compensation competitiveness of the executive officers
22 of Premera, in terms of salary bonus and now the 23 inclusion of stock compensation, how does that impact
24 the total compensation competitiveness.

25 We also were asked to review, subsequently, the

1 compensation assurances as provided by Premera, Form
2 G-10 -- Exhibit G-10.

3 Q. Was it Exhibit G-10?

4 A. G-10.

5 Q. Did you get a chance to look at the compensation
6 assurances?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. And that's Exhibit G-8; is that right?

9 A. G-8. Excuse me, that's right.

10 MR. KELLY: Excuse me, it is E-8. The slide
11 says G-8. It is a typo.

12 COURT REPORTER: Can you please be sure to 13 speak into the microphone?

14 Q. What activities did you perform and what did you
15 examine to fulfill PwC's engagement?

16 A. Primarily, we looked at different peer groups of 17 companies to compare Premera executive compensation to.
18 And that included both publicly-traded companies, as 19 well as, companies within the health insurance industry
20 that have similar size to Premera, and also select to a 21 group of Blue companies that are exactly structured as 22 Premera is today, as a Blue Cross/Blue Shield
23 organization.

24 We also reviewed quite a bit of information that was 25 provided to us by Premera with respect to their

1 compensation policies, and programs that they maintain
2 for their executives, as well as, the information
3 provided related to historical compensation and benefits
4 provided to these executives and other officers of the 5 company.

6 Q. What about post-conversion?

7 A. Post-conversion we primarily were reviewing the Form
8 A, Exhibit G-10, and the compensation assurances they 9 were provided subsequently.

10 Q. Did you look at materials provided by Premera?

11 A. Yes. Some were the plan descriptions, policies
12 related to change control, executive benefits, incentive
13 compensation, etcetera.

14 Q. In connection with the engagement, have you
15 submitted any reports in this proceeding?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. Did you submit a report in October 2003?

18 A. That is correct.

19 Q. Entitled Executive Compensation Review?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And another report in November of 2003 relating to 22 the Exhibit G-10?

23 A. That's correct.

24 Q. And another report in February of 2004, which is a
25 report addendum to your original report; is that right?

1 A. That is correct.

2 Q. Have you also submitted prefiled testimony in this
3 matter?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Have you submitted prefiled direct and responsive
6 testimony?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Do you adopt your prefiled testimony and your 9 reports?

10 A. Yes.

11 MR. HAMJE: At this time the OIC staff
12 offers the following exhibits: S-26, which is 13 Mr. Nemerov's CV, which is an exhibit to his prefiled
14 direct testimony. S-27, which is the Executive 15 Compensation Review, Competitiveness and Reasonableness
16 that Premera Practices, dated October 2003. S-28, which 17 is the Executive Compensation Review Addendum,
18 Competitiveness and Reasonableness of Premera Form A.
19 Exhibit G-10, An Equity Incentive Plan, November 2003.
20 S-29, Premera's Executive Compensation Review, Summary
21 of Issues, Resolved or Pending, Report Addendum,
22 February 27, 2004. S-37, Executive Compensation Review,
23 Corrections and Clarifications to Exhibits S-27, S-28
24 and S-29, which is an exhibit to Mr. Nemerov's prefiled
25 direct testimony. The next exhibit is S-57 which is

1 Mr. Nemerov's prefiled direct testimony. And the last
2 is S-58, which is his prefiled responsive testimony.

3 MR. KELLY: No objection.

4 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

5 THE COURT: Admitted.

6 Q. Mr. Nemerov, have you reviewed materials submitted
7 by Premera's expert Towers Perrin?

8 A. Yes, I did.

9 Q. Are there any material differences in your 10 methodology regarding how you reached your conclusions
11 as compared to Towers Perrin?

12 A. There are a number of areas where we do things very 13 similarly as compensation consultants. Many of our 14 tools and methods and data that we apply is very 15 similar.

16 There were two that I feel were material differences
17 in our approach to this engagement versus Towers Perrin.
18 There were several but there were two that I think were 19 of most material nature. The first area was in how we 20 benchmark compensation.

21 At Towers Perrin, as Premera's current consultant,
22 Mercer benchmarks the compensation of Premera by taking 23 companies -- Blue companies, health insurance companies,
24 and a select sample of proxy companies, they call public
25 peer group proxies, and they blend it together and come

1 up with a composite, what they call market competitive
2 pay levels. We believe that it is more accurate and 3 informative to present the information separately.

4 So we are looking at Premera compensation versus
5 Blue companies -- which is what Premera is -- we are 6 looking at compensation versus other insurance
7 companies, and then we are looking at compensation
8 versus a public peer group. Think that gives a much
9 more complete and accurate evaluation of where Premera
10 is versus the marketplace and blend it all together.
11 That would be our one key difference.

12 And we would also suggest on a pre-conversion basis,
13 when we talk about benchmarking positions that Premera
14 officers fulfill, in all likelihood, the positions are 15 closely matched in terms of the responsibilities with 16 the executives of other Blue organizations. We think 17 since we selected the Blue benchmark as our source of 18 primary reference point for determining the 19 reasonableness of Premera compensation pre-conversion.

20 The other key difference we had is we completed our 21 own evaluation of the executive benefits and 22 change-in-control policy for Premera. We applied our 23 actuaries in our firm to come up with these evaluations.
24 Our understanding in reviewing the Towers Perrin
25 materials, is that they did not do their own evaluation

1 of those benefits, and in fact, relied more on existing 2 consultants' evaluations of those benefits. We think we
3 did a more complete third-party review of the total
4 package that's offered to Premera executive officers,
5 and in sum total, we believe, that that provides the 6 Commissioner with a more complete assessment of total
7 compensation.

8 Q. Mr. Nemerov, would you please summarize your 9 pre-conversion findings.

10 A. Yeah. We had a number of findings, and I am going 11 to focus on the ones that I think are most material to 12 today.

13 First, we found that -- with respect to other Blue
14 organizations -- that the cash compensation and the 15 total direct compensation -- which would be the cash,
16 plus Premera's long-term incentives paid through their 17 current long-term incentive plan -- is above the market
18 practice of other Blue companies. That's finding number 19 one. And those are -- if I can reference -- those are 20 in our first report, on specific pages of that report.
21 Pages 19 through 21 and 23 through 25 summarize our 22 findings.

23 MR. KELLY: If I may object. It is 24 transparent that this witness is reading from the slide
25 program that has been prohibited from use. Mr. Hamje

1 asked for it back, and that's fine, I gave him back the 2 other two. And I told him I wasn't going to use them,
3 and destroyed the ones involved here because I had 4 handwritten notes and didn't want to give it back to 5 him.

6 The witness should not be reading his
7 testimony. He should be giving his own testimony, so I
8 object to the use of this. It is very extensive.

9 THE COURT: Ask a question. He should 10 answer the question directly if he can. If you need to 11 refresh your recollection, please indicate when you are 12 doing so. Go ahead.

13 THE WITNESS: Finally --

14 Q. Let me ask you the question. Do you have -- please
15 continue to summarize your findings.

16 A. Okay. The second finding that we had with a
17 pre-conversion basis was that -- the organization may 18 perhaps be justified in being above market for a number 19 of reasons. The market is an indicator of 20 reasonableness. It is not an absolute indicator of 21 reasonableness.

22 Two things that we looked at that validate an 23 above-market condition on a pre-conversion basis. One
24 is performance of a company. If a company is a
25 high-performing company compared to its peers, then

1 being a high-paying company is a natural -- would be a
2 natural result.

3 In fact, what we found was that on a pre-conversion
4 basis, Premera was not performing -- they were not a
5 low-performing company -- but were not performing as 6 well as their peers, in comparison to how they were 7 paying their senior executives of the organization.

8 We looked at several different factors in coming up
9 with that evaluation. We looked at operating income.
10 We looked at operating margin. We looked at growth in 11 membership, and subsequently we looked at growth in 12 earnings. So that was our second finding.

13 Another reason a company might choose or needs to 14 pay above market with respect to its peers on a 15 pre-conversion basis would be that in fact it is 16 experiencing significant issues in attracting and 17 retaining executive talent. I believe that early on,
18 several years ago, I think Premera was building an 19 executive team. But in most recent years that we 20 studied, we did not find that Premera's executive 21 turnover -- talk about executive turnover, let's talk in 22 terms of people voluntarily leaving the organization to 23 go somewhere else, versus being asked to leave the 24 organization. We didn't find the internal Premera
25 officers was problematic. We didn't find that

1 connection.

2 Finally, we did look at the defined benefit and 3 defined supplemental executive retirement plans, which 4 are provided to selected Premera executive officers, in 5 addition to the qualified benefits. They are 6 significant in value; however, we found they are not 7 necessarily above market competitive practices.

8 Q. Mr. Nemerov, did you also look at change-in-control
9 benefits?

10 A. We did study the change-in-control benefits. And 11 the reason that we did is this is a very important part
12 of an executive compensation remuneration in corporate 13 America today. And we do know the conversion, in and of 14 itself, does not cause a change in control. The 15 policies are very clear it does not change in control.

16 But could there be damage triggered inadvertently or 17 in the absence of a conversion? Yes, absolutely. In as 18 such, these benefits have real value. And the goal of 19 change-in-control -- as I think Mr. Callan has said in 20 his earlier testimony -- is to ensure that the 21 executives act in the best interest of the organization,
22 in case there is an offer to buy the company, and not be 23 worried about their employment long term. So it 24 provides a severance benefit to the executives to ensure 25 that they don't act out of accord with what perhaps

1 the majority of people might have.

2 And also the change-of-control benefits also assure
3 during this transaction there is reasonable retention of 4 executives. But the fact is, these benefits do have 5 significant value.

6 Q. Did PricewaterhouseCoopers attempt to estimate the 7 value of the change-in-control benefits?

8 A. Yes, we did.

9 Q. At this point, I am going to ask you what the value
10 was, but I would rather -- I don't believe it is 11 necessarily something that is for public consumption.

12 So what I would like to ask you to do, instead of 13 answering my question, would you -- I believe, if you
14 have got a note there, if you can tell the Commissioner
15 where the evaluation may be located among the materials
16 that you have submitted to the Commissioner for his 17 review, rather than stating it out loud.

18 A. Okay. In our first report, S-27, on page 26, we 19 have a variety of evaluation of the change-of-control 20 benefits to prove to the executive officers of 21 Premera -- this would include the CEO, the other
22 executive vice-presidents and the senior
23 vice-presidents.

24 Q. Do you make an assumption with respect to developing 25 that value about the executives staying or leaving?

1 A. Well, the value assumes, of course, this is what the 2 payment in aggregate would be if all executives were to 3 be terminated as a result of a change in control.

4 Q. Are there any other provisions relating to the 5 change-in-control benefits that should be brought to the 6 attention of the Commissioner?

7 A. Well, the only other -- I mean, we found overall
8 that -- when we add it all up, that for a private 9 company on the pre-conversion basis that the benefits
10 are very -- at market to above market.

11 There is also a provision in there that was talked
12 about several days ago with Mr. Furniss where the CEO
13 and the EVPs have what we call the walkaway right.
14 Where, within one year after change in control, where 15 they had been taken over by another company, they can 16 leave at their own volition and not have to be 17 constructively terminated to receive a change-in-control
18 benefit. The benefit is reduced by 50 percent of what 19 they would normally receive, should they be 20 constructively dismissed and receive the benefit.

21 Q. Mr. Nemerov, if you would be kind enough to refer to 22 a notebook that's in front of you. I would like you to 23 turn to Exhibit S-75, please. Have you located it, sir?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Would you please identify it.

1 A. This is Premera Blue Cross, Change-in-Control
2 Provisions, Version, October 7th, 2002.

3 Q. Is this the most recent version?

4 A. This is the most recent version we have, yes.

5 Q. Was it provided to you by Premera?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Did you rely upon it in making your findings?

8 A. Yes.

9 MR. HAMJE: At this time the staff would
10 offer Exhibit S-75.

11 MR. KELLY: No objection.

12 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

13 THE COURT: Admitted.

14 Q. Mr. Nemerov, would you please summarize your 15 post-conversion findings.

16 A. Yeah. On a post-conversion basis, we are looking at 17 Premera versus a group of publicly-traded health
18 insurance companies, as well as the insurance companies
19 in Blue organizations.

20 On a post-conversion basis, Premera falls below the 21 median of the publicly-traded peer group, in terms of 22 total compensation, salary bonus and long-term
23 compensation. And the primary reason for that, of 24 course, is that the value of the equity incentives
25 provided to companies in the public peer group.

1 We found that for companies of similar size in the 2 insurance industry, in the health insurance industry,
3 Premera will still be -- will be a head above market.
4 And of course to other Blue organizations with the 5 inclusion of equity incentives, Premera would be well
6 above that peer group.

7 Q. Mr. Nemerov, are there any other executive 8 compensation issues remaining that you believe are 9 significant and should be noted with respect to this 10 proposed conversion?

11 A. There are two issues we identified. First, I will 12 say that with respect to the equity incentive plan and 13 the provisions contained within that plan and the plan
14 of stock grants that Premera estimated, we have come to 15 an agreement that we feel those provisions are all in 16 line with market standards.

17 There are two issues that remain. Issue number one
18 has to do with the long-term incentive plan. The issue
19 with the long-term incentive plan is that this is 20 probably -- between now and the time Premera converts,
21 one of the most important programs that -- of executive
22 compensation in that organization is the transition -- 23 or should they transition successfully from a public to 24 a private company.

25 We are concerned -- and it is a very meaningful

1 program. It is a program that, every year, the 2 executive gets an opportunity to earn compensation based
3 on performance against goals for over a three-year
4 period. It is a very common program to have in place in 5 a private company as a way to provide, in lieu of stock
6 compensation, long-term incentives to senior management
7 teams. It is a very important program and very -- part
8 of the competitive compensation structure.

9 Our concerns with the long-term incentive plan
10 relate to goal setting that has occurred with respect to 11 triggering award pay-outs, in that the plan is funded 12 based on the profitability of the company, which is 13 logical in a private situation as it is today. However, 14 we are concerned that the minimum goals that we set to 15 fund the plan are below what we typically see for a plan
16 of this nature.

17 The second issue we have with this program is that 18 it has got a very unusual provision in it that allows
19 the participants in the program to have their incentive
20 pay-out grow, commensurate with their salary increase,
21 over the period of time from which the award is 22 initially granted, to that which when it is finally 23 determined. That is very unusual.

24 Normally, you will have a program that says you will 25 have an opportunity to earn a certain amount of money if

1 you achieve these goals, and that's the beginning, the 2 middle, and the end of the conversation. And the award
3 might vary, certainly, based on performance, but that is 4 it.

5 This program, actually your opportunity grows after 6 you received the opportunity based on your salary
7 growth, and we find that very unusual. And coupled with 8 the low minimum that's established for funding the 9 awards, it is a little bit of a double whammy. We have 10 some concern with the design of the program.

11 When we looked at other companies in the industry --
12 particularly in a post-conversion basis, that have these 13 kinds of programs -- and they aren't common in the 14 public arena, less -- very few of the peer group in the 15 public companies maintain these programs -- they 16 maintain very rigorous standards for awarding payoffs
17 over a long-term incentive plan. Most of them use our 18 earnings per share growth, something to ensure there is 19 an alignment between payoffs under this program and what 20 will accrue to shareholders and other important
21 constituents of the company.

22 Q. Mr. Nemerov, did you have any other issues that you
23 wanted to bring to the attention of the Commissioner
24 with respect to executive compensation?

25 A. The other issue we would raise -- and this is more

1 of an observation -- that, historically, Premera has 2 provided salary increases to their executives, in our 3 assessment, is above-the-market norm. It might have 4 been prudent in a pre-conversion private setting to 5 attract and maintain the kind of talent they need.

6 We note that all of Premera's executive compensation
7 programs are driven by salaries. And to the extent that 8 salary growth in the future continues at the rate it has 9 occurred in the past, that you will be increasing the 10 cost of a lot of other programs post-conversion,
11 including the non-qualified benefit programs, as well as 12 the change-in-control. The value of the 13 change-in-control payment will go up as a result of 14 salary growth.

15 So we have noted that there is some risk
16 prospectively, that if salary growth for the senior 17 people in the organization continues at that level, we 18 could have significant growth in non-performance based 19 compensation post-conversion, to a very significant 20 extent.

21 Q. Do you have any recommendations to resolve or 22 mitigate the issues relating to the long-term incentive
23 plan?

24 A. Our suggestion on the long-term incentive plan is 25 two-fold. We would suggest, number one, that Premera

1 eliminate the provision that allows the amount of the 2 executives' pay-outs to grow based on salary to stop
3 prospectively.

4 So when opportunities to earn incentives is made,
5 the opportunity to earn incentives is calculated based 6 on what was granted as of the grant date and not at the 7 award date. That would eliminate some upside pay-out
8 that has nothing to do with the performance of the 9 organization during the performance period.

10 The second recommendation we have is, absent some 11 agreement as to what a reasonable minimum performance 12 level is for funding incentives, we would suggest that,
13 during the restriction period, that perhaps Premera
14 adopt a provision that would provide that a minimum
15 shareholder return occur during this time period prior 16 to triggering pay-outs.

17 Our logic for that would be, of all the programs
18 Premera has for its executives, the long-term incentive
19 plan is the one that's the closest to -- we should align 20 with shareholder value, and align salaries and annual 21 incentives or benefits. And this would assure that 22 pay-outs that would occur under the long-term incentive
23 plan would have some alignment during restriction
24 period, post restriction period, to the shareholders.

25 Q. Mr. Nemerov, do you have any recommendations on how

1 to resolve or mitigate the issue related to
2 officer-based salary growth?

3 A. Our suggestion there is that -- we aren't suggesting
4 that the other programs that are currently being placed,
5 the opportunities or the benefits being provided be 6 reviewed. We are suggesting to facilitate, if you
7 would, a shift to more performance-based compensation,
8 that Premera adopt a provision or consider that they 9 will reduce the growth of salaries for their executive 10 officers to levels commensurate of their peers and not 11 above their peers. And that would dampen, if you would,
12 growth in these other programs and allow Premera to 13 focus increased compensation opportunities on incentive
14 pay.

15 We would note that in the proposed conversion
16 Premera has proposed increasing the opportunity that 17 they would provide under the current long-term incentive
18 plan, that of course post-conversion they will get a new 19 opportunity that they don't have today, which is of 20 course the stock compensation, that they currently do
21 not have, which is very significant.

22 Q. Do you have any final conclusions?

23 A. We think that many of the things that -- we have 24 been through a lot of discussions with Premera, that 25 many of the issues we may have initially had have been

1 resolved. And they have been responsive in a number of 2 areas with respect to the equity incentive plan -- it
3 satisfies us -- we believe are within the range of 4 market standard.

5 We think that the two recommendations we have only 6 serve to strengthen the compensation for executives at 7 Premera, and we think a more rigorous and 8 shareholder-linked, long-term incentive plan would be 9 good for the shareholders, and it will be good for the 10 organization, it will drive -- it will focus on 11 performance. And we think that a moderation of 12 base-salary growth will accelerate the shift to more
13 performance-based pay as Premera moves through the 14 conversion process and then ultimately is a public
15 company.

16 Q. Did you have any further comments for the 17 Commissioner at this time?

18 A. No, I do not.

19 MR. HAMJE: At this time I pass the witness.
20

21 CROSS-EXAMINATION

22 BY MR. KELLY:

23 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Nemerov. I had some questions I
24 wanted to get to, but first let me ask you questions
25 following your outline here.

1 Now, you, yourself, did not do your evaluation of 2 the benefits program; is that correct?

3 A. You mean, me personally?

4 Q. Right, you used someone from Saratoga Springs or 5 something like that. What is it called? The company
6 that PwC -- Saratoga --

7 A. Saratoga did the analysis for executive turnover.

8 Q. Okay. So you had someone else in your office do the 9 analysis of the benefits program?

10 A. Yes. That was performed by retirement actuaries
11 within the Chicago office of PricewaterhouseCoopers.

12 Q. Do you recall that Mr. Furniss in his testimony or 13 his report indicated that he turned to those 14 counterparts in his office to review the compensation
15 benefits programs?

16 A. My understanding was he relied on Watson Wyatt to do
17 the benefit valuation.

18 Q. Watson Wyatt had already done a benefit valuation as 19 an outside consultant of Premera; is that correct?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And Watson Wyatt is a well-known benefits and 22 executive comp firm; is that correct?

23 A. Absolutely.

24 Q. Okay. And did he not say that, in addition to that,
25 he turned to his own counterpart on the benefits side at

1 Towers Perrin to look at what had been done by Watson
2 Wyatt?

3 A. I don't recall that he had someone in his office do
4 that.

5 Q. Now, let's turn for a minute to the issue of 6 change-in-control benefits. So these are the benefits
7 that are calculated when -- if there is a
8 change-in-control, another company comes in and takes 9 over and doesn't want to have these executives anymore,
10 and they lose their jobs. Then they get a payment
11 for -- based on their salary, and they also get a
12 payment based on their benefits; is that correct?

13 A. The parts that are included in the calculation will 14 be the individual salary, their annual long-term
15 incentives, and their supplemental benefits.

16 Q. When you say the benefits that these executives have 17 now are at market, you were referring to that they are 18 at the median; is that correct?

19 A. They are in that range of the market, yes.

20 Q. Now, you also ask -- were asked about the walkaway
21 rights. Another way to look at that is the stay-on duty
22 or right. Would you agree with me?

23 A. Explain that.

24 Q. Well, would you agree that one of the benefits of 25 that walkaway provision for the company is that it may

1 encourage the executives not to abandon ship immediately
2 when someone else takes over, but to continue in the job
3 for up to a year to provide a transition so the company
4 continues to perform and progress.

5 A. That can be one benefit of the walkaway right, yes.

6 Q. Because, otherwise, if the individual thinks he or 7 she doesn't have much future in the new company, then
8 they may just start looking for a job, isn't that true?

9 A. Other than -- absent the walkaway right, the genesis
10 of the walkaway right, where it is most commonly 11 applied, is for the CEO position. The logic of that is 12 that there can't be two CEOs.

13 Q. Let me ask you this, would you happen to be present
14 when Heyward Donigan testified?

15 A. Unfortunately, I missed a portion of that testimony.

16 Q. Did you happen to see Brian Ancell when he was 17 testifying?

18 A. I didn't see him either.

19 Q. Did you see Mr. Marquardt testify?

20 A. I saw bits and pieces of his as well.

21 Q. Do you think it might benefit a company to be able 22 to retain people like Ms. Donigan, Mr. Ancell, and 23 Mr. Marquardt, even though they aren't the CEO, if and 24 when a company is taken over so the company can continue
25 to function?

1 A. Yes. But I am not sure how that relates to the 2 walkaway right though.

3 Q. Well, if they don't have a walkaway right, there is 4 no reason for them to hang around for a year, is there?

5 A. It is a job.

6 Q. Well, I guess if you think that life is just a job,
7 that is certainly the case.

8 A. Well, it is a job, and if they are still senior 9 executives in the new organization, in all likelihood,
10 they are receiving new benefits as a senior member of 11 the new organization.

12 Q. Now, the concern you had about the fixing of an 13 incentive pay, that is something that would be discussed
14 for -- it would be proposed for post-conversions, is 15 that what you are saying?

16 A. Which piece?

17 Q. Well, let's see. You were saying that -- for the 18 long-term incentive plan you were concerned about how it
19 was actually calculated, what the base was, and that you
20 thought it should be fixed at the beginning of the 21 award? Do I have that right?

22 A. That is correct.

23 Q. Okay. And your proposal is that for any new,
24 long-term incentive plan after conversion, that there
25 should be a -- that the approach that should be taken

1 would be to fix the award at the beginning of the plan?

2 A. I would suggest at the earliest possible date that 3 that be fixed. If that's post-conversion, then that 4 would be the earliest possible date.

5 Q. These long-term incentive plans are called long-term
6 because they are three-year plans; is that correct?

7 A. That's correct.

8 Q. Now, you did talk about, in addition to 9 shareholders, other important constituents. Did you
10 have the members in mind there as possible important 11 constituents, in terms of making sure that the 12 executives are doing things that are good for 13 constituents?

14 A. Members are an important constituent.

15 Q. And then I will get a little bit more into salary
16 increases. But what you are saying is that historically
17 the Premera executives have -- for over the last couple 18 of years -- gotten higher than average increases in 19 their salaries; is that correct?

20 A. That is correct.

21 Q. And you understand that the rationale was to bring 22 them up to median; is that correct?

23 A. Up to a -- what the board and committee felt was 24 where they had to be in the marketplace.

25 Q. Okay. So there is no particular reason for you to

1 think -- or anyone to think -- that whatever trend had 2 existed to get them up to market, was now going to 3 continue on after they reached market; isn't that true?

4 A. That would be speculative.

5 Q. Well, you certainly -- if you were con -- being a
6 compensation consultant to the Premera compensation
7 committee, would say to them, look, it made sense to 8 bring them up to market because they have been underpaid
9 in the past, but that's not going to be a trend for the 10 future. Isn't that the first thing you would say to 11 them?

12 A. That would be one of the first, yes.

13 Q. Okay. Now, one other thing, just to be clear as we 14 get into more detail in cross-examination, your 15 suggestion on the LTIP and connecting it to some sort of 16 minimum share performance, I believe the word you used
17 was "during the restriction period;" is that correct?

18 A. I believe so.

19 Q. And the restriction period that you are referring to 20 is the 12 months during which Premera has agreed that 21 none of its executives will be able to obtain any stock
22 options; isn't that correct?

23 A. That is correct.

24 Q. But long-term incentive plans are three-year plans.
25 So this restriction -- the LTIP for one year would not

1 work for a three-year plan situation, would it?

2 A. That wasn't what I was saying.

3 Q. If you would just answer my question. An LTIP -- a
4 restriction or a connection to minimum share performance
5 for one year would not work for a three-year plan, would 6 it?

7 A. I didn't say that though.

8 Q. I know you didn't say it. I am asking you what the 9 situation is. And LTIP, with a minimum share
10 performance requirement for -- would not work for a
11 three-year plan, when you have a one-year restriction
12 period; isn't that true?

13 A. That is true, but that's not what I said.

14 Q. I know you didn't say that. I said it, and I asked
15 you if it was true, and you told us it was true. Okay?
16 Okay. I would like to ask you a few questions about the 17 peer groups.

18 You do agree that the relevant labor market for 19 executives should be other companies that a company can 20 recruit from or could lose talent to, do you not?

21 A. That should be part of the labor market.

22 Q. And, now, you never interviewed any of the 23 executives at Premera, did you?

24 A. That's true.

25 Q. So do you know where those executives came from

1 prior to their getting the job at Premera?

2 A. We have their work history.

3 Q. Okay. Well, where did Mr. Barlow come from?

4 A. I can't recall each one. But I know that some came 5 from other companies, east coast, west coast, public,
6 private.

7 Q. In fact, Mr. Barlow came from a public company;
8 isn't that true?

9 A. Right, I believe so.

10 Q. Ms. Donigan, do you remember where she came from?

11 A. I believe she came from Empire.

12 Q. New York City?

13 A. Right.

14 Q. Okay. And she was with a public company; is that
15 correct?

16 A. I think she had been with both public and private 17 companies.

18 Q. Mr. Marquardt, where did he come from?

19 A. I can't recall where Mr. Marquardt came from.

20 Q. If I told you it was a public company, would you 21 accept that?

22 A. If you told me the name of the company.

23 Q. Now, let me ask you this. Does it not appear that 24 Premera, in seeking qualified people to run the company
25 and to improve it, have reached out to not just Blues,

1 but to health insurance executives, across the country,
2 in both private and public companies?

3 A. That's true.

4 Q. Okay. And Mr. Furniss says that that's the way it
5 ought to be and that is appropriate then to see what
6 other public and private companies will do to pay
7 compensation. Is that a fair statement of what he said?

8 A. I believe that is his perspective.

9 Q. Okay. Now, as you said, you and Mr. Furniss do have 10 a number of points in agreement, do you not?

11 A. That's true.

12 Q. Although, I guess you are concerned about the 13 percentage increases in base salary, you agree that the 14 base salary for all of the Premera executives is 15 currently reasonably competitive; isn't that true?

16 A. If I recall, their salaries were in the range of 17 market competitiveness.

18 Q. Well, but didn't you use on page nine of your 19 February 2004 report the phrase, quote, "Currently 20 reasonably competitive," end quote when describing base
21 salaries for these executives?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Thank you. And you understand that Premera's 24 philosophy of its compensation committee is to aim for 25 the median, unless there is a good reason to go above

1 the median?

2 A. That is my understanding.

3 Q. As a matter of fact, you testified at your 4 deposition that you were, quote, "In accord with that,"
5 end quote; isn't that true?

6 A. I don't recall those exact words, but I will take 7 your word for it.

8 Q. If you doubt it I would be happy to show you --

9 A. That's fine.

10 Q. Now, in regard to pre-conversion compensation
11 benefits, when compared to other health insurance
12 companies, both public and private, your conclusion was 13 that Premera was more at market; isn't that true?

14 A. The executive benefits?

15 Q. On the executive benefits, yes.

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And I think you testified earlier -- but just to 18 make sure I heard it right -- that compared to peer 19 groups for post-conversion, Premera is, quote, "At or 20 below market in terms of its benefits;" isn't that true?

21 A. I don't think I said that in terms of benefits.

22 Q. Okay. Well, let me check.

23 A. Yeah.

24 Q. I forgot to look at the context of it. I think 25 that's what you said, but let's see. I guess we will

1 need to publish your March 8th deposition.

2 MR. KELLY: Do you do the opening?

3 THE COURT: I just rip it.

4 MR. KELLY: Do you have a copy?

5 THE WITNESS: Not up here with me, no.

6 Q. Do you want to take a look at -- I think you
7 probably want to start at page 105 and then go over to 8 page 106.

9 THE COURT: Do you have another copy just in 10 case there is an issue? Ask a non-controversial
11 question and there won't be an issue.

12 MR. KELLY: I think we may. I am happy to 13 hand mine up.

14 THE COURT: You can try it, and if there is 15 an objection --

16 MR. HAMJE: We are trying to locate it. We 17 think we have a copy if you give us just one moment.

18 THE WITNESS: I do have one, it is just not 19 right here.

20 BY MR. KELLY:

21 Q. That's fine. Why don't you -- while we are 22 waiting -- spend your time reading on 105 and then over
23 to 106. I want to ask you at the bottom of 106. Spend 24 a moment and read through it.

25 A. Okay.

1 MR. KELLY: John, do you want me to wait
2 until you get your copy? We can do that, that's fine.

3 MR. HAMJE: I have it. I have a copy right
4 now that I can share with you.

5 THE COURT: Thank you. Go ahead when you
6 are ready.

7 BY MR. KELLY:

8 Q. Have you had a chance to read through pages 105 and 9 106?

10 A. Yes. I have read through it.

11 Q. And was that -- was the questioning there not -- was 12 it in the context of compensation benefits, which were 13 based upon base salaries, and then would go up or down
14 depending on what the base salary would be?

15 A. There was discussion of base salaries.

16 Q. All right. And then at the bottom of the page 17 didn't I ask you about other compensation related to 18 base salaries?

19 A. On page 105.

20 Q. The bottom of page 105.

21 A. Right.

22 Q. And then didn't I ask you in the middle of page 106,
23 at line 9 and 10, asking you about the executive 24 compensation and benefits programs that Premera has?

25 A. Right.

1 Q. And then didn't I ask you -- at the bottom of 2 page -- of 106, lines 21 -- "Compared to Premera peer
3 group that's contemplated in Exhibit 8, they would 4 certainly be at or below market; isn't that true?
5 Answer, "That is correct."

6 A. I was responding -- as I read that -- we were 7 talking about their direct compensation, was my 8 understanding of the question.

9 Q. Okay.

10 A. Yeah, not the benefits. That was my understanding
11 of the question as I read this.

12 Q. Now, let me ask you this, the purpose of a peer 13 group is to make competitive adjustment to compensation;
14 isn't that true?

15 A. It is one reference point, yes.

16 Q. Isn't that one of the reference points that you
17 testified to at page 107 of your dep?

18 A. A peer group is important.

19 Q. And you do point out the impact of base salary on 20 benefits to all of your clients, do you not?

21 A. That's true.

22 Q. Okay. And what your point is -- a pretty obvious
23 one, I think -- is that if benefits are linked to base
24 salary, if base salary goes up, there is going to be an 25 impact on benefits; is that true?

1 A. That is correct.

2 Q. And you have no reason to believe, by the way, that
3 the -- Premera's compensation committee would not
4 understand that point?

5 A. I have no reason to believe they would not
6 understand that point.

7 Q. And you have every reason to believe that they take 8 it into account even now when they are saying, well, if 9 we are going to give an increase in salary, it is also 10 going to have a bump on benefits?

11 A. That, I have no insight to.

12 Q. And you have no insight, in part, because you never 13 interviewed anyone from the compensation committee;
14 isn't that true?

15 A. That is true.

16 Q. Now, were you here this morning when Mr. Martin
17 Alderson-Smith testified?

18 A. No, I was not.

19 Q. And -- well, let me ask you this. If he testified
20 that he had no hesitation that the board of Premera will 21 follow its best practices right from the beginning,
22 would you say that that also -- that his testimony also 23 comports with your view of what Premera's board will do?

24 A. I would have no perspective to believe that they 25 would not act in the best interest of the organization.

1 Q. Okay. Now, let's move on to another aspect of the 2 current plan, the annual bonus plan. This is a bonus
3 that is designed to get executives to hopefully work
4 hard for the shorter-term objectives of the company; is
5 that correct?

6 A. This is the -- are we on the annual incentive plan?

7 Q. Yeah. Right. Is that the purpose of it?

8 A. Focus on the performance for that year.

9 Q. And your description of that, or review of it, was 10 that it was, quote, "a fairly typical plan;" is that
11 correct?

12 A. I thought it was -- I don't recall that with respect
13 to --

14 Q. Annual form?

15 A. Where do you see that?

16 Q. Well, I think you said it at page 168 of your March 17 deposition. Do you agree with that point, in any event?

18 A. The annual incentive plan?

19 Q. The current annual incentive plan is a fairly
20 typical plan?

21 A. In other words, it is structured in a fairly typical 22 fashion.

23 Q. Okay. Now, let's talk for a minute -- I am trying 24 to work my way through the various components of the 25 plan -- of the compensation. Let's talk about long-term

1 incentive plan. The way the long-term incentive plan
2 currently at Premera works is you have a financial goal,
3 which forms the basis of the plan, which is based upon
4 operating income; is that correct?

5 A. That is correct.

6 Q. Okay. And then the -- in order to -- there is a
7 target that is set; is that correct?

8 A. For the three years, yes.

9 Q. And if you reach the target, then you are able to 10 get 100 percent of the financial component of the plan;
11 is that correct?

12 A. You get a hundred percent of your award.

13 Q. Of the award. Well, isn't there a caveat on that,
14 that you have the potential to get a hundred percent of 15 your award, but that award can be reduced if, even 16 though you made the operating income target, you did not 17 make the other performance targets, such as customer
18 satisfaction, membership growth, or whatever else is set
19 as a non-financial objective?

20 A. My understanding of the plan in reading the document 21 is your award can go up or down based on achievement of 22 those goals.

23 Q. But the point is that if you -- merely because you
24 make the financial target, you still have to go through 25 an additional hoop of making or trying to make the

1 non-financial targets as well; isn't that true?

2 A. You have another component to your compensation
3 plan.

4 Q. Not just -- let's talk about this. Some companies
5 have a financial component to their long-term plan,
6 where if you hit target you get that much -- you get an 7 award; is that true?

8 A. Are we on the long-term or the annual plan?

9 Q. Long term. Yeah.

10 A. You are done with the annual?

11 Q. It is a fairly typical plan, isn't it?

12 A. The long-term plan?

13 Q. No, the annual plan.

14 MR. HAMJE: Objection, asked and answered.

15 Q. There isn't that much more to ask about it, is 16 there?

17 A. Okay.

18 Q. What I am trying to ask you, is there not two 19 different types -- or approaches at least -- of 20 long-term compensation plans. In one of them, you have 21 a linkage between financial component and non-financial 22 performance, in the other, they are separate. If you
23 hit your operating income target, you get some money.
24 If you hit your membership, you get some money. The two 25 are not linked whatsoever?

1 A. There are a number of variations to long-term
2 incentives.

3 Q. But in this one, Premera links -- not only have to 4 make your operating income, but if you really want to 5 get the full potential out of that operating income
6 award, you also have to do well on financial -- on 7 non-financial measures; isn't that true?

8 A. There are non-financial goals set as part of the 9 plan.

10 Q. Well, I understand they are goals, but they are 11 goals with implications, are they not? It means, if you
12 don't meet the goal, you get less money.

13 A. Or more.

14 Q. You say more, and that's contested; isn't that true?

15 A. I am going by the plan document.

16 Q. As you understand the plan document?

17 A. As literally written.

18 Q. Well, I am not going to debate with you how it is 19 written, we will see how that ultimately comes out.

20 A. Right.

21 Q. But let's talk about that. You don't have any 22 problem with the fact that if a person meets their 23 financial goals, and then also does even better than 24 they had to in terms of customer satisfaction, if your 25 interpretation of the plan is correct, that they get an

1 additional award for that, do you?

2 A. I don't have an issue with it. It is not -- it is 3 more atypical.

4 Q. Okay. So -- and would you not agree with me that 5 when Premera links -- not only the financial 6 performance, but also requiring a non-financial 7 performance -- that that is a more conservative plan,
8 because you have to perform more in order to get the 9 money?

10 A. That answer would depend on evaluation of the 11 difficulty of the goals.

12 Q. We will talk about that in a little bit. Now, you
13 do agree that non-financial performance measures are 14 factors that should be considered in executive 15 compensation plans, do you not?

16 A. I believe they have a place in the executive 17 compensation, yes.

18 Q. Okay. But when you testified under oath last time, 19 you said that they should be considered, did you not?

20 A. Absolutely.

21 Q. Okay. In fact, you put it pretty well, didn't you,
22 when you said, "If you don't have members or customers,
23 you are in trouble;" is that correct? Do you remember
24 saying that?

25 A. Yes.

1 Q. And then I said, "If you are in trouble, your stock
2 is in trouble." Do you remember what you said in 3 response to that?

4 A. I don't recall, but I remember that conversation.

5 Q. You said, "Right," didn't you?

6 A. I believe so. I am sure I did.

7 Q. Let's turn for a minute to the stock grant. I think
8 you have already indicated that the stock grant program
9 or the equity compensation plan, you believe, is 10 appropriate; is that correct?

11 A. (Witness nods head.)

12 Q. This is post-conversion.

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And you have no difficulty -- you have been talking
15 mostly about executives, but in your report you also 16 agreed that the stock option program for directors was 17 also at the median; isn't that correct?

18 A. That is correct.

19 Q. Could you take a look for a minute at S-29, that's 20 your February 27th, 2004, report, and if you could take 21 a look at page two. And do you have that in front of 22 you there?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. And under, "Overall Conclusions," you indicated that 25 the changes -- I think as you testified -- "...represent

1 significant and positive progress..." and "...are more
2 aligned to the interests of shareholders and address
3 many of the concerns raised by..." you "...and other..."
4 people; is that correct?

5 A. It is right here.

6 Q. Right. Okay. And sorry to jump around like this,
7 but if you could turn for a minute to S-58, which is 8 your responsive prefiled testimony. Do you have that in 9 front of you there?

10 MR. HAMJE: Again, this was one where we 11 had -- there are -- we provided it, as we had initially 12 agreed, that we would provide the first page of each of 13 these documents. We had already provided, I think,
14 bench copies for everyone.

15 MS. SUREAU: We figured it out, John.

16 JUDGE FINKLE: It is not your fault.

17 MR. KELLY: Do we all have it?

18 THE COURT: Not quite.

19 MR. HAMJE: Prefiled responsive testimony.

20 THE COURT: Okay, we are with you.

21 MR. KELLY: Very good.

22 BY MR. KELLY:

23 Q. Now, I just wanted to draw your attention,
24 Mr. Nemerov, to paragraph two, and these are the -- this 25 is what I guess you would call your firm's point of view

1 about executive compensation; is that correct?

2 A. That is correct.

3 Q. And you enumerate actually, or your firm does, four 4 factors to consider for executive compensation. One is 5 align with a company's business strategy. Two,
6 competitive as-needed to attract and retain leadership.
7 Three, primarily performance-based, but doing so without 8 hampering the company's ability to retract and attain
9 executives. And four, to have an independent
10 compensation committee that oversees the design and 11 administration of programs that ensure that shareholders
12 and other key stakeholders are represented. Is that a 13 fair summary of your firm's point of view?

14 A. That is correct.

15 Q. And it is fair to say that that is just about the 16 same as the point of view presented to us by Mr. Furniss
17 at Towers Perrin; isn't that true?

18 A. I am not sure he had a firm point of view that I
19 recall.

20 Q. But those are the very principles that he repeatedly 21 talked about in his reports, and in his prefiled, and in 22 his actual live testimony; isn't that true?

23 A. To some extent, yes. I don't recall exactly.

24 Q. We will get to that probably in a few minutes. But 25 let me ask you -- you raised a concern about officer --

1 not a concern about officer turnover. I guess your 2 point now is that there doesn't appear to be any current 3 problem or recent problem with officer turnover, and 4 therefore, that wouldn't be a justification for raising
5 salaries? Is that -- do I have that right?

6 A. I don't know if I went right -- to that way, said
7 those words, did I?

8 Q. I am not comporting to precisely repeat your words,
9 sir. Why don't you tell us what your point was about 10 officer turnover at Premera.

11 A. The points that I stated was that it has not been an 12 issue in recent years.

13 Q. Uh-huh.

14 A. That was point one.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. Point two, as I said earlier, excessive and unwanted
17 officer turnover might lead an organization or Premera
18 to be a higher payer in the marketplace.

19 Q. All right. Okay. But the -- now, there have been 20 some significant changes in Premera's leadership, in 21 fact, the CEO left just a few years ago; is that
22 correct?

23 A. I believe so.

24 Q. Okay. And when you were originally talking about 25 officer turnover, it was in the context of would there

1 be an additional benefit to a conversion if there was
2 the added benefit of having stock options to eliminate
3 or reduce the likelihood or possibility of officer
4 turnover; isn't that correct?

5 A. Way back, the officer retention was an issue that 6 was raised sometime back, that this would be a benefit
7 -- on the part of Premera or somebody presenting to 8 Premera, that this would be a benefit to improving
9 officer retention, the availability of stock
10 compensation.

11 Q. Right. And we went through a long discussion, and 12 it turned out that was your interpretation of what had 13 happened, it wasn't really what Premera was moving for 14 in this case; isn't that true?

15 A. There was a discussion on it.

16 Q. It is over and done?

17 A. Over and done.

18 Q. Very good. Now, if you will bear with me, if you
19 would turn to report P-52, if you have that, that's 20 Mr. Furniss's second report?

21 A. P?

22 MR. HAMJE: I don't think he has P-52. If 23 you don't, we will get you a copy.

24 MR. KELLY: We will also need P-53 while we 25 are at it.

1 MR. HAMJE: May I approach the witness?

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 Q. Okay. Now, P-52 is Mr. Furniss's second report and 4 that addresses, does it not, each of the issues that you
5 had raised in your February report?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Okay.

8 A. Response to that, yes.

9 Q. So if the Commissioner and staff are looking at your 10 other reports, that would be the correlation back to.

11 A. It is correspondence to my February 27th report.

12 Q. Right. And then P-53, which is Mr. Furniss's
13 responsive testimony, addresses your March corrections
14 report; is that correct?

15 A. I believe that's the sequence, yes.

16 MR. KELLY: Okay. That's all I have on 17 that.

18 THE COURT: How much longer do you expect to 19 be?

20 MR. KELLY: I would think probably about
21 another 15 minutes.

22 THE COURT: Let's take a break.

23 MR. KELLY: Okay.

24 (Afternoon recess.)

25 THE COURT: Please continue.

1 MR. KELLY: Okay. Thank you.

2 BY MR. KELLY:

3 Q. Mr. Nemerov, I have just three areas I would like to 4 cover -- hopefully, pretty quickly -- with you. First 5 is in regard to some concern that you raised about the 6 Premera's financial performance. You were saying
7 because of your view that it wasn't particularly good,
8 that you did not think that Premera's pre-conversion
9 compensation was necessarily justified. Is that a fair
10 summary of what your thinking is there?

11 A. Yes. And what I said was their pay versus the Blue 12 companies was higher than -- on an relative basis than 13 their performance, versus that same group.

14 Q. You collected a bunch of information from the AM
15 Best Key Rating data file and base and from regulatory 16 files; is that correct?

17 A. That is correct.

18 Q. Now, let's talk about Premera's performance over the 19 last couple of years. Are you aware of what its current 20 RVC level has gone from -- say, going back from 1997 or 21 so -- to current?

22 A. No, I am not.

23 Q. Would you be surprised if it has improved in that 24 time period?

25 A. I haven't reviewed it.

1 Q. Okay. Were you present when Mr. Koplovitz
2 testified -- I guess it was yesterday or Monday?

3 A. Parts of it.

4 Q. Do you remember him saying he thought Premera was a
5 strategic, forward-thinking company, well-positioned to 6 do successful -- to do a successful IPO?

7 A. If he said that, then he said that.

8 Q. Doesn't that translate to you into a well-performing 9 company in his testimony?

10 A. I am not -- I don't know if I would make that 11 connection, but he said strategic -- repeat that.

12 Q. If it is a poorly-performing company, as you would 13 have us believe, why in the world would it be successful
14 in an IPO, and why would an investment banker say it
15 would be successful?

16 A. I didn't say they were poorly performing.

17 Q. Didn't Mr. Koplovitz indicate that they were 18 actually performing quite well in terms of operating 19 income efforts?

20 A. They have been improving, yes.

21 Q. Now, were you aware of the serious problems that 22 Premera faced in the mid to late-1990s?

23 A. I have heard of those issues, yes.

24 Q. Were you aware that the financial condition had 25 deteriorated in 1997 to the point where the OIC, such as

1 Deputy Commissioner Odiorne asked Premera's senior
2 management to personally appear at the office and
3 explain what they planned to do with their financial 4 position?

5 A. I am not aware of that specific event.

6 Q. Okay. Well, assuming it occurred, would you agree
7 with me that there has been a real turnaround in that 8 company over the past several years?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Doesn't that turnaround indicate to you substantial
11 improvements in performance of the company?

12 A. The company's performance has improved over the 13 years we have studied.

14 Q. Now, starting in 1998, what was the operating income
15 of Premera?

16 A. I don't have those notes in front of me.

17 Q. Okay. Well, let me see if you agree if I may 18 approach the -- if I speak loud will that be okay?

19 THE COURT: You might take a Lavalier just 20 to help the folks in the back.

21 MR. KELLY: Okay.

22 Q. Well, was it a positive or negative operating income
23 in 1998?

24 A. I don't recall.

25 Q. Okay.

1 A. If you tell me --

2 Q. Would you agree that it was negative 21.9 million
3 dollars?

4 MR. HAMJE: Excuse me, I think there is
5 something wrong with the microphone.

6 THE COURT: If you move it up a bit it might 7 work better.

8 Q. Do you agree with me it was negative 21.9 million
9 dollars?

10 A. I accept that if that's what you are putting down.

11 Q. Well, for 1999 -- you were the one who made a 12 comparison study.

13 A. Right.

14 Q. Based upon some data; is that correct?

15 A. Years 2000 through 2002.

16 Q. Okay. Is there any particular reason that you chose 17 those years as opposed to the earlier turnaround years?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Well, let's get to those in a minute. Let's just 20 put down for the record 1999, 13.4 million, does that 21 sound about right?

22 A. It sounds about right, yes.

23 Q. 2000, 13.7 million, does that sound about right?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. 2001, 27.9 million. Is that one of the figures you

1 were looking at?

2 A. Yes. Our numbers are a little different because of 3 the differences in reporting between AM Best and their 4 financial reporting.

5 Q. Aren't there substantial limitations on the depth
6 with which the AM Best established regulatory filings,
7 which I think you also used?

8 A. They are one source of data. They are accepted as 9 credible.

10 Q. If you had a better source, you certainly would have 11 followed it, wouldn't you?

12 A. I am sorry?

13 Q. If you had a better source, such as data from the 14 company itself, you would certainly want to utilize that 15 before you accuse the company of not performing well?

16 A. We used AM Best which had data on all companies.

17 Q. 2002, the figure was 35.6 million. Do you remember
18 that?

19 A. Okay.

20 Q. 48.4 million, is that about right?

21 A. Yeah.

22 Q. And you understand budget estimate was 58 million
23 for 2004.

24 A. I would have to see my notes, but that sounds about
25 right.

1 Q. Okay. Now, the three-year LTIP targets would 2 require us to add plus two years for each one of these 3 numbers; is that correct? In other words, it is 1998 to 4 2000, then 1999 to 2001 and so forth. Do you understand
5 what I am trying to describe?

6 A. You would add those together to come up with the 7 goal, if you would, for that three-year period.

8 Q. Instead of trying to write out three things, I am
9 going to use this for both the one-year operating 10 income, and then the LTIP target for that year and the 11 following two years. Does that make sense?

12 A. Sure.

13 Q. What was the LTIP target back in 1998 for this
14 company?

15 A. I don't have that number -- based on these numbers?

16 Q. Yes.

17 A. These are actual results, right?

18 Q. Right.

19 A. So I don't know what the target was.

20 Q. Okay. Why wouldn't you know --

21 A. I just have those numbers in front of me.

22 Q. Target was zero at that time since they were in the 23 red and wanted to reach at least zero?

24 A. Are we trying to reconstruct the goal for --

25 Q. I am actually trying to get the data on what the

1 actual LTIP targets are, because I think you have a
2 problem with those targets, don't you?

3 A. We had a problem with the minimums.

4 Q. Okay. Well, you first need to know what the targets
5 are in order to find the minimums; isn't that correct?

6 A. The minimums were set relative to target.

7 Q. I understand. Let's start with targets, and then if 8 you have data we can get to that as well. 1999, the 9 target was 40 million dollars; is that correct?

10 A. I believe that sounds correct, yes.

11 Q. And 2000, the target was 63 million dollars;
12 correct? 2001, 93 million; are both of those correct,
13 sir?

14 A. Sounds correct.

15 Q. Okay. Does it sound like 123 million was the target 16 for 2002, 153 million for 2003, and 212 million for 17 2004? Do those sound correct?

18 A. I haven't received '03 and '04 plans, so I don't 19 know.

20 Q. Okay. Now as I understand it, the minimum is 21 something like 80 percent of the target; is that right?

22 A. No, that is not right.

23 Q. Okay. Did you ever produce the actual targets in a 24 comparison such as I have just put up here, and/or the 25 minimums, in any of your papers?

1 A. We do have a comparison of our minimums and targets.

2 Q. You don't have it in any of the papers that you have
3 filed with the Commissioner; isn't that true?

4 A. Unless it was included in our deposition of March
5 5th, we submitted some analyses -- they were, I believe,
6 recorded as exhibits in that particular hearing.

7 Q. Now, doesn't this operating income actually reflect
8 a much higher percentage growth year-to-year than you
9 would have the Commissioner believe by looking at the 10 materials that you submitted when you were talking about 11 something like six percent to nine percent?

12 A. These are three years of growth, three years' worth
13 of numbers; right?

14 Q. These are operating income for each of those years,
15 and then LTIP targets for the corresponding three-year
16 periods.

17 A. Right. Yeah, we had different numbers that we used
18 for the years 2000 through 2002.

19 Q. Okay. Well, what were those numbers?

20 A. I would have to look at my report. They were -- I 21 believe in 2000 they were higher than that in terms of 22 actual results.

23 Q. Did you get these numbers from Premera?

24 A. We get them as reported from the AM Best. Why they 25 are --

1 Q. So you are using -- instead of going to Premera, who
2 you had available for you -- you chose to follow the AM
3 Best numbers for whatever reasons they were reported the 4 way they were?

5 A. Only to compare in a common reporting Premera to 6 other companies.

7 Q. Wouldn't you agree it would be better to go to the 8 direct source to find out what the actual operating 9 income numbers are to confirm it before you made an 10 accusation about Premera's performance?

11 A. Our purpose was to use a common database to compare
12 performance across a number of beliefs. It could very 13 well be other Blues had underreported results as well.

14 Q. It could be, but you don't know.

15 A. Right.

16 Q. All you know now is it is apparent that AM Best 17 numbers, at least your interpretation of them, compared 18 to the reality of what Premera's operating income is,
19 are very different?

20 A. Yeah. I would have to have the opportunities to 21 understand how those numbers reconcile.

22 Q. Okay. Well, you had months to ask Premera for its 23 operating income before you made your report, didn't 24 you?

25 A. Again, our purpose of using AM Best was to have a

1 common database to compare across all Blues.

2 Q. I understand that. But you started out with the 3 assumption of AM Best that Premera wasn't doing very 4 well, and these facts showed you just the opposite;
5 isn't that true?

6 A. We were --

7 Q. You can answer that question yes or no, sir.

8 A. Well, on a relative basis. That's the only 9 difference.

10 Q. Okay. Now, let's talk briefly about a minimum
11 shareholder return, which I think was one of the other 12 proposals that you raised for the LTIP for this one year
13 after conversion.

14 You don't have any data in regard to Premera's
15 peers that would indicate any minimum shareholder return
16 related to the LTIP for those peers; isn't that true?

17 A. Premera's peers primarily use growth and earnings
18 per share for their LTIPS.

19 Q. I understand. But that isn't the same as having a 20 minimum shareholder return, is it?

21 A. It is a different measure than earnings per share.

22 Q. Right. It indicates that there has been -- some 23 sort of improvement in the company; isn't that correct?

24 A. Both metrics could be accepted as that.

25 Q. So there is no particular reason why the

1 compensation committee should have the rigid requirement
2 that you would have of some minimum shareholder return,
3 rather than using their own best judgment for this
4 one-year period to see what would best and appropriately
5 motivate these executives to do a good job; isn't that
6 true?

7 A. Just to clarify one point, the shareholder return
8 metric would apply for a three-year period. So -- to 9 clarify the point, for the plans granted during the 10 restriction period, a minimum return metric would be 11 applied.

12 Q. So you would require that, even though they were no
13 longer getting cash for going over the stock options for 14 the future -- isn't that true -- or stock awards?

15 A. They will receive both awards, both the LTIP and 16 stock options. The LTIP is continuing.

17 Q. To get back to my question now that you have 18 explained your position.

19 A. Right.

20 Q. There is no reason to think that Premera's 21 compensation committee -- particularly when it has the 22 addition of the designated foundation member -- would 23 not be able to take into account your ideas, Towers
24 Perrins' ideas or anyone else's ideas, and make a 25 judgment as to how to best motivate these executives for

1 that one-year period; isn't that true?

2 A. We would clarify to -- shareholder return is not for 3 a one-year period, it is for the period of time in which 4 the plan was in operation.

5 Q. Even for that period of time, sir, there is no
6 reason to think that the compensation committee, armed 7 particularly with an additional member from the --
8 nominated by the Foundation shareholders, would not use
9 its good judgment, taking into account a variety of 10 measures, to determine what the best thing to do is for 11 that one LTIP plan that covers three years?

12 A. We would expect the committee to act intelligently.

13 Q. Okay. They would also have the benefit of having 14 outside consultants to talk to as well; isn't that
15 correct?

16 A. That is correct. The shareholder return -- again, 17 to repeat our rationale for that -- is that negates the 18 debate about goal setting, internally-set goals.

19 Q. I have taken too much time, let me just cover one
20 last point, if I may. That was your other proposal that 21 you wanted to limit base salary. Now, first of all, you 22 agree that the right way to decide salary is to 23 determine the right salary by looking at the salaries of 24 the peer group; isn't that true?

25 A. I would say the peer group of public companies, as

1 well as other survey databases of competitive companies
2 in the health insurance industry.

3 Q. And you would certainly agree, as you testified back
4 in March, it is not a common practice in ongoing
5 companies to have any such salary-based caps; isn't that
6 true?

7 A. It is implied versus explicit, yes.

8 Q. It is implied versus explicit? In other words, you
9 look to the judgment of the compensation committee to do
10 an appropriate control on salary increases? Is that 11 what you are saying?

12 A. That is correct.

13 Q. Thank you. Now, I think you agree that people
14 should be paid what they earn; is that correct?

15 A. I believe that was a statement in one of my 16 depositions.

17 Q. And none of the peer groups have a salary
18 limitation; isn't that true?

19 A. Other than that restriction under 162(m) if you want
20 to -- you are correct.

21 Q. Thank you. And you did not analyze the salary
22 growth for any of those Premera peer group members, did
23 you?

24 A. We relied on other survey sources within the 25 industry for that salary growth.

1 MR. KELLY: Very good. Thank you, sir. No
2 further questions.

3
4 CROSS-EXAMINATION

5 BY MS. HAMBURGER:

6 Q. Good afternoon. I just have one question. In doing
7 your work on this conversion, you didn't consider as 8 part of your report the role that the addition of equity
9 compensation may have played in the decision to convert?

10 A. We were not able to determine whether that was an 11 incentive to convert or not. I could not come to that 12 conclusion. Certainly, the opportunity to have a 13 benefit like that would, of course, be a very powerful
14 incentive to convert.

15 MS. HAMBURGER: Thank you.

16
17 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

18 BY MR. HAMJE.

19 Q. Mr. Nemerov, Mr. Kelly asked you some questions
20 about the long-term incentive plan, the three-year plan,
21 as it relates to the one-year restriction period. Do
22 you recall that line of questioning?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Would you clarify what you said about the long-term
25 incentive plan as it relates to the one-year restriction

1 period?

2 A. Yes. As I was saying, during the restriction
3 period, due to the fact that Premera executive officers
4 will not be receiving stock option awards for one year,
5 we feel it is prudent for the long-term incentive plan
6 during that time period to have some alignment to the 7 shareholders.

8 And we believe having a minimum return goal attached
9 to the long-term incentive plan that is started,
10 commencing with the conversion, would be an appropriate 11 way to link the executive officers of Premera with the 12 shareholders. They don't have -- absent that, they have 13 no one, other than prospectively post-restriction period
14 there is no link at all. So that's the primary reason 15 for that.

16 And secondarily, is -- as we phrased earlier -- our 17 concern with the goal setting -- this presents a very 18 objective, non-manipulatable metric set by the external
19 market. It eliminates that concern.

20 Q. Mr. Nemerov, do you -- I am sorry -- do you recall
21 your testimony in response to Mr. Kelly's questioning
22 concerning the financial measures and how they might 23 be -- how attainment of the financial measures may be -- 24 or the compensation as a result of attaining the 25 financial measures may be increased or reduced?

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. Does that apply to both the annual incentive plan,
3 as well as, to the long-term incentive plan?

4 A. My understanding, from the plan documents, is that 5 that is available under both programs.

6 Q. Do you cite some provisions relating to these 7 matters in your responsive testimony?

8 A. I believe that was in my responsive testimony.
9 Would you like the specific page?

10 MR. HAMJE: If I could approach the witness?

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 MR. HAMJE: I am going to ask the witness to 13 look at Exhibits S-66 and S-67.

14 Q. Mr. Nemerov, I have handed you a copy of S-66. Can 15 you identify that, please?

16 A. S-66 is the 2002 Premera Blue Cross Officers' Annual 17 Performance Incentive Compensation Plan.

18 Q. Is this the document you refer to in your prefiled
19 responsive testimony?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And if you would take a look at S-67. Would you
22 please identify that.

23 A. Premera Blue Cross Long-Term Performance Incentive
24 Plan, 2002-2004 Performance Period.

25 Q. Did you also refer to this in your prefiled

1 responsive testimony?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Did Premera -- I am sorry, did Premera provide you
4 with copies of these documents?

5 A. Yes, they did.

6 Q. Did you rely upon these documents in forming your -- 7 coming to your findings with respect to the question of 8 proving compensation or reducing compensation under 9 these plans?

10 A. Yes.

11 MR. HAMJE: At this time the staff would
12 move the admission of S-66 and S-67.

13 MR. KELLY: No problem. No objection.

14 THE COURT: Admitted.

15 Q. Would you briefly describe to the Commissioner how 16 that particular incentive works under these particular
17 documents.

18 A. If it is okay, it might be easier just to read the 19 specific clause that you are referring to, or would you
20 rather I just summarize it?

21 Q. I think you should probably summarize it.

22 A. Okay. Our interpretation of the plan, how they 23 operate, is that an executive in office, a person who 24 participates in this program, their award would be 25 determined based on the company's financial performance.

1 So if a company is -- at an earlier example -- is at 2 target, and an individual has an incentive
3 opportunity -- let's say that's equal to 20 percent of 4 their salary -- they would have a bonus calculated equal
5 to 20 percent of their base salary.

6 The plan then provides for an adjustment of that
7 award, plus or minus 20 percent, based on the evaluation
8 of the performance against other -- as we call them --
9 non-financial performance objectives considered
10 important.

11 So in that case, a person with a 20 percent bonus
12 calculated based upon operating income would have a -- 13 would have that award reduced by 20 percent or increased
14 by 20 percent.

15 Q. Is this one of the areas about which you and 16 Mr. Furniss have some disagreement?

17 A. We do.

18 Q. And it is one just of interpretation; is that
19 correct?

20 A. I believe it is one interpretation. The materiality
21 in our discussion relating to Furniss concluded that 22 Premera has a more conservative plan than competitive
23 practice, and we concluded with this provision that it
24 is not more conservative in competitive practice. It is 25 more, as we said earlier, it is atypical.

1 Q. In the grand scheme of things, is this a big issue
2 with you?

3 A. No, it is not, per se, particularly with the annual 4 incentive plan. It is more of an issue with the 5 long-term incentive plan.

6 MR. HAMJE: That's all I have.

7 MR. KELLY: Questions?

8

9 RECROSS EXAMINATION

10 BY MR. KELLY:

11 Q. To your knowledge, is it not the actual practice in 12 regard to the annual LTIPS in Premera that they have 13 only used the additional non-financial performance
14 requirements as a way of further reducing whatever other 15 award would be granted?

16 A. We receive one year of data on the calculations, and 17 in those cases the awards were reduced.

18 Q. So the only data you have indicates that the actual 19 practice is a reduction?

20 A. For that particular year.

21 MR. KELLY: Okay. Thank you. Nothing
22 further.

23

EXAMINATION

BY COMMISSIONER KREIDLER:

Q. Just a couple of questions that I was thinking about. One of them was PwC recommends that the compensation insurance last from three to five years, if I am not mistaken, that Premera had agreed to two years. Why does PwC recommend three to five?

A. I thought we had resolved that to agree with Premera.

Q. To the two years?

A. Right.

Q. The other is, is that -- and I was -- I had to go back to some of your testimony earlier, and I believe it was in connection to long-term incentive plans.

A. Right.

Q. And I believe you made a comment that -- relative to the goals, that I believe Premera was below minimum standards? Did I understand it correctly? Can you explain that to me?

A. They have set their performance minimums for their annual long-term incentive plans equal to approximately 50 percent of the budget or target that they set for the plan.

Normally, we see minimums set more in the range of 70 to 80 percent. The issue of a 50 percent minimum

1 is -- while it is true that you don't accrue the full
2 pay-out if you just get past minimum, you are much more
3 assured of a pay-out than if you have a higher minimum
4 set.

5 So the risk is, is the extent that the award
6 opportunities are set, people could be receiving
7 pay-outs for performance that may or may not be 8 substantially better than the year before or the 9 performance periods prior to that which the goals had 10 been set for this period.

11 Q. I am curious, when you talked about compensation,
12 whether it is direct or long term, I believe before your 13 testimony had been described as below peer group,
14 perhaps even described as conservative. And what you
15 have said is that overall it was probably above the peer
16 when measured against comparable not-for-profit Blues
17 plans; is that correct?

18 A. That is correct.

19 Q. First you came up relative to AM Best numbers. It 20 has always been my impression that companies relied very 21 heavily on AM Best numbers because it obviously is a
22 factor in judging how they are ranked in performance.

23 Is it, in your experience, that companies don't 24 move aggressively if the wrong numbers are being used to 25 correct those numbers?

1 A. I would think if there were egregious errors in 2 reporting it would be discussed between AM Best and that
3 company, because it affects the company's rating.

4 So our assumption was that, by using AM Best, we
5 were using a reputable source that provides credible
6 information, as reported consistently and accurately for 7 all companies that provided information.

8 COMMISSIONER KREIDLER: Thank you, very
9 much. I have no further questions.

10
11 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

12 BY MR. HAMJE:

13 Q. Mr. Nemerov, you indicated that you thought the 14 three to five years, versus the two years under the 15 assurances, had been resolved. Are you certain of that?

16 A. I am not certain. I have not been specifically
17 involved in that particular discussion, which was why I
18 may have misspoke, three to five years versus the two 19 years on opposition assurances. I apologize if I -- 20 that was one issue that I had not been in the middle of.

21 Q. Do you know who would be?

22 A. Would I know that there would be --

23 Q. Do you know who would be knowledgeable about that?

24 A. It could be one of the other PwC members or 25 Blackstone or Cantilo & Bennett. I am sorry if I missed

1 on that particular point, that was not one that I was in 2 the middle of.

3 MR. HAMJE: That's all I have. Thank you.

4 MR. KELLY: Just a few quick questions as 5 follow-up to the Commissioner's.

6
7 FURTHER RECROSS EXAMINATION

8 BY MR. KELLY:

9 Q. You talked about your assessments and where the 10 targets were for LTIPS. In actual practice have these 11 not been stretch targets for Premera each year?

12 A. Stretch targets?

13 Q. Yes.

14 A. My understanding is they have been submitted based 15 on budget and forecast. So I don't know if I would 16 consider those a stretch.

17 Q. When you talk about -- you use the term percentage,
18 -- in fact, there is a dollar range around the target,
19 not a percentage range; isn't that true?

20 A. But the minimum has been consistently with 50
21 percent of target.

22 Q. Now, when you say 50 percent of target, when you hit 23 the minimum you don't get a hundred percent of your 24 award, do you?

25 A. That is correct.

1 Q. You just get some award, isn't that true?

2 A. That is correct.

3 Q. And the -- and if you only get a small proportion of 4 the full potential award when you hit the minimum, and 5 then you don't do well on the other non-financial 6 performances, those still are deducted against whatever
7 amount you get for hitting even the minimum; isn't that
8 true?

9 A. That could happen.

10 Q. Isn't that part of the plan if you -- bear with my 11 hypothetical. If you only reach the minimum and you
12 don't do well on your non-financial, then you are going 13 to have a further docking of whatever award you are 14 going to get; isn't that true?

15 A. That is true, under that hypothetical example, yes.

16 Q. And haven't the executives generally been able to -- 17 because of the improvements in performance and 18 non-performance measures -- been able to hit target
19 rather than just hitting a minimum?

20 A. I believe that, for the years we studied, that the 21 pay-outs have been above target consistently.

22 Q. So your concern about minimum -- the setting of a
23 minimum is purely theoretical; is that correct?

24 A. No. I think it represents good practice.

25 Q. But has no practical effect over all the years that

1 you have studied; isn't that true?

2 A. For the years studied, it had no practical effect.

3 Q. One final point on AM Best numbers, they are used
4 only for one part of Premera PVC and not for LifeWise or 5 the other subsidiaries. Were you aware of that fact?

6 A. There is some adjustment of numbers, yes.

7 Q. My question was, were you aware of that fact or not?

8 A. Yes. There were some differences in reporting.
9 Yes, I was aware of that.

10 Q. Okay. Did you not go back to Premera's data that 11 they had given you to find out what their actual 12 operating income was, company-wide, as opposed to just 13 trying to make some adjustments on your own?

14 A. We would have to do that for every company, and AM
15 Best peer group appears to be fair when comparing.

16 Q. Well, don't you at least want to start off on a 17 solid basis to make sure you are comparing apples to 18 apples, before you get started on this attack on 19 Premera's performance?

20 A. We looked at four years of financial data across 21 four different metrics.

22 Q. And if the other companies chose to report their 23 entire company, as opposed to just one subsidiary, they 24 would have a lot bigger number, wouldn't they?

25 A. And we looked at four different metrics --

1 Q. I understand. You are not responding --

2 A. -- in the last four years.

3 Q. Excuse me, sir, could you respond to my question.

4 You don't know what the other companies were reporting,
5 whether they were reporting all companies or subs or 6 what; isn't that true?

7 A. It is what is reported.

8 Q. So the answer to my question is you don't know;
9 isn't that true?

10 A. I don't know, but I don't feel it is material to our 11 conclusion.

12 Q. I understand you don't. I just want to know what 13 you know here. So you don't know whether you were 14 comparing apples to oranges or grapes or bananas, do
15 you?

16 A. What I know is we looked at four different metrics,
17 over a four-year period, across almost 20 different
18 companies. I am very comfortable with our conclusions
19 on that matter.

20 Q. So your conclusions are comfortable in regard to --
21 at most, Premera Blue Cross, not for the rest of the 22 company, isn't that true, if we didn't even report it to 23 AM Best on the rest of the company; isn't that true?

24 A. That is true.

25 MR. KELLY: Thank you, sir.

1 THE COURT: Anything further from the 2 Intervenors?

3 MR. HAMJE: I have a follow-up question with 4 the Commissioner's questioning as well.

5
6 FURTHER REDIRECT EXAMINATION

7 BY MR. HAMJE:

8 Q. Mr. Nemerov, why do you recommend three years with 9 regard to the compensation insurance?

10 MR. KELLY: I will object. The gentleman
11 just thought that that had been resolved. There is no
12 testimony --

13 THE COURT: Overruled. The question was 14 about why he recommended, not why he recommends.

15 MR. KELLY: Okay.

16 THE WITNESS: I am sorry, could you
17 repeat --

18 Q. Why did you recommend the three to five years?

19 A. I believe in our discussion, three to five years
20 logically fit with the time period on the voting
21 structure issues related to the conversion. That was 22 the logic of the three to five years, to the best of my 23 recollection.

24 Q. And in your work as an executive compensation
25 consultant, do you rely on AM Best data on a regular

1 basis?

2 A. Within the insurance industry, yes.

3 Q. Why is that?

4 A. Because it is one of the best, most available,
5 most -- we believe -- most accurate sources of 6 comparable information across a wide range of insurance
7 companies.

8 Q. Is this something that -- are you aware of whether 9 or not other executive compensation consultants rely 10 upon it as well?

11 A. Sure. It is a database that's available to us for 12 use in advising companies, and it is one source of 13 information -- certainly, not the only source of 14 information -- but it is one source that's considered
15 credible.

16 MR. HAMJE: That's all I have. Thank you.

17 MR. KELLY: Nothing further.

18 THE COURT: Thank you. Please step down.

19 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, at this time, if it
20 is your pleasure, OIC staff would call Sandra Hunt to 21 the stand.

22

23 SANDRA HUNT, having been first duly
24 sworn by the Judge,
25 testified as follows:

1 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, may I approach the 2 witness? I have got some booklets and I want to remove 3 some things if I could.

4 THE COURT: Sure.

5 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, I believe we have 6 the original deposition here which I believe belongs to 7 the Commissioner.

8 COMMISSIONER KREIDLER: Yes, it looks like 9 mine.

10

11 DIRECT EXAMINATION

12 BY MR. HAMJE:

13 Q. Please state your name.

14 A. Sandra Hunt.

15 Q. Please state your position and your business
16 address.

17 A. I am a principal in the Global Human Resource 18 Solutions Division of PricewaterhouseCoopers. My 19 business address is 199 Fremont Street, San Francisco,
20 California.

21 Q. Could you describe a little bit about what your 22 division does.

23 A. We provide consulting services around human 24 resources, as well as related to health policy and 25 health insurance operations.

1 Q. Please describe your educational and employment
2 background.

3 A. I have a Bachelor's degree from Washington State
4 University in Political Science, and a Master of Public
5 Administration in public policy analysis from the 6 University of Washington.

7 Q. And if you could talk a little bit about your 8 employment background.

9 A. I was employed for three years at the Institute for 10 Health Policy Studies at the University of California, 11 San Francisco, doing health economics research. And in 12 1986, began employment at Coopers & Lybrand, which is a 13 predecessor firm to PricewaterhouseCoopers. I am became 14 a principal or partner at PricewaterhouseCoopers in 15 1996. I have been in the same division, performing 16 health policy research, for that entire term.

17 Q. Who are your primary clients?

18 A. Most of my clients are state governments. I work
19 with a number of states in the area of health policy and 20 health insurance reform, as well as, working with states
21 on their low income population programs. I also work
22 with employers and with insurance companies around the 23 cost of health insurance and how it is marketed and 24 delivered.

25 Q. Would you generally describe the purpose of your

1 testimony today.

2 A. Yes. I led the team that performed the market
3 impact analysis of the likely effect of the proposed
4 conversion of Premera Blue Cross. I worked with a large
5 team -- including actuaries, economists, health policy
6 researchers -- to assess the particular circumstances in 7 Washington, the health insurance markets, and to draw
8 conclusions about the likely effects of the proposed
9 conversion.

10 Q. Will you be the only member of the PwC team that 11 will be talking about the issues that will be the 12 subject of your testimony today?

13 A. No. I will be followed by Marty Staehlin, an 14 actuary, who will discuss many of the actuarial
15 components of our analysis, and by Ed Gold who will 16 discuss the economic -- the specific economic modeling
17 that we performed as part of our analysis.

18 Q. Have you submitted any expert reports in this
19 proceeding?

20 A. Yes, I have. We prepared a report -- I am afraid I
21 don't have all the specific titles memorized -- here it
22 is. The Economic Impact Analysis of the 23 post-conversion of Premera Blue Cross for the State of 24 Washington, dated October 27th of 2003, and the Economic 25 Impact Analysis of the Proposed Conversion of Premera

1 Blue Cross for the State of Washington, Report Addendum,
2 dated February 27th, 2004.

3 Q. Did you also submit prefiled testimony in this
4 matter?

5 A. Yes, I did. I submitted both direct and responsive
6 testimony.

7 Q. At this time, do you adopt your prefiled testimony
8 and your reports?

9 A. Yes, I do.

10 MR. HAMJE: Commissioner, at this time, the 11 staff would offer into evidence the following exhibits:
12 S-19, which is Ms. Hunt's curriculum vitae. S-20, which 13 is the Economic Impact Analysis of the Post-Conversion
14 of Premera Blue Cross for the State of Washington, dated 15 October 27, 2003. S-21, which is the Economic Impact
16 Analysis of the Proposed Conversion of Premera Blue
17 Cross for the State of Washington, Report Addendum,
18 dated February 27th, 2004. S-47, which is the prefiled
19 direct testimony of Ms. Hunt. And S-48, which is the 20 prefiled responsive testimony of Ms. Hunt.

21 THE COURT: Any objection?

22 MR. KELLY: No objection.

23 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

24 THE COURT: Admitted.

25 BY MR. HAMJE:

1 Q. Ms. Hunt, please describe how you -- please describe
2 your experience regarding the kind of analysis for which 3 PricewaterhouseCoopers was engaged.

4 A. We performed analyses in approximately 15 states of 5 the impact of various health insurance reform proposals.
6 I also led the team that performed the market impact
7 analysis of the proposed sponsor demutualization of 8 Kansas Blue Cross, when Anthem was proposing to purchase
9 that plan.

10 Q. Would you please describe how you conducted your 11 analysis.

12 A. We conducted our analysis through several 13 approaches. We gathered a wide variety of information
14 on the structure of the health insurance market in the 15 state of Washington, including the particular presence 16 of health plans, where they operate, who they sell to.

17 We held a number of conversations with OIC staff,
18 with Premera, with brokers, providers, other health
19 insurers, to get a good understanding of current 20 operations.

21 We looked at other Blue Cross/Blue Shield
22 conversions to understand what has happened in those 23 particular circumstances. Then we examined the various 24 models on financial projections that Premera presented
25 to us, and using that broad variety of information,

1 reached conclusions.

2 I am sorry, we also looked at, specifically, the 3 regulatory structure in the state of Washington and how 4 the regulations around pricing insurance products would 5 play into the likely outcomes of the conversion.

6 Q. What information did you rely upon in your analysis?

7 A. We relied on information from the OIC on annual 8 filings, on rate filings. We relied on the information
9 provided to us by Premera, specifically as regards to 10 their rate filings, their financial projections, and the 11 information we obtained from other players in the market
12 around Premera's current performance and issues or items
13 that they wanted to bring to our attention about their 14 understandings of the operations.

15 Q. Can you tell us what you assessed?

16 A. Well, we assessed the structure of the market. We 17 assessed where Premera has a significant presence in the 18 market, where other health plans have a significant
19 presence. Where plans have entered markets and gone
20 back out again or left the markets. The premium rates,
21 earnings levels, a wide variety of statistical measures,
22 to understand how things have changed over time and how 23 they might be expected to change in the future.

24 Q. Did you look at variations in geography and how 25 healthcare is financed?

1 A. We very specifically addressed the question of 2 how -- or what products are available differently, by 3 geography. And, specifically, the fact that in eastern 4 Washington Premera has a very large presence that it has 5 maintained for many, many years, despite the fact that 6 other health plans have come into the market and worked
7 to gain market share in that area.

8 We looked at differences in performance as it
9 relates to group size, between administrative services
10 contracts, large groups, small unregulated groups, small
11 regulated groups and individuals. As well as, public -- 12 individuals who are covered by public programs, such as 13 Medicaid and Medicare, because those are all different 14 ways in which health insurance is purchased and 15 typically have a different pattern in terms of who 16 provides coverage to those populations and how 17 purchasing decisions are made.

18 Q. Did you also assess Premera's expectations for 19 growth?

20 A. We did. We looked at Premera's expectations for 21 growth, and that was part of the financial projection
22 model that we relied upon in our analysis they provided
23 us in the Form A filing. And then later in the planning
24 model, information on expected changes in numbers of 25 individuals who would be covered, and where --

1 specifically where changes might be expected between 2 insured and administrative services contracts.

3 Q. Did you also assess Premera's allocation methods --
4 allocation of costs methods?

5 A. We did. That is an area that Marty Staehlin will be 6 discussing in some detail later.

7 Q. Did you also assess behavior and performance of 8 for-profit, as well as not-for-profit health plans?

9 A. We did look at statistics on net operating margins
10 for for-profit and not-for-profit health plans, and 11 looked at the literature that has been developing around
12 differences in performance for plans of different
13 ownership structures.

14 Q. Did you assess operating margins?

15 A. Yes. Operating margins were a substantive part of 16 our analysis. Specifically, looking at Premera's
17 current levels of operating margins, and those of the 18 best performing for-profit plans, to understand where 19 Premera is relative to those plans that are 20 considered -- at least in our consultations with 21 investment bankers -- around the levels that can be 22 achieved.

23 Q. Did you also assess where changes might be or could 24 be expected to occur if results of operating margins and 25 other performance measures were approved?

1 A. Yes, we did. That is an area that Ed Gold will be
2 speaking to. Our general conclusions were that there
3 are some areas of the state where Premera has a very
4 large and dominant market share. And that to the extent
5 that improvements in operating margins are needed, those 6 improvements would be isolated to eastern Washington in 7 the individual and small group markets.

8 Q. For a moment now, if I could turn to your key
9 findings.

10 MR. KELLY: May I Voir Dire, please?

11 MR. HAMJE: Pardon me?

12 MR. KELLY: May I Voir Dire the witness?

13 MR. HAMJE: Certainly.

14
15 VOIR DIRE EXAMINATION

16 BY MR. KELLY:

17 Q. Are you only going to be testifying to the key
18 findings that you made, as opposed to the key findings
19 made by Mr. Staehlin or Mr. Gold, is that the case?

20 A. The key findings of our team will be discussed. And 21 then our other witnesses will provide the detail on how 22 those were arrived at.

23 MR. KELLY: I think the witness has made it
24 clear that she only wrote certain portions of the 25 report, and others have expertise and actuarial --

1 supposedly econometric areas, and I would object to her
2 testifying. If they are going to be here tomorrow, they 3 should testify about their findings.

4 MR. HAMJE: Your Honor, as the team leader
5 of this group and as a principal author of the reports,
6 Ms. Hunt is intimately aware of and understands the key
7 findings and can at least articulate them so that it can 8 kind of be a preview of what we are going to be 9 discussing with the next couple of witnesses.

10 She will not be able to go into detail about 11 them, because she is not an expert, and she is not an 12 economist, nor is she an actuary. But at least she can 13 articulate them so we can have them out, and we can go
14 ahead and follow up with the other witnesses.

15 THE COURT: She can give us a framework
16 perhaps, and then the details can come from other 17 witnesses. We don't want her to repeat testimony that 18 would be better focused with the next witness. Go
19 ahead, please.

20
21 DIRECT EXAMINATION (Continued)

22 BY MR. HAMJE:

23 Q. So my question is -- I wanted to turn to the key
24 findings, and I think I would like to start with what 25 you found about -- specifically, that makes Washington

1 unique?

2 A. I won't say unique, but I will say the particular 3 circumstances that we thought important for 4 consideration.

5 The first was we looked at the demographic
6 characteristics of the state, including things like
7 income level, numbers of uninsured or percent uninsured,
8 unemployment levels, and as that relates to health
9 insurance coverage and changes in health insurance
10 coverage.

11 It is our belief that there is limited opportunity 12 for growth in sales of new insurance to additional 13 people, with the exception of growth that relates from 14 natural population growth in the state.

15 Q. Does Premera operate in a number of different 16 markets--

17 A. That's --

18 Q. -- in Washington?

19 A. One of the most important conclusions that we 20 reached is that Washington has multiple insurance
21 markets. The most important differences are by 22 geography and by group size. There is clearly a
23 difference in how insurance is sold or who sells 24 insurance in the eastern part of the state and the 25 western part of the state.

1 And as regards Premera's particular market share,
2 that can be described or is very much influenced by the 3 locations where Premera holds both the Blue Cross and 4 Blue Shield mark. Regence holds the mark for the Blue
5 Shield part of the business in the west and in some 6 counties in the east, and you see some distinct
7 differences in penetration rates based on where that 8 mark is held.

9 The specific maps that describe those circumstances
10 are in our report, in Chapters 5 and 9, if would you
11 like to review those.

12 There is also distinct differences by group size.
13 When you look at the level of penetration of Premera for 14 large groups in the west, they are the second largest 15 insurance carrier. Regence is the top one.

16 When you look in individual products, they are the 17 largest across the state, but very much so in the 18 eastern part of the state, where I believe the 19 penetration rate is something around 84 percent, even 20 including those counties where Regence holds the service
21 mark in some of the counties.

22 Q. Did you also make some findings with respect to 23 individual and small group?

24 A. Yes, I think I discussed those.

25 Q. And then were there any findings with respect to

1 potential for Premera in facing different incentives?

2 A. Yes. We did look at the literature and our 3 observations on insurance carriers once they become 4 for-profit.

5 We believe, actually, that Premera has behaved
6 similar to a for-profit for the last few years, likely 7 in a buildup to this proposed conversion. But 8 post-conversion health plans have a different set of 9 incentives. And they may be a marginal difference, but 10 there is a need to perform at a maximum level, and it
11 puts added emphasis on short-term performance.

12 Q. Did you make any findings with respect to the 13 challenges that Premera may face as a for-profit plan?

14 A. Again, our conclusion was that Premera will be faced 15 with a tension of maximizing the stock value for the 16 benefit of its stockholders, including the Foundation,
17 and maintaining or containing premium rates and provider
18 payments.

19 So because they will have higher levels of 20 expectations regarding performance, that tension will be 21 present and they will need to respond to that.

22 Q. Were there any findings with respect to the 23 administrative services contracts?

24 A. We looked at the difference between the 25 fully-allocated costs for product lines and the pricing

1 by product line. And what we found was that Premera has 2 made a business decision to partially subsidize its 3 administrative services contracts. Our understanding is 4 that the way those contracts are priced is to cover
5 their marginal cost -- which means the additional cost
6 that is created by selling one more policy -- and a
7 portion of their fixed cost -- which would be the 8 general overhead, executive salaries, buildings, and so
9 forth -- but not the fully-allocated amount of those 10 costs.

11 That's a strategy that can be helpful in building
12 market share in that area. But when we look at 13 Premera's growth goals, we see that their expectations
14 are, from their Form A filing, that they will grow -- 15 between 2003 and 2006 -- approximately seven percent in 16 their insured products, over that time period, in the 17 state of Washington, and approximately 30 percent in 18 their administrative services contracts.

19 So our concern is that, over time, putting this 20 together, that more of the fixed costs would need to be 21 covered by the administrative services contract pricing,
22 and that may dampen their ability to meet their growth
23 goals.

24 Q. Would you please compare and contrast the difference
25 between marginal costs and fixed costs.

1 A. The marginal costs are the additional costs that are
2 created when more -- an additional premium is sold. So
3 you need more people to answer phones, you need more
4 people to do customer service, because you are selling
5 to more people.

6 Fixed costs would be the overhead, the executive
7 salaries, other things that don't change as a
8 consequence of serving more members.

9 Q. Did you also make some findings with respect to the 10 regulatory environment here in Washington?

11 A. We did. That is an area that Marty Staehlin will 12 talk about in some detail. Very briefly, the conclusion
13 was that the structure of the regulations, because of 14 the particular pricing models, allows for some variation
15 in pricing by geography. And that, consequently, there
16 is some opportunity to change the structure of premiums
17 for particular products.

18 That becomes important in the types of products that 19 are being sold today. Premera's Dimensions product, for 20 example, is a very complex product that allows for a 21 wide amount of variation in the structure, and 22 consequently can allow for some changes in how premium
23 rates are developed.

24 Q. Do your findings -- do you also include a finding 25 with respect to charging different rates between eastern

1 Washington and western Washington?

2 A. We do. And that is, again, an area that both Marty
3 and Ed will be testifying to in much more detail.

4 What we looked at was the areas of the state where
5 it appeared Premera has the ability to specifically
6 influence the market. And taking the premium rating
7 structure into account, the amount of change in premiums
8 would likely be required to meet the operating margin
9 goals that Premera has in its models with some slight
10 adjustments in certain market areas.

11 Q. As part of your findings, did you develop any 12 estimates with respect to any amounts that would be 13 involved?

14 A. We did. We estimated that there could be premium
15 rate increases of as much as eight to ten percent in the 16 individual products, in eastern Washington -- again, in 17 those counties where Premera has a substantive market
18 share -- and of two to four percent in the small group
19 products.

20 Q. Did you make any findings with respect to the cost
21 allocation model?

22 A. The findings related to the cost allocation model
23 are, again, an area that Marty will testify to in more
24 detail. The general findings were that, over time,
25 Premera has not had a specific need to allocate all

1 costs to all product lines in a way that absolutely
2 reflects the costs of each of those product lines.

3 There is two issues that arise from that. One is,
4 as they would become a public company, understanding
5 what your costs are in each of your product lines
6 becomes more important, but it also goes to the 7 allocation question when we are trying to understand the 8 historic distribution of cost between the two states and 9 how that -- those calculations should be made.

10 Q. Did you also develop any findings with respect to 11 entry and exit into the marketplace in eastern
12 Washington?

13 A. We did. If I could, I would like to refer to my 14 responsive testimony, where we prepared a chart related 15 to those -- to the entry and exit of --

16 Q. That would be S-48; is that correct? It should be 17 in front of you.

18 A. Page four, to be specific. What we have shown in 19 this chart is -- we have taken from the report of 20 NERA -- Tom McCarthy, who testified a few days ago --
21 information that was presented in their report, and then
22 provided a description of what has actually -- what each
23 of the plans that are referenced in that report actually 24 are doing today or the circumstances of that entry.

25 What we see is that a number of plans have entered

1 eastern Washington, but that they have minimal
2 enrollment or they have exited the market again.

3 So the issue at hand, as we were looking at this 4 question is whether other plans productively enter the 5 market and can remain and become a significant player.
6 And we are looking for performance around, specifically,
7 the individual and small group markets, where we have a
8 concern that the products or the prices could change
9 under the circumstances.

10 Q. Did you also make any findings with respect to the 11 economic assurances presented by Premera?

12 A. Yes. We worked -- along with the rest of the entire 13 consulting team -- with Premera and its staff over the 14 period of time from November to just up until the 15 revised Form A filing.

16 As part of that process, we discussed with them our 17 particular concerns around potential changes in premium
18 rates for specific calculation groups and worked with 19 them to construct assurances to address those issues.

20 We believe that we reached some good conclusions
21 with them on assurances that the methodologies that 22 would be used to develop premium rates would be 23 maintained for the period of the assurances, that 24 methodologies for reimbursing Premera's brokers and 25 managers would not be structured in a manner that would

1 provide incentives to differentially market to western
2 Washington versus eastern Washington, or to basically
3 change how insurance is sold today. And to ensure that 4 the existing methods for determining network adequacy
5 would be retained.

6 We think that those assurances are good and helpful.
7 We don't think they eliminate all of our concerns, but 8 we do think that they mitigate them.

9 But we think that they are too short. Premera has 10 offered a term of two years. We believe that it will 11 take longer than that for the OIC staff to have a good
12 understanding of what exactly is happening in those rate
13 filings, and in the -- the whole structure of how 14 Premera is selling its insurance in those areas, and we 15 have recommended a period of three years for the 16 assurances.

17 Q. Has Premera agreed to provide a bring-down opinion?

18 A. Premera did include in its plan of conversion a 19 bring-down certificate -- again, a document that we 20 discussed in our meetings with Premera during that time
21 period.

22 The information that will be provided to the 23 Commissioner in the bring-down process will, in essence,
24 provide a benchmark against which future performance
25 will be measured.

1 The -- what Premera has currently offered in its
2 bring-down certificate, we believe, is far too broad.
3 It includes both Alaska and Washington together in some 4 of the measures of market share, it includes all of the 5 state of Washington without differentiation between 6 eastern and western Washington, and it does not
7 specifically distinguish by group size. So we don't 8 think it gives enough information to provide benchmarks
9 for future monitoring.

10 Q. Are the reporting requirements set out under the 11 assurances more than what would be ordinarily required
12 of a company such as Premera under Washington law?

13 A. Yes, they are. As part of the economic assurances,
14 because under the existing individual group
15 regulation -- or individual product regulations, very 16 little information goes directly to the OIC, and the 17 level of review for individual products is very 18 different and less intensive than it is for a small 19 group. In those assurances, Premera has agreed to 20 provide similar reporting for those products.

21 Q. I believe we have covered all of your key findings.
22 Can you think of any that I might have omitted in asking
23 you about?

24 A. Let me just take a very quick look at my notes. I
25 think that is --

1 MR. HAMJE: That's all we have for this
2 witness at this time. Thank you.

3
4 CROSS-EXAMINATION

5 BY MR. KELLY:

6 Q. Good afternoon, Ms. Hunt. You are the project
7 director for the entire PwC team, not only Staehlin and 8 Gold, but all the others who testified here today; is 9 that correct?

10 A. At least the person who tries to hurt cats.

11 Q. Okay. Now, the PwC report, the one that you
12 prepared -- I guess we call it the Economic Impact
13 Report -- contains a lot of descriptive information
14 about Premera, Washington state, its employment and 15 unemployment regulations, networks, lines of business
16 and so forth, does it not?

17 A. Yes, it does.

18 Q. And several times during your testimony this 19 afternoon you talked about the detailed background, sort
20 of descriptions of what you had done and what existed,
21 descriptions of what historically has happened around
22 the state, and so forth; is that not correct?

23 A. I think that's correct.

24 Q. Okay. Did you draft most of those descriptions?

25 A. A staff person drafted a good portion of the report

1 for my review.

2 Q. Now, is it your testimony that you need to get a
3 separate license for each county in which you do
4 business as an insurance company in the state of 5 Washington?

6 A. I don't believe I said that.

7 Q. You don't remember saying that in your deposition?

8 A. I don't recall.

9 Q. Well, because of the time shortage, maybe you could 10 look at your deposition over the break.

11 And you were the editor -- I guess, in addition
12 to corralling the descriptive information -- of this 13 Economic Impact Report and the other reports as well;
14 isn't that true?

15 A. I was specifically the editor of this report. I was 16 not the editor of some of the others.

17 Q. I see. Did you try to edit any of the others?

18 A. I believe that I reviewed many of them. Some of 19 them I edited for clarity, others I did not have 20 particular comments on.

21 Q. Okay. And you are not a tax lawyer or a tax
22 accountant, so you couldn't do much substantively with 23 the tax reports, I assume?

24 A. That's correct.

25 Q. In your deposition I think you described your role

1 this way, and just let me ask you if that's correct.

2 "My role was to ensure that I understood the analysis
3 that was done, and why the numbers were what they were,
4 and I did a lot of word-smithing of the reports;" is
5 that correct?

6 A. That sounds familiar.

7 Q. Now, you don't claim to be an expert in economics or 8 econometrics, do you?

9 A. I am not a Ph.D. economist, no.

10 Q. And your testimony in your deposition was -- when I
11 asked you that question, you claimed to be an expert in 12 economic or econometrics, your answer was no; is that
13 correct?

14 A. That's what is in the deposition I believe.

15 Q. And you were under oath when you gave that 16 deposition and you testified accurately, didn't you?

17 A. Yes, I did.

18 Q. You are not a CPA either, are you?

19 A. Nope.

20 Q. Nor are you a cost accountant?

21 A. Nope.

22 Q. For that matter, Mr. Staehlin is not a CPA or a cost
23 accountant either, is he?

24 A. He is not.

25 Q. And you don't claim to be an expert in actuarial

1 matters, do you?

2 A. I spend a good portion of my life working with
3 actuarial matters, but I am not a certified actuary.

4 Q. And when I asked you whether you claimed to be an 5 expert in actuarial matters in your deposition, you said
6 no; isn't that correct?

7 A. I don't recall the exact wording.

8 Q. Now, Ed Gold was the person who did the econometric
9 model; is that right?

10 A. That's correct.

11 Q. And he is not a healthcare expert; correct?

12 A. I don't believe he specializes in healthcare. I
13 think he is a more general economist.

14 Q. When I asked you the question was he a health expert
15 in your deposition you said he wasn't; isn't that true?

16 A. Probably.

17 Q. Now, he needed help understanding the factors
18 involved in analyzing the issue of competition in 19 eastern Washington; isn't that the case?

20 A. He did consult with the other members of our team to 21 understand how health insurance is sold, yes.

22 Q. Yes. And he needed help in understanding the 23 factors involved in analyzing the issues in eastern
24 Washington; isn't that true?

25 A. I think I just said yes.

1 Q. And you certainly said yes now; isn't that right?

2 A. That's what I heard.

3 Q. Now, Mr. Gold didn't give you guidance about what 4 economists consider barriers to entry, you gave him that 5 information; isn't that true?

6 A. I think that was -- it depends on the context in 7 which you place that statement.

8 Q. Well, I asked you the question whether you gave -- 9 who gave who guidance, and you told me in your 10 deposition that you gave him guidance and not the other
11 way around; isn't that true?

12 A. Well, I think in certain areas Mr. Gold would be 13 most qualified to discuss the theoretical construct of 14 barriers to entry as it relates to health insurance. I
15 probably helped him to understand those issues.

16 Q. He wouldn't understand barriers to entries in health 17 insurance, he is not a health insurance economist, is 18 he?

19 A. That is not his specialty, no.

20 Q. So -- okay. While I am thinking of it, are you
21 familiar with the publication called Health Leaders
22 Research?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. Okay. Is that the type of publication that is used
25 to provide information and data for the healthcare

1 community?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. Okay. Now, just -- I think you mentioned this
4 briefly in your direct, you and other members of the PwC
5 team -- and others as well, other consultants -- met on 6 a number of occasions with Premera; isn't that the case?

7 A. Yes, we did.

8 Q. And you had long sessions where you would talk with 9 them and try and find out how things would operate and 10 ask them for data and so forth; is that correct?

11 A. That's correct.

12 Q. Now, I wanted to ask you about some things that 13 occurred in the course of the work that you did in 14 preparing your reports. You actually had a lot of 15 meetings and you took notes at the meetings, did you
16 not?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. Okay. And luckily you have very legible
19 handwriting, as I learned in taking your deposition.
20 Could you turn to Exhibit P-167, please.

21 A. Is that here somewhere?

22 Q. No. I believe Mr. Hamje, as has been our pattern
23 here, will get a copy for you.

24 MR. HAMJE: We have only one copy of our 25 own. Could we use another one -- borrow one from the

1 Commissioner's staff? Is that all right?

2 MR. KELLY: As long as we have one for the 3 witness and one for you, it is okay with everyone else.

4 BY MR. KELLY:

5 Q. While we are waiting for everyone to get their
6 copies, let me ask you a preliminary question. I am
7 going to refer to two short sections of this so you
8 don't have to read it all.

9 We were able to obtain these notes in the course
10 of discovery in this case; is that right?

11 A. I assume that's right.

12 Q. Okay. Does everyone have a copy of 167 who needs to 13 have it? Good. And all I want to do is turn you to the 14 third page, which the last Bates number is 57. And up
15 at the top, this is your handwriting and I believe it is 16 T/C, telephone conference, December 4th, 2002, a long
17 time ago.

18 A. I am sorry. I am not sure that I am on the right
19 page.

20 Q. 167, the third page in, and at the top it should say
21 telephone conference 4/02.

22 A. 4/02?

23 Q. 12/4/02 is the telephone conference.

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Okay.

1 A. Got it.

2 Q. Premera conference. About halfway down there is 3 actually a little box you have there, and it reads,
4 "Keeping notes confidential. Just notes" -- "just note
5 at beginning of notes send only to C & B."

6 Now, who is C & B, you are referring to?

7 A. Cantilo & Bennett.

8 Q. If you turn now to the fourth page and last page of 9 this exhibit, this is -- apparently, you are in the same
10 phone conversation, and the entry I am interested in is 11 the first two lines, "Rusty Fallis, why a false
12 deadline? Jim O -- PR issue."

13 My question to you is, is the Jim O that is being 14 referred to there Mr. Odiorne?

15 A. Yes, it is. I would be happy to provide some more
16 context for these notes if you would like.

17 Q. Because we are all on a clock, Mr. Hamje will have 18 to use his time for that. I just wanted to know who Jim 19 O was for sure. That's all I have on that exhibit.

20 I wanted to go on to another situation that 21 occurred during the course of your work, and that is 22 that you, the PwC team, economic impact team, early on 23 were having a lot of trouble with this model that you
24 were trying to develop, isn't that the case?

25 A. I don't think that's an accurate description.

1 Q. Okay. Well, isn't it fair to say that you have come
2 up with some very unusual results from the model in 3 terms of percentages that western Washington would have 4 if one is to believe what your model predicts about
5 eastern Washington and its impact on western Washington?

6 A. I don't believe that that's correct.

7 Q. Well, we will get into that a little later. Okay,
8 now, if you would turn your attention -- I hope it is in 9 the same book --

10 MR. KELLY: I am going to move to admit
11 167 -- or at least the two entries that I read into the 12 record.

13 MR. HAMJE: Are you saying just --

14 MR. KELLY: I would like to move to admit
15 the whole thing and I will so do.

16 MR. HAMJE: No objection.

17 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

18 JUDGE FINKLE: Admitted.

19 BY MR. KELLY:

20 Q. Okay. Now, if you would turn to 165 please. This 21 is some more of your -- Exhibit P-165. I am not sure 22 whose handwriting -- is that your handwriting on the 23 first page?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Okay. Well, luckily we are not asking about it and

1 going on to the second and third and fourth pages. So
2 this is a -- notes of a phone conversation on page two
3 that you had on June 6th, 2003, Keith Leffler, John
4 Ellis, and etcetera; is that correct?

5 A. It appears to be.

6 Q. And over in the left-hand side you see the name
7 Keith Leffler; is that correct?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. Okay. And then what I am interested in is if you 10 would read into the record on the right-hand side of 11 that arrow, I guess -- whatever it is -- it starts out, 12 "Have no market power." Would you read that into the 13 record, please.

14 A. It says, "Have no market power either for regulatory 15 or market reasons."

16 Q. And you were taking your notes about what you were 17 hearing from Keith Leffler on June 6th, 2003; isn't that
18 correct?

19 A. That may be correct. It may be in a different
20 context. It may have been discussing other issues. I
21 don't know that there is enough information here to --

22 Q. So all that we know is what is left behind in your 23 notes; isn't that correct?

24 A. That's all that's here, yes.

25 Q. Okay. Now, if you go two pages further on to June

1 2nd, '03. Do you see that?

2 A. Yes, I do.

3 Q. Okay. And halfway down, we're interested in the 4 Keith Leffler entry, and would you read starting with 5 "market power," please.

6 A. It says, "Market power only is insufficient. Second
7 player can expand fast enough if conditions are right."

8 Q. And that's information you heard from Mr. Leffler
9 way back on June 2nd, 2003; is that correct?

10 A. I am not sure if that's what that means, meaning 11 that we were going to follow up with him on that 12 question, I don't recall.

13 Q. So all we have is the record of what you wrote at 14 that time; is that correct?

15 A. These are the words that are on paper.

16 MR. KELLY: I will move to admit Exhibit
17 165.

18 MR. HAMJE: No objection.

19 MS. HAMBURGER: Your Honor, I object as to 20 the relevance of both this and the previous one. It is 21 unclear what the relevance are of these notes when -- I
22 object to the relevance. It is unclear what the 23 relevance is of these notes when the witness has 24 testified that she doesn't recall the purpose or meaning 25 behind the notes that were written.

1 THE COURT: Admitted.

2 BY MR. KELLY:

3 Q. Now, if you would turn to Exhibit -- I am sorry.

4 Now, I would like to shift your attention to early

5 October, 2003. And you did not see a draft of

6 Dr. Leffler's report until it was sent over to the OIC;

7 is that correct?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. Okay. Yes, it is correct. It was a poorly-worded

10 question, I guess. Could you turn your attention to 11 Exhibit 161. This is an e-mail string. Let's read from 12 the bottom up. That starts with John Hamje, sending to 13 Andrew Taktajian, a copy of Leffler's report; is that

14 correct?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And that was at 2:27 p.m. then on October 7th?

17 A. I think it was October 3rd.

18 Q. I am sorry, October 3rd.

19 A. To clarify.

20 Q. Then Andrew sent a copy to your assistant, Susan

21 Maerki; is that correct?

22 A. Yes, my colleague.

23 Q. And then Susan sent a copy to you and also sent it

24 on to Ed, that would be Ed Gold, and Raman, who is an

25 assistant, I believe, to Mr. Gold?

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And there you are being asked -- or it is being said
3 -- "Request your assistance with the review of Leffler's
4 report. Premera notified Cantilo & Bennett that they 5 found inconsistencies between our reports." Is that 6 what it says?

7 A. I need to find the precise part of the page.

8 Q. It is towards the bottom of the first page, I am
9 sorry. Right below Ed and Raman.

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And, of course, Ed writes back and says, well, they 12 really aren't that inconsistent; is that correct?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. But it was a matter of concern for you, was it not?

15 A. Yes, it was.

16 Q. Okay. There is nothing worse than inconsistencies,
17 is there? Or little worse?

18 A. There is probably a lot worse but --

19 MR. KELLY: I will move to admit P-161.

20 MR. HAMJE: No objection.

21 THE COURT: Excuse me, I need to hear.

22 MS. HAMBURGER: No objection.

23 THE COURT: Admitted.

24 MR. KELLY: Thank you.

25 Q. Let's turn to P-166. That's a -- do you have it in

1 front of you there?

2 A. Yes, I do.

3 Q. That's an e-mail that Susan Maerki sent out, later
4 that day, after you got the report, with highlights in 5 regard to Mr. Leffler's report; isn't that correct?

6 A. It appears to be.

7 MR. KELLY: Okay. I Will move to admit that 8 exhibit as well, 166.

9 THE COURT: Hearing no objection, admitted.

10 MR. HAMJE: No objection.

11 Q. Now, you and Susan Maerki and Ed Gold and Marty
12 Staehlin met -- or had a phone conversation, I can't 13 recall which -- with Mr. Leffler about his draft report, 14 did you not?

15 A. Yes, we did.

16 Q. Okay. And you -- that being PwC -- made proposals
17 for changes in Dr. Leffler's report; isn't that true?

18 A. We discussed the issues where we thought there were 19 uncertainties, and clarified some issues for him, and he 20 made changes in his report.

21 Q. Okay. Well, let me read to you an excerpt from 22 Dr. Leffler's deposition in which he describes the 23 meeting, and I will ask you if that accurately reflects
24 your recollection of the meeting, in a question and 25 answer format.

1 "Q. And these changes are as a result of
2 some proposals that PwC has made?

3 "A. Proposals in the sense of proposals
4 to
5 me. I don't mean yes -- yes.

6 "Q. And this was after the -- between 7 the
8 preliminary report and the final report?

9 "A. Yes."

10 Q. Is that the way you recall things going?

11 A. Yes.

12 MR. HAMJE: May I have the page and line
13 number that counsel is referring to, please.

14 MR. KELLY: I think it is at page -- it is 15 page 144, line 22, up through 145, line 3.

16 MR. HAMJE: Thank you.

17 MR. KELLY: You are welcome.

18 Q. Okay. Now, other changes were made to these reports
19 through the influence of different people; isn't that 20 true?

21 A. Yes?

22 Q. Okay. Could you take a look at Exhibit P-168. This 23 is an e-mail, e-mail string, that is between and among 24 Mr. Taktajian and your group; is that correct?

25 A. Yes.

Q. And at the bottom of page one, under number 1, footnote 8, he has asked for a change, and Mr. Taktajian

1 says, quote, "It is a minor point, but trust me, make
2 the change," end quote. Am I reading that correctly?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And you trusted him and you made the change; isn't
5 that true?

6 A. That's correct.

7 MR. KELLY: Move to admit Exhibit 168.

8 MR. HAMJE: No objection.

9 MR. KELLY: I want to get to --

10 THE COURT: Admitted.

11 MR. KELLY: Sorry.

12 Q. I want to get to one other area before we wrap up
13 this afternoon. And you have a theory, as I understand
14 it, that even if Premera had good net income and good 15 growth prospects, there would be pressure on them from 16 Wall Street to improve their margins; isn't that true?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. Now, you are also not an investment banker; isn't
19 that true?

20 A. That's correct.

21 Q. And did you not assert in your report, S-20 -- which 22 I guess was your first report -- the following: Quote,
23 "Additionally, high-performing stock companies
24 consistently meet net operating margin goals in all 25 lines of business;" is that correct?

1 A. That was in our original report, yes.

2 Q. Okay. And that relates to this question of high
3 performance, whether Premera is going to be able, in 4 your view, to meet high net operating margins; correct?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Now, you are not aware of any public company that 7 reports results by line of business or that reports
8 target margins, are you?

9 A. Not in their financial statements, no.

10 Q. And would you agree that net income is important
11 when assessing the performance of a company?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Would you agree that growth prospects is also 14 important in assessing the performance of a company,
15 such as might be done by investment brokers or Wall
16 Street or even lowly investors like you and me?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. But you don't say anything about net income in your 19 report talking about the pressures that are going to 20 fall upon Premera because someone is going to be looking 21 at their net operating margin, do you?

22 A. I don't believe so.

23 Q. Okay. Now, Goldman Sachs told you that margins were 24 less important than the other two measures of increases
25 in operating income and growth prospects; isn't that

1 true?

2 A. I don't recall any conversations with Goldman Sachs.

3 Q. Okay. Because of the time I am going to come back
4 to this tomorrow morning, but it is page 209 in your dep
5 that we will be looking at in that.

6 Let me ask you this, didn't Blackstone also tell
7 you that margins were less important than operating 8 income and growth for prospects?

9 A. They did tell us that the other characteristics were 10 important.

11 Q. Okay. But despite having been told by two premiere
12 investment banking firms -- Goldman Sachs, if I am
13 correct in my reading of your deposition, and 14 Blackstone -- you didn't put that in your report, did
15 you?

16 A. It is not in our report, no.

17 Q. If Premera does well with its net income and if it 18 has good growth prospects, there wouldn't be any 19 particular pressure on Premera to improve its operating 20 margin, would there?

21 A. I would disagree with that.

22 Q. Okay. Didn't you agree with me that that would 23 certainly be a possibility when I took your deposition
24 some months ago?

25 A. I haven't reviewed that part of the deposition

1 recently. I don't recall.

2 Q. It is page 207. You can look at it tomorrow. Well,
3 let me ask you this, to present a full and fair picture
4 to the Commissioner, shouldn't you and PwC have included
5 that discussion from Blackstone and others, including
6 Goldman Sachs, regarding net income and operating 7 income -- I am sorry, and growth prospects in your 8 report to the Commissioner?

9 A. We don't believe that there is any unfairness in the 10 report. There is perhaps additional information that 11 could be brought out as well.

12 Q. When I was asking you that very same question you
13 said you decided not to do it; isn't that true?

14 A. That may be what I said.

15 Q. Well, speaking of high performance and pressures
16 that may or may not arise, do you think that your 17 efforts to put in a certain aspect of Premera's economic 18 condition, which might not be as good as its other
19 aspects, might have resulted because you wanted to show
20 something for the money that had been spent on your work
21 and PwC's work as a consultant?

22 A. I am sorry, I am not sure exactly what you are 23 trying to get at.

24 Q. Let me be more direct. To date, PwC has billed 4.81
25 million dollars for its work; isn't that true?

1 A. I believe that's approximately.

2 Q. If you didn't have anything to show, if your model
3 didn't work, if there wasn't any market power, how could 4 you justify having spent all that money?

5 A. The money was spent performing the analysis. The 6 outcome was not known until we completed the work.

7 Q. You certainly knew that the Commissioner, unless it
8 was brought out in testimony today, would never know
9 that you had been told that two investment bankers said
10 there isn't that much to worry about in operating 11 income; isn't that true?

12 A. I think we always understood there would be a
13 thorough review process.

14 MR. KELLY: Well, thank you. I have no
15 further questions -- I am sorry, I do have further
16 questions, but I am onto another section and would like 17 to take a break at this point.

18 THE COURT: Before we conclude, can I have a
19 reality check here on where OIC's testimony stands?

20 MR. HAMJE: Yes. I guess we -- tomorrow I
21 assume Ms. Hunt's -- her testimony will be completed
22 tomorrow. Dr. Leffler is only available tomorrow. So 23 we would need to probably take him immediately after 24 Ms. Hunt is completed.

25 And then we have Mr. Staehlin, Mr. --

1 Dr. Gold. And we have Lichiou Lee and Patrick Cantilo.
2 And, of course, the -- we have been notified by
3 Mr. Coopersmith that he would like to take a witness out
4 of order tomorrow afternoon, one of his witnesses. We 5 have also been notified by Mr. Madden that he would like
6 to take a witness out of order sometime tomorrow
7 morning, a telephone witness.

8 MS. HAMBURGER: I am sorry, I just -- I
9 didn't mean to interrupt you, but I just wanted to 10 correct you that's Friday morning for Mr. Madden's
11 witness.

12 MR. HAMJE: Friday morning then. Then I
13 understand Mr. Coopersmith has indicated he would like 14 to take another one of his witnesses out of order on 15 Friday afternoon.

16 MR. KELLY: All of those are fine with us.
17 We would be happy to accommodate the witnesses.

18 THE COURT: About how much longer do we 19 expect on Ms. Hunt?

20 MR. KELLY: I think I will take about 15
21 minutes.

22 THE WITNESS: I would be willing to stay the 23 night if you want to wrap things up.

24 THE COURT: I think -- it is not in the 25 cards with the Redirect. I am just concerned that with

1 Mr. Coopersmith's witness and Mr. Leffler, perhaps being
2 a long witness, are we in good shape if we resume
3 Ms. Hunt in the morning?

4 MR. HAMJE: Well, if Ms. Hunt only has 15
5 minutes Cross-Examination remaining, I don't anticipate 6 that our -- I can't really -- I don't know what the 7 Cross will consist of tomorrow, but I would think that 8 maybe we could be finished within an hour or so with her
9 testimony if there is only 15 minutes more of Cross.

10 MR. KELLY: Well, I probably should have 11 explained, it is 15 minutes of Cross, after I have time
12 to go home tonight and pair it down. I think it would 13 be more efficient to jump in on this, maybe even start
14 early tomorrow morning.

15 THE COURT: As long as you are reasonably
16 confident we have time to do what's on the plate for 17 tomorrow, that's the basis of my question.

18 MR. KELLY: It seems to me we have to get on 19 Dr. Leffler and Dr. Collins. We will certainly be 20 finished with Ms. Hunt early enough. And unless those 21 witnesses are going to take all day, we should be able 22 to do that easily.

23 MR. HAMJE: I would think we might even -- 24 depending on how long Dr. Leffler is on the stand, we 25 might even be able to sneak in another witness somewhere

1 in there.

2 THE COURT: A separate question, you
3 received -- I hope, but perhaps not digested -- the ADI
4 allocation comments. I don't know if you have any 5 intent or wish to present any testimony from witnesses
6 who have already testified related to the matters raised
7 in ADI court.

8 You don't need to take a position on this 9 instantly, you can telling me in the morning. But we 10 need to sort out what, if any, impact that has on the 11 evidence in this hearing.

12 MR. HAMJE: It is difficult for me to 13 respond because I haven't seen this ADI report. So
14 until I see it and discuss it with our consultants, I
15 really can't respond.

16 MS. SUREAU: I will get you one. I am
17 sorry.

18 THE COURT: I think you will have it by the 19 time you leave today if you stick around for a bit, and 20 then perhaps you can tell me in the morning, at least by 21 noon tomorrow. Thanks, we will see you at 9:00.
